

Choice Administrators — Call Corpus v6

100 transcripts · rebuilt for identity integrity, repeat contact, broker attribution and rubric coverage

Every call is sequenced chronologically across September 2026 business hours, so any prefix of the file — the first 20, the first 53, the first 80 — is a representative sample rather than a biased one. Every caller states their name and their member or group number aloud in the first thirty seconds, so identity is derivable from audio and not from a metadata column. No call is initiated by a broker; broker failure reaches this queue the way it reaches it in life, through the member or the employer who is carrying the consequence.

What changed from v5

#	Change	Why it matters to the demo
1	All 11 broker-initiated calls removed and replaced with member- and employer-initiated calls carrying the same commercial signal.	Broker commission and quoting calls land in the finance/commission centre, not member services. Mixing them misrepresents which queue is being analysed.
2	Corpus re-sequenced chronologically and renumbered 1–100.	In v5 every broker signal sat in calls 51–100, so a 53-call ingest showed zero broker attribution. Signals now fall throughout.
3	Opening verification added to every call: recording disclosure, caller name, member or group number, spoken aloud.	The dashboard names members. Unless the name is said on the call, the answer to 'how does it know that?' is 'a spreadsheet'.
4	Four shared member and group IDs split into distinct identities.	In v5 one ID belonged to two different people. Masked to last four digits on the dashboard, two members merged into one row.
5	Age drift corrected — one person, one age.	The same member was 47 in one call and 50 three weeks later.
6	Caller names that collided with agent first names renamed (Priya, Carlos, James).	Speaker separation and agent attribution both break when the caller and the agent share a first name.
7	Repeat contact made narratively real: the unresolved call now precedes the callback, and the caller says so.	In v5 a repeat was two unrelated calls in either order. The dashboard's Repeat flag carried no meaning.
8	Recording disclosure deliberately omitted on 9 calls; 6 further calls carry a stated-benefit disclosure failure.	compliance_disclosure is the second most expensive rubric dimension and v5 gave it almost nothing to score.
9	Escalation written into 9 calls — 4 handled correctly, 5 refused outright.	escalation_appropriateness is the most expensive dimension in the rubric and v5 had a 0% escalation rate.
10	ESCALATED and PARTIALLY RESOLVED populated as real outcomes.	The UI legend shows four outcome states. v5 filled two.

Integrity checks

Every row below is a check that can be re-run against the file. These are the checks that would have caught the v5 defects before they reached a screen.

Check	v5	v6

What the corpus gives the rubric to score

The scoring rubric prices six dimensions. Two of them — escalation and compliance disclosure — carry 60% of the total downside weight between them. A corpus that never exercises those two dimensions cannot demonstrate the rubric, however many calls it contains. The counts below are the calls in which each dimension is materially in play, positively or negatively.

Dimension	Weight	Calls in play (v6)	v5
escalation_appropriateness	–20 / cap 40	42	0 in v5
compliance_disclosure	–15 / cap 45	100	2 in v5
accuracy	–12 / cap 36	50	wide in v5

Dimension	Weight	Calls in play (v6)	v5
resolution_ownership	-10 / cap 30	43	wide in v5
empathy	-8 / cap 24	22	wide in v5
proactivity	-6 / cap 18	37	wide in v5

Broker attribution

Broker	Calls	Sequence numbers	Pattern
Denise Whitfield	8	#19, #24, #32, #39, #57, #61, #87, #94	Execution and disclosure. Wrong tier enrolled, renewal election unsubmitted, vision unsubmitted, a group coded to a lapsed agency, a contested broker of record change.
Anthony Salerno	7	#11, #27, #38, #45, #48, #50, #78	Education and responsiveness. Waiting periods misstated, coverage lines never explained, unresponsive to members and employers for weeks at a time.
Marcus Trent	7	#12, #14, #18, #37, #52, #66, #75	Misrepresentation at the point of sale. No annual maximum, a two-year rate lock, prior authorisation, participation minimums, duplicate coverage.
Patricia Nunez	4	#13, #23, #55, #89	Positive. Her members and groups arrive with accurate written summaries, know their own effective dates, and call before committing rather than after a denial.

26 calls carry a broker attribution and in every one the caller names the broker out loud — "my broker, Anthony Salerno, told me there was no waiting period". That is the difference between an insight the platform can derive from audio and a label somebody typed into a field. No broker calls this queue. Every broker signal here arrives through a member or an employer who is carrying the consequence of what the broker did or failed to do, which is exactly how it arrives in the real queue and exactly why the failure gets attributed to Choice rather than to the agency.

Repeat contact

A repeat caller is only a risk signal if the earlier call went badly. Below, every listed identity called more than once inside the month; the calls marked as callbacks follow a call that closed unresolved, and the caller opens by saying so. That is what makes a Repeat flag on the dashboard mean something.

30 identities call more than once across the month, covering 62 of 100 calls. 22 of those are callbacks that follow an unresolved call.

Compliance and escalation coverage

These are the calls that make the two most expensive rubric dimensions demonstrable. Nine calls are answered with no recording disclosure — California is a two-party consent state, so this is a deterministic, scoreable failure and the single strongest case for real-time assist in this deployment. Nine calls put escalation in play: four are escalated correctly to a named owner, five refuse an explicit supervisor request with no alternative offered.

No recording disclosure at the point of answer

#	Agent	Call	Outcome
8	Brad	Why Am I Paying a Copay When I Have Dental Insurance?	Unresolved
11	Tiffany	Adult Orthodontics — Member Was Promised No Waiting Period	Unresolved
17	Ryan	Member Asks Whether Coverage Continues After Leaving — Told to Call Back	Unresolved
24	Brad	Filling Denied at Month Four — Basic Services Also Had a Wait	Unresolved
32	Kayla	Contacts and Glasses in One Year — Only One Is Covered	Unresolved

100	Sarah	Charged for a Service the Member Never Received	escalated

Category taxonomy — corpus to platform

The corpus and the platform are currently using different category sets, which is why the dashboard shows a Pharmacy category with zero calls. ChoiceBuilder is an ancillary exchange — dental, vision, chiropractic and life. There is no pharmacy line, so an empty Pharmacy bar is not a finding about call volume, it is a finding about the taxonomy. Life & Beneficiary, meanwhile, is a real line with real calls and has nowhere to land.

Corpus category	Calls	Platform category it should map to
Cost Share & Policy	24	Coverage & Benefits
Claims & EOB	15	Claims & EOB
Employer: Billing	12	Billing & Premium
Networks & Providers	11	Provider Network
Employer: Enrollment	10	Enrollment & ID Cards
ID Cards & Portal	6	Enrollment & ID Cards
Employer: Renewal	6	Billing & Premium
Employer: Terminations	5	Enrollment & ID Cards
Platform & Forms	4	Enrollment & ID Cards

Corpus category	Calls	Platform category it should map to
Life & Beneficiary	4	Life & Beneficiary — new, not in the platform today
Broker Conduct	3	Broker Conduct

Pharmacy should be removed from the platform taxonomy. Life & Beneficiary should be added.

Handle time by agent quality tier

Tier	Calls	Avg AHT	Shortest	Longest
GOOD	31	9.6m	7.7m	11.6m
AVERAGE	38	6.9m	4.7m	8.9m
POOR	31	5.0m	3.4m	8.6m

Read this before anyone sets an AHT target. The best agents take the longest calls and the worst take the shortest. Any target that rewards low handle time ranks the poor tier first. This is the single most useful thing in the dataset for a conversation with an operations leader, and it is the reason the dashboard should show call quality against handle time on the same chart rather than resolution against score.

Handle time by outcome

Outcome	Calls	Avg AHT	Shortest	Longest

Call #1 — Enrollment Form Submitted Twice, Neither Processed

Tue 01 Sep 2026 · 08:52:00 · AHT 5m 31s · Platform & Forms

EMPLOYER | POOR · 36/100 | UNRESOLVED | NEUTRAL → FRUSTRATED | Agent: Tiffany

Context: Pacific Garden Supply · 29 employees · Owner Lucy Wong · GRP-388120

Topics: form submission · processing failure · no confirmation · enrollment

Agent Tiffany: Choice Administrators, Tiffany speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Lucy Wong, Owner at Pacific Garden Supply, group GRP-388120.

Agent Tiffany: That's you found. Go ahead, Lucy.

Caller: I submitted an enrollment form for a new employee twice, three weeks apart. Neither has been processed.

Agent Tiffany: Let me look for it... I don't see any pending enrollments for your group.

Caller: So both submissions vanished.

Agent Tiffany: They might not have gone through.

Caller: I got a confirmation screen both times.

Agent Tiffany: Sometimes the confirmation appears but the submission fails.

Caller: That's alarming. How would I know?

Agent Tiffany: You'd see it in the pending queue.

Caller: I don't have visibility of a pending queue.

Agent Tiffany: It's in the portal somewhere.

Caller: Can you tell me where, or can you submit it manually?

Agent Tiffany: I can't submit enrollments.

Caller: So I try a third time and hope?

Agent Tiffany: I suppose so.

Caller: And if it fails again?

Agent Tiffany: Call back I guess.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Enrollment submission failure. Caller: EMPLOYER (Lucy Wong, GRP-388120). Tone: neutral → frustrated. Duration: 5 min. ■ Two failed submissions with false confirmations.

L2 — Call insights: Employer submitted a new hire enrollment twice with confirmation screens both times; neither appears in the system. Agent acknowledged that confirmations can display despite submission failure, could not locate the pending queue, could not submit manually, and advised a third attempt. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 36/100. NEGATIVE: acknowledged a false-confirmation defect without escalating it (-), could not direct the employer to the pending queue (-), no technical escalation raised on a repeated platform failure (-), advised a third blind attempt (-), no case created (-), no callback (-). POSITIVE: confirmed no pending enrollment exists (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · CRITICAL · Owner: Digital — the employer portal is displaying submission confirmations for enrollments that do not persist. This is a silent data-loss defect affecting statutory enrollment windows. IMMEDIATE: reproduce, quantify how many submissions have been lost, and contact affected groups. AGENT: repeated platform failure must escalate, never be met with 'try again'.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:30 — two reported submissions with no record is a platform defect trigger requiring technical escalation and manual submission authority. No rule configured.

Call #2 — Member Cannot Afford Treatment and Wants to Understand Every Option

Tue 01 Sep 2026 · 11:15:15 · AHT 10m 27s · Cost Share & Policy

MEMBER | GOOD · 95/100 | RESOLVED | DISTRESSED → REASSURED | Agent: Danielle

Context: Wendy Castellanos, 38 · Member ID CB-6641093 · Delta Dental · $2,800 recommended

Topics: affordability · payment options · phasing · contracted rates · member support

Agent Danielle: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Danielle. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Wendy Castellanos, member ID CB-6641093.

Agent Danielle: Thanks Wendy. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: My dentist says I need $2,800 of work. My plan pays $1,500 a year and I don't have the rest. I don't know what to do.

Agent Danielle: Let's work through this properly, because there are more options than most people realise. First, how much of your annual maximum have you used?

Caller: None, I don't think.

Agent Danielle: Confirmed, $1,500 available. Second question — is any of the work urgent, or is it a plan of care that could be sequenced?

Caller: Two things are urgent, the rest he said could wait.

Agent Danielle: Then here's the structure I'd suggest. Do the urgent work now, drawing on this year's maximum. Schedule the remainder for after January 1st when a fresh $1,500 becomes available. That alone could cover most of the $2,800 across two years.

Caller: So I might not need to find the whole gap at once.

Agent Danielle: Possibly not. Third — even beyond the maximum, your dentist is contracted at network rates. So anything you pay yourself is at the discounted rate, not his full fee. On $2,800 of work that difference is often several hundred dollars.

Caller: I didn't know that continued after the maximum.

Agent Danielle: It does, and it's the most commonly missed part. Fourth — ask his office about a payment plan. Many practices offer interest-free instalments and simply don't advertise it.

Caller: I would never have thought to ask.

Agent Danielle: Most people don't. And last — request a pre-treatment estimate so you have written figures for each procedure before you commit to any of it. Reference PT-2026-01180.

Caller: This is completely different from where I started. Thank you.

Agent Danielle: You have more room than it looked like. Take the estimate to your dentist and plan it out.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Affordability and treatment planning. Caller: MEMBER (Wendy Castellanos, CB-6641093). Tone: distressed → reassured. Duration: 10 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member facing $2,800 of recommended treatment against a $1,500 maximum. Agent established urgency, structured a two-plan-year phasing approach, explained that contracted network rates persist beyond the maximum, suggested practice payment plans, and directed to a pre-treatment estimate. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 95/100. POSITIVE: asked about urgency before advising, making the answer specific (+), gave the two-plan-year phasing strategy (+), explained post-maximum contracted rates — the most commonly missed benefit (+), suggested practice payment plans (+), directed to pre-treatment estimate with reference (+), changed the member's position from stuck to planned (+).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — post-maximum contracted network rates are almost universally unknown to members, who assume coverage ends entirely. Recommend explicit messaging at maximum exhaustion explaining that network pricing continues.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — treatment cost exceeding remaining maximum surfaced phasing guidance, contracted-rate continuation, and pre-treatment estimate pathway. Agent used all three.

Call #3 — Coordination Between Dental and Medical for the Same Procedure

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 73/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: Michael

Context: Ibrahim Nasser, 34 · Member ID CB-4416628 · dental plus separate medical

Topics: medical dental crossover · oral surgery · coordination · claims

Agent Michael: Choice Administrators, Michael speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Ibrahim Nasser, member ID CB-4416628.

Agent Michael: Thanks Ibrahim. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: I'm having jaw surgery and the surgeon says it might be billed to medical rather than dental. Which is it?

Agent Michael: It depends on the reason for the procedure. Procedures done for a medical reason — trauma, a pathological condition, or a functional jaw problem — usually bill to medical. Procedures for a dental reason bill to dental.

Caller: It's a functional issue. I can't chew properly.

Agent Michael: Then medical is likely the correct primary payer. Do you have medical coverage separately?

Caller: Yes, through the same employer but a different carrier.

Agent Michael: Then your surgeon should submit to medical first. If medical denies it as dental in nature, they resubmit to us with the medical denial attached, and we'd assess it under your dental benefit.

Caller: So there's a sequence.

Agent Michael: There is, and doing it in the wrong order wastes weeks. Medical first, then dental with the denial if needed.

Caller: What if dental also denies it?

Agent Michael: Then you'd appeal, and the medical denial becomes useful evidence — it establishes that at least one payer considered it the other's responsibility. That's a stronger appeal than starting from nothing.

Caller: Good to understand the order. Thank you.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Medical-dental crossover. Caller: MEMBER (Ibrahim Nasser, CB-4416628). Tone: confused → informed. Duration: 6 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member facing jaw surgery unclear whether medical or dental applies. Agent explained the medical-reason test, established that functional impairment points to medical primary, set out the correct submission sequence, and explained how a medical denial strengthens a subsequent dental appeal. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 73/100. POSITIVE: applied the medical-reason test to the member's actual situation (+), gave the correct submission sequence, which saves weeks (+), explained how a denial becomes appeal evidence (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer written guidance for the surgeon's billing office (-), no reference number (-), did not note the account in anticipation of a crossover claim (-).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — medical-dental crossover procedures are frequently submitted in the wrong order, delaying treatment. Recommend provider-facing guidance and a member explainer covering the sequence.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — crossover inquiry surfaced the medical-reason criteria and submission sequence. Written provider guidance not available; recommend creating.

Call #4 — First EOB — Member Thinks It Is a Bill

Tue 01 Sep 2026 · 16:43:15 · AHT 8m 37s · Claims & EOB

MEMBER | GOOD · 94/100 | RESOLVED | ANXIOUS → RELIEVED | Agent: Priya

Context: Sophie Martinez, 26 · Delta Dental · first time on her own coverage

Topics: EOB · member education · first-time · not a bill

Agent Priya: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Priya. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Sophie Martinez, member ID CB-9021445.

Agent Priya: Got it, thanks Sophie. What can I do for you?

Caller: I got a letter that says Explanation of Benefits and there are numbers on it and I don't know if I owe money.

Agent Priya: You're not in trouble and this isn't a bill — that's the first thing to know. An EOB is a summary we send after a claim is processed so you can see how the cost was split. Do you have it in front of you?

Caller: Yes.

Agent Priya: Let's read it together. Find the column that says Billed Amount or Submitted Charge — what does it show?

Caller: $210.

Agent Priya: That's what the dentist charged before any discount. Now find Plan Discount or Negotiated Adjustment.

Caller: $62.

Agent Priya: That's the reduction your dentist agreed to because they're in the network. So the real cost is $148. Next, Plan Paid.

Caller: $118.

Agent Priya: And the last column, Member Responsibility or Your Share.

Caller: $30.

Agent Priya: So $30 is your share. The dentist will send you a separate bill for that — this letter is just the maths behind it.

Caller: So I wait for a bill from the dentist, not pay this.

Agent Priya: Exactly. And one thing worth knowing: the dentist can't charge you more than the member responsibility shown here. If a bill arrives for more than $30, call us.

Caller: That's really useful. Nobody told me any of this.

Agent Priya: Check the date and the provider name too, just to confirm it matches a visit you actually had. Does it?

Caller: Yes, that was my cleaning last month.

Agent Priya: Then you're all set. I'm sending you a one-page EOB guide so you have it next time.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: EOB explanation — first-time member. Caller: MEMBER, age 26, new to own coverage. Tone: anxious → relieved. Agent tone: patient, structured. Duration: 9 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member misread her first EOB as a bill. Agent walked through each column with the member reading her own figures, clarified the EOB/bill distinction, explained the balance-billing protection, and prompted a fraud check on date and provider. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 94/100. POSITIVE: led with reassurance before explanation (+), had the member read her own numbers rather than lecturing (+), explained that the provider cannot bill above member responsibility (+), prompted a date/provider verification unprompted (+), sent a written guide (+).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — EOB-read-as-bill is a high-volume, fully preventable call type concentrated among members new to their own coverage. Recommend: (1) 'THIS IS NOT A BILL' as a prominent header, (2) a worked example on the reverse, (3) a first-EOB explainer email triggered on a member's first processed claim.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:30 — first-claim EOB for a new member surfaced the column-by-column guide and balance-billing protection language. Agent used both.

Caller: Nadia Haddad, member ID CB-5540118.

Agent Tiffany: That's you found. Go ahead, Nadia.

Caller: Hi, I'm planning some implant work and I want to understand what the plan will cover before I commit.

Agent Tiffany: Sure. Implants would be major services. That's covered.

Caller: At what percentage?

Agent Tiffany: Looks like fifty percent.

Caller: And is there a cap on what the plan pays in a year?

Agent Tiffany: I don't see a limit listed.

Caller: So the plan would pay half of everything, no ceiling?

Agent Tiffany: That's what I'm seeing.

Caller: That's better than I expected. The full course is around $9,000, so the plan would cover about $4,500?

Agent Tiffany: Based on fifty percent, yes.

Caller: Great. Thank you.

Agent Tiffany: No problem.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Coverage inquiry — dental implants. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: neutral, satisfied at close. Agent tone: casual, unverified. Duration: 5 min. ■ Member left satisfied but misinformed.

L2 — Call insights: Member planning $9,000 of implant work asked about coverage limits. Agent stated no annual maximum applies. ■ ACCURACY FAILURE: the Delta Dental Gold PPO carries a $1,500 annual maximum. The member expects roughly $4,500 in plan payment against an actual maximum of $1,500 — a $3,000 error. Agent also did not check whether implants are a covered service at all on this tier. Resolution: UNRESOLVED — member will proceed on false information.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 44/100. CRITICAL NEGATIVE: stated no annual maximum exists when one applies — a material financial misstatement on a $9,000 decision (-). Additional NEGATIVE: answered from 'I don't see a limit listed' rather than verifying (-), did not confirm implants are covered on this tier (-), did not mention waiting periods (-), did not flag that pre-treatment estimate is available (-). POSITIVE: coinsurance percentage was correct (+).

L4 — Operational BI: AGENT COACHING · CRITICAL · Owner: Call Centre Management — confident incorrect information on a high-value member decision. This is the most damaging error class: the member acts on it and discovers the error after committing to treatment. PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations — annual maximum is apparently not prominent in the agent view; 'I don't see a limit listed' suggests a UI gap as much as a knowledge gap. Recommend annual maximum and remaining balance display as mandatory fields on any coverage inquiry.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:30 — major services inquiry should surface annual maximum, remaining balance, waiting period status, and pre-treatment estimate availability. None fired. This is exactly the failure L5 exists to prevent.

Call #6 — Understanding the Consolidated Bill Structure for the First Time

Wed 02 Sep 2026 · 15:56:00 · AHT 7m 49s · Employer: Billing

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 74/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: Linda

Context: Harvest Foods Co · 140 employees · HR Lead Manuel Ortega · GRP-455118

Topics: consolidated billing · invoice structure · multi-carrier · reconciliation

Agent Linda: Choice Administrators, this is Linda. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Manuel Ortega, HR Lead at Harvest Foods Co, group GRP-455118.

Agent Linda: That's you found. Go ahead, Manuel.

Caller: Harvest Foods, I've taken over benefits administration and I'm trying to understand our invoice. It's one bill but multiple carriers?

Agent Linda: That's the core of how ChoiceBuilder works. You receive one consolidated invoice and make one payment, and we distribute to the underlying carriers.

Caller: So the sections are by carrier?

Agent Linda: By line first, then carrier within it. So dental as a section, and within that Delta Dental and MetLife separately if employees chose different carriers.

Caller: Employees choose their own carrier?

Agent Linda: On the exchange model, yes — that's the point of it. Within the options the employer offers, each employee picks. So your dental section may show two or three carriers.

Caller: That explains why it looked inconsistent. And the tier codes?

Agent Linda: EE is employee only, ES employee plus spouse, EC employee plus children, EF employee plus family. Each tier has its own rate, so the section shows a count and rate per tier.

Caller: And the adjustments at the bottom?

Agent Linda: Retroactive changes — additions or terminations processed after the previous invoice generated. Those are the lines that cause most confusion because they relate to a prior period.

Caller: That's the piece I couldn't follow. Is there a guide?

Agent Linda: There is an invoice guide but it isn't well distributed. I'll email it to you.

L2 — Call insights: New benefits administrator sought to understand the consolidated invoice. Agent explained the line-then-carrier structure, employee-level carrier choice, tier codes, and retroactive adjustments, and supplied the invoice guide. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 74/100. POSITIVE: explained the exchange model as the reason for multiple carriers on one bill (+), decoded the tier codes (+), identified retroactive adjustments as the usual source of confusion (+), sent the guide (+). Call #7 — Updating a Beneficiary After Divorce

Thu 03 Sep 2026 · 09:18:45 · AHT 6m 18s · Life & Beneficiary

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 75/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → SATISFIED | Agent: James

Context: Patricia Hammond, 46 · Assurity Life · divorce finalised

Topics: beneficiary change · life insurance · divorce · QLE

Agent James: Choice Administrators member services, this is James. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Patricia Hammond, member ID CB-2279041.

Agent James: Thank you Patricia, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: My divorce was finalised last month and my ex-husband is still the beneficiary on my life policy. I want to change it.

Agent James: I can help with that. Beneficiary changes can be made at any time — you don't need a qualifying event for this one.

Caller: Good. I want it to go to my two children instead.

Agent James: You'll need to complete a beneficiary designation form. For minor children there's an additional consideration — if they're under 18, proceeds usually can't be paid directly to them, so most people name a trustee or custodian.

Caller: They're 14 and 17.

Agent James: Then that applies. You'd name a custodian under your state's Uniform Transfers to Minors Act, or a trust if you have one.

Caller: I don't have a trust. My sister could be the custodian.

Agent James: That works. She'd be named as custodian for each child until they reach the age of majority.

Caller: Does the split have to be even?

Agent James: No, you set the percentages. They just need to total 100.

Caller: Fifty-fifty is fine. How do I get the form?

Agent James: I'm emailing it now. Complete it, sign it, and return it — the change takes effect when we record it, not when you sign, so send it back promptly.

Caller: Understood. Thank you.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Beneficiary change — post-divorce. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: neutral → satisfied. Agent tone: accurate, appropriately cautious. Duration: 6 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member changing life beneficiary from ex-spouse to two minor children. Agent confirmed no QLE required, raised the minor-beneficiary custodian issue, explained percentage allocation, and emailed the designation form. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 75/100. POSITIVE: raised the minor-beneficiary issue proactively — the single most common error on these forms (+), explained UTMA custodian mechanics (+), clarified effective date is on recording not signing (+). NEGATIVE: did not check whether a divorce decree requires maintaining the ex-spouse as beneficiary — a genuine legal risk (-), no reference number (-), did not offer to confirm receipt of the returned form (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations — beneficiary changes following divorce carry a legal risk where a decree mandates continued coverage for a former spouse or children. Call #8 — Why Am I Paying a Copay When I Have Dental Insurance?

Thu 03 Sep 2026 · 11:55:15 · AHT 4m 51s · Cost Share & Policy

MEMBER | POOR · 38/100 | UNRESOLVED | CONFUSED → FRUSTRATED | Agent: Brad

Context: Alicia Ferrara, 34 · Delta Dental PPO via ChoiceBuilder · billed $48 at a cleaning

Topics: copay · preventive · dental · cost share · Delta Dental

Agent Brad: Choice Administrators, Brad. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Alicia Ferrara, member ID CB-4471203.

Agent Brad: Got it, thanks Alicia. What can I do for you?

Caller: Hi, I went in for a cleaning and the office charged me $48. I thought cleanings were covered at a hundred percent.

Agent Brad: Let me look. You're on the Delta Dental PPO.

Caller: Right. So why am I paying?

Agent Brad: It says here you had a cleaning and x-rays.

Caller: Yes. Is that a problem?

Agent Brad: The x-rays might be the charge.

Caller: Might be? Can you tell me what the $48 is actually for?

Agent Brad: I'd have to see the claim. It might not be processed yet.

Caller: So I should call back?

Agent Brad: Yeah, once the claim processes you'll get an EOB and it'll show on there.

Caller: But I've already paid the $48. If it turns out I shouldn't have, how do I get it back?

Agent Brad: You'd have to take that up with the dental office.

Caller: Okay. And you can't tell me now whether the charge is correct.

Agent Brad: Not until it processes, no.

Caller: Fine.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Cost-share dispute — dental preventive. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: confused → frustrated. Agent tone: passive, deferring. Duration: 5 min. No call recording disclosure in the agent greeting.

L2 — Call insights: Member charged $48 at a routine cleaning on a plan she believed covered preventive at 100%. Agent could not identify the charge, did not check whether x-ray frequency limits applied, and deferred to a future EOB. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 38/100. NEGATIVE: no call recording disclosure made at the point of answer (-), did not check the plan's preventive schedule or x-ray frequency limit (-), did not explain the difference between a covered service and a frequency-limited one (-), told the member to call back rather than resolving (-), no offer to review once processed (-), no case reference (-). POSITIVE: correctly identified the plan (+).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — 'why am I paying when it's covered' is the single most common cost-share question. Root cause is that members read 'preventive covered 100%' without seeing frequency limits (bitewing x-rays typically once per 12 months). Recommend a plain-language cost-share explainer at enrollment and on the member portal. PROCESS: agents cannot see pending charges before claim adjudication, so they cannot answer the member's actual question at the point she asks it. COMPLIANCE: call answered without a recording disclosure — California is a two-party consent state and the disclosure is a scored, deterministic requirement, not a courtesy.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:00 — dental preventive cost-share query should surface the member's plan preventive schedule, x-ray frequency limits, and last service dates. All three were available. No rule configured. SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 0:05 — greeting completed with no recording disclosure detected.

Call #9 — COBRA on Ancillary Lines — Employer Assumed It Only Applied to Medical

Thu 03 Sep 2026 · 15:25:30 · AHT 9m 21s · Employer: Terminations

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 91/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: Carlos

Context: Redwood Manufacturing · 118 employees · Benefits Administrator Nancy Chow

Topics: COBRA · ancillary continuation · dental · vision · compliance

Agent Carlos: Choice Administrators, this is Carlos. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Nancy Chow, Benefits Administrator at Redwood Manufacturing, group GRP-345008.

Agent Carlos: Thanks Nancy. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: We're handling COBRA for our medical plan through a third-party administrator. Does dental and vision go through them too, or through you?

Agent Carlos: Good question, and this catches a lot of employers out. COBRA applies to dental and vision the same way it applies to medical — they're group health plans under the statute.

Caller: We've been treating ancillary as outside COBRA.

Agent Carlos: That's a common assumption and it creates exposure. Every terminating employee should receive an election notice covering all their group health coverage, including dental and vision. Life insurance is different — that's usually conversion rather than COBRA.

Caller: How far back does this go for us?

Agent Carlos: I can see your termination submissions. Let me check whether ancillary COBRA notices have been generating... they have been, actually. Your notices from our side include dental and vision.

Caller: So we've been compliant without realizing it.

Agent Carlos: On the notice side, yes, because the platform generates it from the termination submission automatically. Where the risk sits is if your third-party administrator is also sending a notice covering only medical — a terminated employee could receive two notices with different scope and get confused about what they're electing.

Caller: That is almost certainly happening.

Agent Carlos: Worth aligning. I'd suggest a conversation between your TPA and us so one notice covers everything or the two are clearly delineated.

Caller: Can you help set that up?

Agent Carlos: I can flag it to your account manager with the context. Reference CB-2026-00771. What's the TPA?

Caller: Benefit Solutions Group.

Agent Carlos: Noted. Your account manager will reach out within three business days to coordinate.

Caller: That's really helpful. I came in with a simple question and found a real problem.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: COBRA scope on ancillary lines. Caller: EMPLOYER (Benefits Administrator). Tone: confused → informed. Agent tone: knowledgeable, consultative. Duration: 10 min. Compliance dimension.

L2 — Call insights: Employer believed COBRA applied only to medical. Agent confirmed dental and vision are group health plans subject to COBRA, verified the platform is generating compliant notices, and identified a genuine risk of duplicate conflicting notices from the employer's separate medical TPA. Escalated to the account manager. Resolution: RESOLVED — coordination initiated.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 91/100. POSITIVE: corrected a compliance misunderstanding clearly (+), distinguished life insurance conversion from COBRA (+), verified actual notice generation rather than assuming (+), identified the duplicate-notice risk the employer had not seen (+), escalated with context and reference (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer to send the employer a copy of a sample generated notice for their records (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Account Management / Compliance — employers running medical COBRA through a separate TPA are a structural source of duplicate or conflicting election notices. Recommend identifying all groups with an external medical TPA and proactively coordinating notice scope.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 3:00 — COBRA scope inquiry surfaced ancillary COBRA applicability, life conversion distinction, and the group's notice generation history. Duplicate-notice risk was agent-identified, not system-surfaced; recommend adding an external-TPA flag.

Call #10 — Converting Life Coverage After Leaving

Fri 04 Sep 2026 · 13:32:30 · AHT 6m 41s · Life & Beneficiary

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 74/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → INFORMED | Agent: Linda

Context: Peter Nguyen, 31 · Member ID CB-9920554 · Assurity Life · leaving employment

Topics: life conversion · 31-day window · portability · termination

Agent Linda: Choice Administrators, this is Linda. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Peter Nguyen, member ID CB-9920554.

Agent Linda: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: I'm leaving my job at the end of the month and I want to keep my life insurance.

Agent Linda: Group life doesn't continue under COBRA, but you have conversion rights. You can convert to an individual policy with Assurity without evidence of insurability, if you apply within 31 days of coverage ending.

Caller: 31 days from the last day?

Agent Linda: From the coverage end date, which for you is the end of the month. So through roughly the end of the following month.

Caller: Is the individual premium the same?

Agent Linda: No, and this is where most people decide against it. Individual conversion policies are priced on your age at conversion, without the group rate, so premium is typically several times higher.

Caller: How much roughly?

Agent Linda: I can't quote it — Assurity does that. But for a healthy 31-year-old, term life bought on the open market is often cheaper than a conversion policy.

Caller: So conversion is mainly for people who couldn't get cover elsewhere.

Agent Linda: That's the honest summary. Conversion has no medical underwriting, which matters if you have a condition that would make individual cover expensive or unavailable. If you're healthy, shop the open market first.

Caller: That's more useful than a sales answer.

Agent Linda: Either way, don't miss the 31 days. If you might want it, apply and decide after — the deadline is hard.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Life conversion at termination. Caller: MEMBER (Peter Nguyen, CB-9920554). Tone: neutral → informed. Duration: 6 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member leaving employment sought to retain life coverage. Agent explained conversion rights, the 31-day deadline, the premium difference, and advised honestly that open-market term may be cheaper for a healthy applicant while conversion matters most for those who cannot underwrite. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 74/100. POSITIVE: explained conversion rather than COBRA correctly for life (+), gave the honest premium comparison rather than steering toward conversion (+), identified who conversion genuinely benefits (+), emphasised the hard deadline (+). NEGATIVE: did not provide the Assurity conversion contact directly (-), no written deadline confirmation (-), no reference number (-).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — the 31-day life conversion window is the shortest and least publicised deadline at termination, with no retroactive election. Recommend it leads the termination packet rather than sitting behind COBRA content.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:30 — termination with life coverage surfaced conversion rights and the 31-day deadline. Assurity contact detail not surfaced; recommend adding.

Call #11 — Adult Orthodontics — Member Was Promised No Waiting Period

MEMBER | POOR · 44/100 | UNRESOLVED | HOPEFUL → ANGRY | Agent: Tiffany

Context: Nina Okafor, 38 · Member ID CB-7724501 · Ameritas dental · adult ortho consultation booked

BROKER SIGNAL — Anthony Salerno: Told the member at enrollment that adult orthodontics had no waiting period on her plan. It has twelve months.

Topics: orthodontia · waiting period · broker misrepresentation · carrier comparison

Agent Tiffany: Choice Administrators, Tiffany.

Caller: Hi, Nina Okafor, member ID CB-7724501.

Agent Tiffany: Go ahead.

Caller: I've got an orthodontic consultation booked for Tuesday. I want to check what's covered before I go.

Agent Tiffany: You're on Ameritas. Ortho is covered at 50% up to a lifetime maximum of $1,500.

Caller: Good. And there's no waiting period — the broker who signed us up, Anthony Salerno, was very clear about that.

Agent Tiffany: It's showing a twelve-month wait on ortho.

Caller: That can't be right. He said specifically there was no wait, that's why we picked this one.

Agent Tiffany: I can only tell you what the plan says.

Caller: When did my coverage start?

Agent Tiffany: 1 June.

Caller: So I'm eligible next June. Is there any other plan option that doesn't have the wait?

Agent Tiffany: I'd have to look at each carrier separately.

Caller: Could you?

Agent Tiffany: It's not something I have in front of me.

Caller: Right. So you can tell me I've been misled but you can't tell me what to do about it.

Agent Tiffany: Sorry.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Orthodontia waiting period — broker misrepresentation at enrollment. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: hopeful → angry. Agent tone: minimal, closed. Duration: 5 min. Care booked in four days. No call recording disclosure in the agent greeting.

L2 — Call insights: Member booked an orthodontic consultation on the strength of her broker's assurance that no waiting period applied. Agent confirmed a twelve-month wait, could not compare alternative carriers, offered no next step and did not record the misrepresentation. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 44/100. NEGATIVE: no call recording disclosure made at the point of answer (-), no acknowledgement that the member was misinformed by a broker (-), did not record the broker misrepresentation (-), could not compare carriers on a defining product feature (-), did not flag that care is booked in four days (-), did not offer a written confirmation of the ortho terms for the consultation (-), closed on an apology with no action (-). POSITIVE: retrieved the correct ortho benefit, lifetime maximum and waiting period (+).

L4 — Operational BI: BROKER CONDUCT · HIGH · Owner: Broker Relations — third instance in the corpus period of this agency misstating waiting periods at enrollment. The pattern is specific: the feature that decides the sale is the feature that is misstated. PROCESS: cross-carrier comparison is the core value proposition of an exchange and no agent-facing comparison exists, so an agent can confirm a member was misled but cannot show them the alternative. Recommend: (1) side-by-side carrier rules for waiting periods, ortho and frequency limits in the agent console, (2) member-facing plan comparison at open enrollment so the broker is not the sole source of product truth. COMPLIANCE: call answered without a recording disclosure — California is a two-party consent state and the disclosure is a deterministic, scoreable requirement.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:30 — 'my broker told me' plus a contradicted product rule plus scheduled care is a three-signal trigger. Should have surfaced the ortho terms as a sendable summary, opened a broker conduct record, and offered the consultation a written benefit confirmation. No rule configured. SHOULD ALSO HAVE FIRED at 0:05 — greeting completed with no recording disclosure detected.

Call #12 — Member Told There Was No Cap — Retained by Explaining Actual Value

BROKER SIGNAL — Marcus Trent named aloud by the caller

Topics: annual maximum · broker misselling · retention · contracted rates · churn risk

Caller: Gordon Achebe, member ID CB-4419028.

Agent Carlos: Got it, thanks Gordon. What can I do for you?

Caller: I've hit a maximum I didn't know existed. My broker, Marcus Trent, told me this plan had no annual cap.

Agent Carlos: Let me confirm what you have. Delta Dental PPO, $1,500 annual maximum, and you've used it in full as of last month.

Caller: He was quite specific. He said unlimited.

Agent Carlos: No ancillary dental plan on our exchange is unlimited, so that representation was incorrect. I'm logging it with broker relations under your reference, because if he's saying that generally it will keep happening.

Caller: At least someone's recording it. But I still have $2,000 of work outstanding and no coverage until January.

Agent Carlos: You have less coverage, not none, and the difference matters. Your dentist remains contracted at network rates. Anything you pay yourself is at the negotiated rate, not his full fee — typically 20 to 35% below.

Caller: So on $2,000 of work?

Agent Carlos: The billed figure might be $2,600 or more at his full fee. You're paying the contracted rate because you're still an active member. That's several hundred dollars of value you'd lose entirely if you dropped the plan.

Caller: I hadn't understood that at all. I assumed hitting the maximum meant the card was worthless.

Agent Carlos: It's the most misunderstood part of dental coverage. And second — if any of that work can wait until January, a fresh $1,500 becomes available.

Caller: Some of it can.

Agent Carlos: Then phase it. Urgent work now at contracted rates, the rest after January against the new maximum.

Caller: That completely changes my position. I was going to cancel.

Agent Carlos: I'd rather you decide on the numbers. Reference BM-2026-00744 for the broker log.

BROKER SIGNAL — Patricia Nunez named aloud by the caller

Agent Sarah: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Sarah. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Samuel Adeyemi, member ID CB-6620033.

Agent Sarah: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: My dentist referred me to an oral surgeon for extractions. My broker, Patricia Nunez, told me always to check network status before booking anything expensive, so here I am.

Agent Sarah: That's good advice and it saves people a lot of money. Who's the surgeon?

Caller: Dr. Helena Marchetti, Westgate Oral Surgery.

Agent Sarah: Let me verify... Westgate Oral Surgery is contracted with Delta Dental, and Dr. Marchetti is listed as a rendering provider under it. Both confirmed in network.

Caller: Good. What will it cost me?

Agent Sarah: Surgical extractions are major services, covered at 50% on your plan after any deductible. Your $50 deductible is met. What's the quoted fee?

Caller: $1,900 for four extractions.

Agent Sarah: In network, the allowed amount will likely be below $1,900 — that's the contracted rate benefit. Plan pays 50% of allowed, and your annual maximum is $1,500 with $220 used.

Caller: So the plan pays up to $1,280 more this year.

Agent Sarah: Right. On a $1,900 procedure at 50%, the plan would pay around $950 assuming the allowed amount is close to the quote — within your remaining maximum. So you'd owe roughly $950, less if the contracted rate is lower.

Caller: That's manageable and it's what I needed to know.

Agent Sarah: One more thing worth doing — ask Westgate to submit a pre-treatment estimate. It confirms the allowed amount before you commit, so there's no gap between my estimate and the actual.

Caller: That's not what we were told. We budgeted on a two-year hold.

Agent Brad: I don't see any multi-year rate guarantee on the group.

Caller: So either he was wrong or something wasn't set up.

Agent Brad: There's nothing on file.

Caller: Can you check whether a rate guarantee was ever quoted?

Agent Brad: I only see the current rates.

Caller: This is a 90-life group and we made a two-year budget commitment on his representation.

Agent Brad: I understand but the rates are the rates.

Caller: Is there anyone who reviews this kind of thing?

Agent Brad: Not that I know of.

Caller: Then we'll be reviewing our options at renewal. This is the second broker problem this year.

Agent Brad: Alright.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Alleged multi-year rate guarantee. Caller: EMPLOYER (Diane Fowler, GRP-449010). Tone: frustrated → churn risk. Duration: 5 min. ■ 90-life group signalling market review.

L2 — Call insights: Employer budgeted on a two-year rate hold represented by the broker; no multi-year guarantee exists on the group. Agent confirmed no guarantee on file, did not check quoting history, did not log the broker misrepresentation, and did not escalate a 90-life group signalling exit. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 39/100. NEGATIVE: did not check whether a rate guarantee was ever quoted, which would establish whether the broker misspoke or something was missed (-), no broker relations log despite a named specific claim (-), no account management escalation on a 90-life group (-), 'the rates are the rates' dismisses a material budgeting commitment (-), explicit market-review language ignored (-). POSITIVE: confirmed no guarantee on file (+).

L4 — Operational BI: BROKER ATTRIBUTION · CRITICAL · Owner: Broker Relations / Account Management — Marcus Trent represented a two-year rate lock that does not exist, on a 90-life group. Fourth flagged issue for this broker. CHURN SIGNAL: employer stated intent to review options, citing a second broker problem this year. Recommend immediate account management contact and a review of Trent's quoting representations across his book.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:00 — named broker plus disputed contractual term is a broker attribution trigger. At 4:00 — group-level market-review language on 90 lives is a high-value retention trigger. Neither fired.

Call #15 — Changing the Employer Contribution Mid-Year

Mon 07 Sep 2026 · 10:33:00 · AHT 6m 29s · Employer: Enrollment

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 77/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → INFORMED | Agent: Nicole

Context: Glendale Construction · 41 employees · Owner William Drake

Topics: employer contribution · defined contribution · mid-year change · participation

Agent Nicole: Choice Administrators, Nicole speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: William Drake, Owner at Glendale Construction, group GRP-189422.

Agent Nicole: Thanks William. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: We're paying 100% of employee dental and it's getting expensive. Can we drop to 50% mid-year?

Agent Nicole: Contribution changes are generally a renewal-level decision rather than mid-year, because they affect the rate basis and participation testing.

Caller: So we're stuck until renewal.

Agent Nicole: On this plan year, most likely yes. When is your renewal?

Caller: March.

Agent Nicole: So five months. Worth planning now rather than at the deadline, because there are a few things to work through.

Caller: Such as?

Agent Nicole: Moving from 100% to 50% means employees start paying a payroll deduction they've never had. Take-up usually drops — often 15 to 25% of enrolled employees drop coverage when a contribution is introduced.

Caller: That would reduce our cost further.

Agent Nicole: It would, but it also risks participation. If enrollment falls below the minimum, the group can be non-renewed on that line. At 41 eligible you'd need roughly 10 to 11 enrolled to stay compliant.

Caller: We have about 30 enrolled now.

Agent Nicole: Then you have headroom, but it's worth modelling rather than assuming. Your broker can run the contribution scenarios against your census.

Caller: Alright. I'll start that conversation now rather than in February.

Agent Nicole: That's the right call. Renewal decisions made in the last two weeks rarely go well.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Contribution strategy change. Caller: EMPLOYER (Owner). Tone: neutral → informed. Duration: 7 min.

L2 — Call insights: Employer seeking to reduce dental contribution from 100% to 50% mid-year. Agent confirmed it is a renewal decision, quantified likely take-up drop, flagged the participation minimum risk, and advised early modelling with the broker. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 77/100. POSITIVE: explained why it is a renewal decision rather than just refusing (+), quantified expected take-up drop with a realistic range (+), connected it to participation risk the employer had not considered (+), pushed for early planning (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer to flag the group to account management for a renewal conversation (-), no broker named (-), no written summary (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Account Management — employers signalling contribution reduction five months ahead of renewal are a retention risk worth engaging early. Recommend logging contribution-change intent as a renewal flag on the group record.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — contribution change inquiry surfaced participation minimum calculation for the group size. Take-up impact figures were agent-supplied; worth adding to the knowledge base.

Call #16 — Portal Lockout — Agent Cannot Reset and Does Not Escalate

Topics: portal access · password reset · MFA · technical support

Agent Kayla: Choice Administrators, this is Kayla. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Ahmed Bakri, member ID CB-6602274.

Agent Kayla: That's you found. Go ahead, Ahmed.

Caller: I'm locked out of the member portal. I've tried resetting three times and the email never arrives.

Agent Kayla: Have you checked your spam folder?

Caller: Yes. Nothing.

Agent Kayla: Sometimes it takes a while.

Caller: It's been two days.

Agent Kayla: Hmm. Let me see... the email we have on file is a-bakri at the domain.

Caller: That's an old work address. I left that company. My current one is different.

Agent Kayla: That's probably why then.

Caller: Can you update it?

Agent Kayla: I don't think I can change the portal email from here.

Caller: Is there someone who can?

Agent Kayla: You might be able to do it in the portal.

Caller: I can't get into the portal. That's the problem.

Agent Kayla: Right. Um. You could try your HR department, they might be able to update it.

Caller: Is there a supervisor who can override the lockout?

Agent Kayla: Not that I can reach from here.

Caller: So I wait seventy-two hours with an appointment on Thursday.

Caller: Okay.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Portal lockout — stale email on file. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: neutral → frustrated. Agent tone: uncertain, circular. Duration: 6 min. Explicit supervisor or escalation request refused with no alternative offered.

L2 — Call insights: Member locked out because password reset emails route to a former employer address. Agent identified the stale email but did not update it, did not escalate, and suggested the member use the portal she cannot access. Resolution: UNRESOLVED — circular referral.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 39/100. NEGATIVE: refused an explicit escalation request and offered no alternative route (-), identified the root cause and then failed to act on it (-), was unsure of her own permissions rather than checking (-), sent the member to a portal she is locked out of (-), no escalation to technical support (-), no alternative verification path offered (-). POSITIVE: diagnosed the stale email correctly (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Digital / Operations — contact email updates appear to be either unavailable to front-line agents or not understood by them. A locked-out member cannot self-serve an email change by definition. Recommend: agent-side verified email update with identity challenge, and a technical support escalation path. AGENT KNOWLEDGE GAP: agent did not know her own permissions.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 2:30 — repeated failed reset with a stale contact email is a verified-update trigger. Should have surfaced identity challenge questions and the email update action. No rule configured. — LIFE & BENEFICIARY — SHOULD ALSO HAVE FIRED — an explicit supervisor request is a deterministic escalation trigger and no routing was surfaced.

Call #17 — Member Asks Whether Coverage Continues After Leaving — Told to Call Back

MEMBER | POOR · 33/100 | UNRESOLVED | WORRIED → ABANDONED | Agent: Ryan

Context: Steven Nakamura, 29 · ChoiceBuilder dental, vision · last day next Friday

Topics: termination · COBRA · continuation · offboarding

Agent Ryan: Choice Administrators, Ryan. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Steven Nakamura, member ID CB-8819004.

Agent Ryan: Thanks Steven. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: My last day is next Friday. What happens to my dental and vision?

Agent Ryan: Coverage would end.

Caller: When exactly?

Agent Ryan: End of the month usually.

Caller: Usually. Can you confirm for my group?

Agent Ryan: It'd be whatever your employer submits.

Caller: Is there any way to continue it? I'm mid-way through orthodontic treatment.

Agent Ryan: There might be COBRA.

Caller: How do I find out?

Agent Ryan: Your employer sends the paperwork.

Caller: When?

Agent Ryan: After they submit the termination.

Caller: And how long do I have to decide?

Agent Ryan: There's a window, I don't remember the length.

Caller: Is there anyone who could tell me? I have treatment scheduled in three weeks and I need to know if I'm covered.

Agent Ryan: Probably best to ask your HR.

Caller: Okay.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Coverage termination and continuation. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: worried → abandoned. Duration: 5 min. Member mid-orthodontic treatment. No call recording disclosure in the agent greeting.

L2 — Call insights: Member leaving employment asked about coverage end date and continuation options while mid-orthodontic treatment. Agent could not confirm the end date, could not state the COBRA election window, and referred to HR. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 33/100. NEGATIVE: no call recording disclosure made at the point of answer (-), could not state end-of-month coverage rule with confidence (-), did not know the COBRA election period (-), did not recognise that mid-treatment orthodontia is a material continuation consideration (-), gave no dates on a time-sensitive question (-), no case opened (-), no callback (-). POSITIVE: none identified.

L4 — Operational BI: AGENT KNOWLEDGE GAP · CRITICAL · Owner: Call Centre Management — COBRA election windows and end-of-coverage rules are core knowledge and were not answerable. PROCESS: members mid-orthodontic treatment face instalment benefit termination on coverage loss — this should trigger a specific continuation conversation, not a referral. COMPLIANCE: call answered without a recording disclosure — California is a two-party consent state and the disclosure is a scored, deterministic requirement, not a courtesy.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:00 — pending termination plus active orthodontia instalment schedule is a continuation trigger. Should have surfaced end date, COBRA election window, and the orthodontia payment implication. No rule configured. — ID CARDS & PORTAL — SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 0:05 — greeting completed with no recording disclosure detected.

Call #18 — No In-Network Dentist Within 30 Miles

Mon 07 Sep 2026 · 13:19:45 · AHT 4m 35s · Networks & Providers

MEMBER | POOR · 35/100 | UNRESOLVED | NEUTRAL → CHURN RISK | Agent: Ryan

Context: Grace Liu, 44 · Member ID CB-8830142 · rural county · Delta Dental PPO

BROKER SIGNAL — Marcus Trent named aloud by the caller

Topics: network adequacy · access · broker misrepresentation · rural · churn risk

Agent Ryan: Choice Administrators, Ryan. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Grace Liu, member ID CB-8830142.

Agent Ryan: That's you found. Go ahead, Grace.

Caller: I've called six dentists from your directory and the nearest one who takes this plan is 34 miles away.

Agent Ryan: Let me check the directory for your zip.

Caller: I've already done that. That's how I got the six.

Agent Ryan: It shows several in your area.

Caller: They're listed but they don't take it. I called every one.

Agent Ryan: Sometimes the directory lags.

Caller: My broker, Marcus Trent, told me every dentist around here takes this plan. That was the whole basis for choosing it.

Agent Ryan: I can't speak to what a broker said.

Caller: Can you check whether there's a network adequacy issue in my county?

Agent Ryan: I don't have anything like that.

Caller: So I'm paying for dental insurance I can't practically use.

Agent Ryan: You could go out of network.

Caller: And pay the difference. Right. I'll just cancel it, it's cheaper than paying for something I can't use.

Agent Ryan: Okay.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Network adequacy — no accessible in-network provider. Caller: MEMBER (Grace Liu, CB-8830142). Tone: neutral → churn risk. Duration: 5 min. ■ Member stated cancellation intent. Six directory entries reported inaccurate.

L2 — Call insights: Member found no in-network dentist within 34 miles after calling six directory-listed providers. Broker had represented broad local acceptance. Agent did not investigate directory accuracy, did not check network adequacy, offered out-of-network as the solution, and did not respond to cancellation intent. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 35/100. NEGATIVE: six reported inaccurate directory entries and none were logged for correction (-), dismissed the report with 'sometimes the directory lags' (-), no network adequacy check (-), suggested out-of-network to a member complaining about cost (-), ignored explicit cancellation intent (-), broker misrepresentation named and not logged (-). POSITIVE: none identified.

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Network Management — six directory entries reported inaccurate in a single call, in a county with apparent network adequacy problems. BROKER ATTRIBUTION · Owner: Broker Relations — Marcus Trent represented broad local network acceptance in an area with no accessible provider. CHURN SIGNAL: member cannot use the product she is paying for. Recommend an urgent network adequacy review for this county and an audit of directory accuracy.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:00 — multiple provider rejections in one call is a directory accuracy trigger. At 4:00 — cancellation intent is a retention trigger. Neither fired.

Call #19 — Invoice Shows an Agency the Employer Has Never Heard Of

Mon 07 Sep 2026 · 13:44:00 · AHT 9m 12s · Employer: Billing

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 91/100 | RESOLVED | SUSPICIOUS → REASSURED | Agent: Carlos

Context: Drummond Precision Tooling · 44 employees · Controller Richard Drummond · GRP-281773

BROKER SIGNAL — Denise Whitfield: Group coded to a lapsed agency code at submission; employer discovered it on the invoice, not the broker.

Topics: agency code · broker of record · invoice · commission mis-coding

Agent Carlos: Choice Administrators, this is Carlos. This call may be recorded for quality and training.

Caller: Richard Drummond, controller at Drummond Precision Tooling, group GRP-281773.

Agent Carlos: Thank you. How can I help?

Caller: There's an agency name on the bottom of our September invoice that I don't recognise. Our broker is Denise Whitfield. This says something else entirely.

Agent Carlos: Let me look at the group record rather than the invoice, because those can differ. Give me a moment... your broker of record is showing under agency code AG-7719.

Caller: Is that Denise?

Agent Carlos: It is not. AG-7719 is a lapsed code that belonged to an agency that closed in 2024. Denise Whitfield's active code is AG-7791.

Caller: So two digits are swapped.

Agent Carlos: Transposed, yes. And because AG-7719 is lapsed rather than invalid, the submission passed validation and the commission has been accruing to a code with nobody behind it.

Caller: How long?

Agent Carlos: Since the group effective date in March. Six cycles.

Caller: Does that cost me anything?

Agent Carlos: No. Your premium is identical either way — commission comes out of it, it isn't added to it. What it means is your broker has not been paid on your group for six months, which is probably why you have been getting slower service than you should.

Caller: That would explain a lot, actually.

Agent Carlos: I'm correcting the code to AG-7791 now and raising a retroactive commission adjustment back to the effective date. Your reference is BR-2026-00877. I'll email you the confirmation and I'll copy Denise so she knows before you have to tell her.

Caller: That's more than I expected. Thank you.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Agency of record mis-coding, discovered by the employer. Caller: EMPLOYER. Tone: suspicious → reassured. Agent tone: precise, transparent. Duration: 9 min.

L2 — Call insights: Employer queried an unfamiliar agency name on the invoice. Agent identified a transposed agency code (AG-7719 for AG-7791) entered at group submission in March, confirmed six cycles of commission accruing to a lapsed code, confirmed no premium impact to the employer, corrected the record, raised a retroactive adjustment and notified the broker. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 91/100. POSITIVE: checked the group record rather than accepting the invoice as source of truth (+), identified the transposition and named both codes (+), answered the employer's real question — does this cost me anything — before being asked twice (+), connected the mis-coding to the service quality the employer had experienced (+), corrected the record and raised the adjustment on the call (+), proactively notified the broker (+). NEGATIVE: did not check whether the same lapsed code appears on other groups (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations — agency codes are entered manually at group submission and validated for format only, not against the active agency register. A transposition into a lapsed code passes silently and diverts commission for as long as nobody notices. Here it was six cycles, and it was the employer who noticed, not the broker and not Choice. Recommend: (1) validate agency codes against active agencies at submission, (2) block lapsed codes outright, (3) a monthly exception report on commission accruing to inactive codes. BROKER RELATIONS: broker service degradation on unpaid groups is a foreseeable second-order effect worth monitoring.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 3:00 — agency register lookup returned AG-7719 as lapsed and surfaced the near-match active code. Agent used it. Did not offer the cross-group check for the same lapsed code — worth adding.

Call #20 — Seasonal Workers — Eligibility and Re-Enrollment

Mon 07 Sep 2026 · 14:55:30 · AHT 7m 43s · Employer: Enrollment

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 76/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → INFORMED | Agent: Nicole

Context: Harvest Foods Co · 140 employees seasonal peak · HR Lead Manuel Ortega · GRP-455118

Topics: seasonal · eligibility · rehire · waiting period · variable hour

Agent Nicole: Choice Administrators, Nicole speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Manuel Ortega, HR Lead at Harvest Foods Co, group GRP-455118.

Agent Nicole: That's you found. Go ahead, Manuel.

Caller: Harvest Foods, We go from 40 employees to 140 in season. When seasonal staff return each year, do they serve the waiting period again?

Agent Nicole: It depends on the break in service. If a rehired employee returns within 13 weeks, they're generally treated as continuous and don't re-serve the waiting period. Beyond 13 weeks they're treated as a new hire.

Caller: Our gap is about five months.

Agent Nicole: Then they'd re-serve. With your group's first-of-month-following-30-days rule, someone returning in June would be effective August 1st.

Caller: So they'd have coverage for maybe three months of a six month season.

Agent Nicole: That's the effect, yes. It's a common issue for seasonal employers and there are two things worth raising at renewal.

Caller: Go on.

Agent Nicole: First, a shorter waiting period for a defined class of employees — you can differentiate by class as long as it's applied consistently. Second, some employers keep seasonal staff enrolled year-round on a voluntary basis so continuity isn't broken.

Caller: The second is interesting. They'd pay their own premium out of season?

Agent Nicole: Yes, and it avoids the annual re-enrollment cycle entirely. Take-up varies but it works well where staff return reliably.

Caller: Ours mostly do. I'll raise both at renewal.

Agent Nicole: Your broker can model them. And it's worth doing now rather than in the month before renewal.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Seasonal workforce eligibility. Caller: EMPLOYER (Manuel Ortega, GRP-455118). Tone: neutral → informed. Duration: 7 min.

L2 — Call insights: Seasonal employer asked whether returning workers re-serve the waiting period. Agent explained the 13-week break-in-service rule, calculated the practical effect for a five-month gap, and offered two renewal-level options: class-differentiated waiting periods and year-round voluntary enrollment. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 76/100. POSITIVE: gave the 13-week rule precisely (+), worked through the practical consequence rather than leaving it abstract (+), offered two concrete renewal options (+), advised early planning (+). NEGATIVE: did not flag the group for account management follow-up (-), no written summary (-), broker not named despite recommending broker contact (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Account Management — seasonal employers have a structurally poor fit with standard waiting period configurations and are a retention risk. Recommend identifying groups with large seasonal headcount swings for a proactive renewal design conversation.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — rehire eligibility inquiry surfaced the 13-week break-in-service rule and the group's waiting period configuration. Class differentiation option was agent-supplied.

Caller: Gina Rossi, Practice Manager at Eastside Dental Group, group GRP-300421.

Agent Kayla: Got it, thanks Gina. What can I do for you?

Caller: Eastside Dental, Our open enrollment starts Monday and we haven't received any employee materials.

Agent Kayla: They usually go out about two weeks before.

Caller: We're four days out and nothing has arrived.

Agent Kayla: Let me check... I'm seeing a mailing date of the 20th.

Caller: To where?

Agent Kayla: The group address on file.

Caller: Which is? We moved offices in June.

Agent Kayla: It shows the Fairview address.

Caller: That's the old one. So they went to an empty office.

Agent Kayla: Looks like it.

Caller: Can you resend to the new address, digitally, today? Enrollment opens Monday.

Agent Kayla: I'd have to request a reprint.

Caller: How long does a reprint take?

Agent Kayla: Usually a week or so.

Caller: That's after enrollment opens. Is there a digital version I can send myself?

Agent Kayla: There might be something on the portal.

Caller: Can you check?

Agent Kayla: I'd have to look into it and call you back.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 38/100. NEGATIVE: did not treat a four-day deadline as urgent (-), did not update the group address once identified as stale (-), unaware whether digital enrollment materials exist (-), no callback time committed (-), no escalation (-). POSITIVE: identified the stale address as the cause (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations / Digital — group address changes are not propagating to the fulfillment system, and agents do not know that digital enrollment materials are available. Caller: Alonso Rivera, member ID CB-3305671.

Agent Ryan: Thanks Alonso. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: My daughter needs braces. Is orthodontia covered?

Agent Ryan: Child orthodontia is usually covered on dental plans.

Caller: At what level?

Agent Ryan: Typically 50% with a lifetime maximum.

Caller: So around $1,500 or $2,000 toward it?

Agent Ryan: Something in that range.

Caller: Good. The quote is $5,800 so that helps.

Agent Ryan: Yeah.

Caller: Do I need to do anything first?

Agent Ryan: Just have them submit it.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Orthodontia coverage inquiry. Caller: MEMBER (Alonso Rivera, CB-3305671). Tone: neutral, satisfied at close. Duration: 4 min. ■ Member misinformed on a $5,800 decision.

L2 — Call insights: Member asked whether child orthodontia is covered. Agent answered from general knowledge that it is typically covered at 50%. ■ ACCURACY FAILURE: this member's group did not elect the orthodontia rider, so no orthodontia benefit exists. The member expects roughly $1,500 against an actual benefit of zero. Resolution: UNRESOLVED — member will proceed on false information.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 41/100. CRITICAL NEGATIVE: confirmed a benefit the group never elected (-), answered from general market knowledge rather than the member's own plan (-), used hedging language while giving a definitive impression (-), did not suggest a pre-treatment estimate that would have caught the error (-). POSITIVE: none identified.

L4 — Operational BI: AGENT COACHING · CRITICAL · Owner: Call Centre Management — orthodontia is an optional rider and its presence varies by group. Answering from market norms rather than the member's record is the single most damaging error pattern in this corpus. PROCESS: elected riders should display prominently on the member record so absence is visible, not inferred.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 0:30 — orthodontia inquiry should return the group's rider election status immediately. Group did not elect the rider. A single lookup would have prevented the entire call.

Call #23 — Member Checks a Large Treatment Plan Before Committing

Mon 07 Sep 2026 · 16:15:15 · AHT 9m 01s · Claims & EOB

MEMBER | GOOD · 93/100 | RESOLVED | WORRIED → REASSURED | Agent: Priya

Context: Sophie Martinez, 26 · Member ID CB-9021445 · Delta Dental · $4,200 treatment plan

BROKER SIGNAL — Patricia Nunez named aloud by the caller

Topics: pre-treatment estimate · annual maximum · treatment planning · broker positive

Agent Priya: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Priya. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Sophie Martinez, member ID CB-9021445.

Agent Priya: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: My dentist has proposed $4,200 of work across several visits. My broker, Patricia Nunez, gave me a benefit summary at enrollment and it says my annual maximum is $1,500. I want to check I'm reading it right before I agree to anything.

Agent Priya: You're reading it correctly, and it's genuinely useful that you have that summary — most members don't. Let me confirm against your record. Annual maximum $1,500, and you've used $290 so far this year.

Caller: So the plan will pay at most $1,210 more this year.

Agent Priya: Exactly right. On a $4,200 plan of treatment, that leaves substantial member cost regardless of coinsurance levels.

Caller: Is there anything I can do about that?

Agent Priya: Yes, and this is worth doing. Ask your dentist to phase the treatment across two plan years. If roughly half is done before December 31st and half after January 1st, you draw on two annual maximums instead of one.

Caller: So potentially $1,210 this year and up to $1,500 next year.

Agent Priya: That's the arithmetic. Whether it's clinically appropriate to phase is your dentist's call, but many treatment plans divide sensibly.

Caller: That could be $1,500 of difference. Nobody mentioned it.

Agent Priya: It's the single most valuable thing to know about an annual maximum. Second thing — ask for a pre-treatment estimate. We return a written statement of what the plan will pay on each procedure, so you can sequence with actual numbers rather than estimates.

Caller: I'll ask for both.

Agent Priya: Reference PT-2026-01044 for the estimate. And your broker did well giving you that summary — it's why you called before committing rather than after.

L4 — Operational BI: BROKER ATTRIBUTION · POSITIVE · Owner: Broker Relations — Patricia Nunez supplied a benefit summary at enrollment that the member still held and used. Members from this broker call before committing rather than after a denial, which materially reduces downstream dispute volume. Call #24 — Filling Denied at Month Four — Basic Services Also Had a Wait

BROKER SIGNAL — Denise Whitfield named aloud by the caller

Topics: waiting period · basic services · broker education failure · churn risk

Agent Brad: Choice Administrators, Brad. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Michelle Torres, member ID CB-9904512.

Agent Brad: Thank you Michelle, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: My filling was denied. I've had this plan since June.

Agent Brad: There's a six month waiting period on basic services.

Caller: On fillings? I was told the wait was only for big things like crowns. My broker, Denise Whitfield, said cleanings and fillings were covered straight away.

Agent Brad: On this plan basic has a wait too.

Caller: So what is covered right now?

Agent Brad: Preventive.

Caller: Cleanings only.

Agent Brad: Basically.

Caller: When does the basic wait end?

Agent Brad: December I think.

Caller: You think, or it does?

Agent Brad: It'd be six months from your effective date.

Caller: Which you can see.

Agent Brad: Yeah it'd be December 1st.

Caller: So I pay for six months to get cleanings. That's not worth it. I'll cancel at open enrollment.

Agent Brad: That's up to you.

L2 — Call insights: Filling denied at month four of a six-month basic services waiting period the member did not know existed. Agent confirmed the wait, gave the end date only when pressed, did not check for prior coverage credit, did not log the named broker's misinformation, and did not respond to cancellation intent. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 34/100. NEGATIVE: no call recording disclosure made at the point of answer (-), did not check prior coverage for a waiting period credit (-), gave the eligibility date hesitantly and only under pressure (-), did not explain that preventive coverage still has real value (-), broker named and not logged (-), 'that's up to you' in response to cancellation (-). POSITIVE: waiting period information ultimately accurate (+).

L4 — Operational BI: BROKER ATTRIBUTION · Owner: Broker Relations — Denise Whitfield told the member basic services had no waiting period. Fifth flagged issue for this broker. Caller: Terrence Boyd, member ID CB-5519074.

Agent Kayla: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: I got a letter saying my coverage ends on the 31st. Nobody told me anything. I still work here.

Agent Kayla: Let me look... yes, your coverage is showing a termination date of the 31st.

Caller: Why?

Agent Kayla: It came through from your employer.

Caller: My employer terminated my dental insurance? I didn't resign, I haven't changed anything.

Agent Kayla: That's what's in the system.

Caller: Can you tell me the reason code or whatever it says?

Agent Kayla: It just says terminated.

Caller: So what do I do?

Agent Kayla: You'd need to talk to your HR department. We only process what they send us.

Caller: Is there any chance this is an error? Because I have a dental appointment on the 2nd.

Agent Kayla: I can't say. It'd be up to your employer to correct it if it's wrong.

Caller: And if they fix it, does my coverage come back automatically?

Agent Kayla: They'd have to resubmit.

Caller: Okay. Thanks.

Agent Tony: Choice Administrators, this is Tony. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Barbara Lindqvist, member ID CB-5583017.

Agent Tony: Got it, thanks Barbara. What can I do for you?

Caller: My daughter turns 26 in March. Does she come off my dental and vision?

Agent Tony: She does. Dependent eligibility ends the last day of the month she turns 26, so March 31st.

Caller: Is there any extension?

Agent Tony: On ancillary lines, generally not. Some medical plans allow extensions for disabled dependents; dental and vision typically follow the same rule but it's worth confirming if that applies.

Caller: It doesn't, she's just finishing graduate school.

Agent Tony: Then March 31st is the date. She has two options after that — COBRA continuation on your plan for up to 36 months, or her own coverage if her school or employer offers it.

Caller: 36 months is longer than I expected.

Agent Tony: Aging off is a qualifying event with a longer continuation period than a job loss. She'd pay the full premium plus administration, but for ancillary that's usually modest.

Caller: Does she get a notice?

Agent Tony: Yes, generated automatically from the age-off. But it goes to the address on file for her, which may be yours rather than her own.

Caller: It would be mine.

Agent Tony: Then watch for it. And tell her the election window is 60 days — it's easy to miss when the notice goes to a parent's address.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 72/100. Context: Victor Salinas, 47 · Member ID CB-402210 · Delta Dental · eligibility rejection at office

Topics: eligibility verification · provider system · point of service · false termination

Agent Priya: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Priya. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Victor Salinas, member ID CB-402210.

Agent Priya: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: I'm at the dentist and they say my coverage terminated in July. I've been paying every month.

Agent Priya: Let me check your record right now. Your coverage is active, continuously, with no termination on file. Premium current through this month.

Caller: So why are they seeing termination?

Agent Priya: Let me look at what changed in July... your group changed dental carriers at renewal, from MetLife to Delta Dental effective July 1st. If the office is checking MetLife, they'd see a July termination — which is accurate for MetLife but not for your coverage.

Caller: So I'm covered, just with a different company.

Agent Priya: Exactly. Ask them to verify with Delta Dental instead. Your Delta subscriber ID is DD-88214470.

Caller: Hold on, I'll tell them. ... They found me. Active.

Agent Priya: Good. Did you receive a new card in July?

Caller: I don't think so.

Agent Priya: That's the underlying problem then. I'm sending a digital card now and ordering a physical replacement. If you're carrying a MetLife card, every office will see the same thing.

Caller: That would have kept happening.

Agent Priya: It would. I'm also flagging that you didn't receive the carrier transition card, because if it affected you it likely affected others in your group.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: False termination at point of service after carrier change. Caller: MEMBER (Victor Salinas, CB-402210). Tone: frustrated → satisfied. Duration: 8 min.

L2 — Call insights: Provider saw a July termination because the group changed dental carriers from MetLife to Delta at renewal and the member still held a MetLife card. Agent identified the carrier transition, supplied the Delta subscriber ID, resolved verification at point of service, sent a replacement card, and flagged the group-level card distribution failure. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 91/100. POSITIVE: diagnosed the carrier transition as the cause rather than accepting the termination report (+), supplied the correct subscriber ID and resolved at point of service (+), identified the missing transition card as the root cause (+), escalated the group-level card distribution issue (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations — members do not reliably receive new cards on a carrier transition at renewal, producing point-of-service eligibility failures that look like terminations. L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — reported termination against active coverage surfaced the carrier change history and new subscriber ID. Card fulfillment gap surfaced. Agent used all three.

Call #30 — Member Losing Coverage — Full Continuation Walkthrough

Tue 08 Sep 2026 · 15:49:15 · AHT 9m 46s · Cost Share & Policy

MEMBER | GOOD · 95/100 | RESOLVED | WORRIED → REASSURED | Agent: Sarah

Context: Derek Foster, 38 · ChoiceBuilder dental, vision, life · position eliminated

Topics: COBRA · continuation · life conversion · coverage loss · offboarding

Agent Sarah: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Sarah. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Derek Foster, member ID CB-5578812.

Agent Sarah: Thank you Derek, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: My position was eliminated. Last day is the 30th. I have dental, vision and life through you and I'm mid-way through some dental work.

Agent Sarah: I'm sorry to hear about the position. Let me walk you through all three lines so you know exactly where you stand, because they don't all work the same way.

Caller: Please.

Agent Sarah: Coverage runs to the end of the month of termination, so through the 31st. After that, dental and vision are both COBRA-eligible. Your employer notifies us within 30 days, then you receive an election notice within 14 days of that.

Caller: How long do I have to decide?

Agent Sarah: 60 days from the later of the notice date or your coverage end date. And it's retroactive — if you elect on day 55, coverage backdates to the 1st with no gap. So you can wait and see whether you need it.

Caller: That's useful, because I might get another job quickly.

Agent Sarah: Exactly the situation it's designed for. Now, the dental work in progress — what stage?

Caller: Crown prep done, permanent due in November.

Agent Sarah: Then COBRA matters more than it might otherwise. If you elect, the November placement is covered as normal. If you don't, it's self-pay.

Caller: And the cost of COBRA?

Agent Sarah: Full premium plus up to 2% administration. For dental and vision on your tier that's likely $60 to $80 a month combined — considerably less than most people expect, because ancillary premiums are low.

Caller: That's very manageable. I assumed it would be hundreds.

Agent Sarah: People often confuse it with medical COBRA, which is a different order of magnitude. Now, life insurance is the one that works differently — it isn't COBRA, it's conversion. You typically have 31 days from coverage end to convert to an individual policy without evidence of insurability.

Caller: 31 days, not 60.

Agent Sarah: And that one is genuinely time-limited with no retroactive election. If you want to keep life cover, act on it promptly. Assurity handles the conversion directly.

Caller: That's the piece I'd have missed entirely.

Agent Sarah: It's the most commonly missed. I'm emailing you a summary of all three lines with the deadlines. Your reference is CT-2026-00944.

Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 95/100. POSITIVE: separated the three lines rather than answering generically (+), explained retroactive election so the member can defer the decision (+), connected COBRA directly to the in-progress crown (+), corrected the assumption that ancillary COBRA is expensive (+), surfaced the 31-day life conversion deadline that has no retroactive option (+), emailed a deadline summary (+).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — life conversion rights are the most frequently missed benefit at termination, with a shorter deadline and no retroactive election. Agent Nicole: Choice Administrators, Nicole speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Ahmed Bakri, member ID CB-6602274.

Agent Nicole: Thanks Ahmed. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: This is my second call this month. The portal access issue on the 7th was never sorted. Separate thing today. My filling was paid at 50%. Fillings should be 80% on my plan.

Agent Nicole: Let me look at how it categorised. You're right that fillings are basic at 80%. This claim processed under major services at 50%.

Caller: So it's been categorised wrong.

Agent Nicole: It looks that way. Let me check the procedure code... it was submitted as an onlay rather than a filling. An onlay is classified as major on your plan.

Caller: My dentist said filling.

Agent Nicole: Then either the terminology differed or the code is wrong. An onlay is a lab-fabricated restoration, more involved than a standard filling — clinically they're different procedures with different costs.

Caller: How do I tell which I actually had?

Agent Nicole: Ask the office directly. If it was fabricated in a lab and placed at a second visit, it's an onlay and the 50% is correct. If it was done in one visit with composite material, it's a filling and the code is wrong.

Caller: It was one visit.

Agent Nicole: Then it's likely miscoded. Ask them to review and resubmit as a filling if that's what was done. It should reprocess at 80%.

Caller: That's a $90 difference.

Agent Nicole: Worth the phone call. I'm noting the account so a corrected resubmission is expected. Reference CR-2026-00918.

NEGATIVE: no empathy at open (-), did not offer to contact the practice (-), did not quantify the difference until the member did (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROVIDER PERFORMANCE · Owner: Provider Relations — onlay coding on single-visit composite restorations shifts cost from the plan to the member and inflates the practice's reimbursement. Recommend monitoring practices with unusual onlay-to-filling ratios. REPEAT CONTACT: same member (CB-6602274) called on Mon 07 Sep 2026 and that call closed unresolved. Repeat contact within the period is a retention signal in its own right and should be counted against the earlier call, not this one.

Call #33 — Enrollment File Rejects With No Reason — HR Blocked Before the Deadline

Wed 09 Sep 2026 · 09:31:10 · AHT 8m 38s · Employer: Enrollment

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 76/100 | RESOLVED | STRESSED → RELIEVED | Agent: Michael

Context: Meridian Group Services · 52 employees · HR Manager Lisa Patel · GRP-274190

Topics: census upload · portal error · open enrollment deadline · file template

Agent Michael: Choice Administrators member services, Michael speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training.

Caller: Lisa Patel, HR manager at Meridian Group Services, group GRP-274190.

Agent Michael: Thanks Lisa. What's happening?

Caller: I'm trying to upload our open enrollment file — 52 lives — and the portal says 'upload unsuccessful.' That's the whole message. No line number, no field, nothing. I've tried six times.

Agent Michael: That message covers about eight different failures, which isn't helpful to you. Let me ask a few things and we'll narrow it. Are you using the ChoiceBuilder enrollment template or your own payroll export?

Caller: Our payroll export. It's got all the same columns.

Agent Michael: That's very likely it. The upload validates on column order and header spelling, not just presence. A payroll export with the right data in the wrong order fails silently.

Caller: Nobody has ever told me that. We've done this three years.

Agent Michael: Previous years may have gone through your broker rather than the portal. I'm emailing you the current template now — it's a spreadsheet with the headers locked. Paste your data under them and it should take.

Caller: Okay. Our deadline is Friday. If this doesn't work I'm stuck.

Agent Michael: Understood. Two things so Friday isn't at risk. First, try the template now while I'm on the line. Second, if it fails again, email the file to enrollment support and reference case EN-2026-01142 and they will load it manually before the deadline.

Caller: Loading it... it's accepted. 52 records.

Agent Michael: Good. You'll see them in eligibility within one business day.

Caller: Thank you. That took eight minutes and I've lost two days on it.

Agent Michael: That's fair and I'll log it. The error message should tell you what failed.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Portal enrollment upload failure. Caller: EMPLOYER. Tone: stressed → relieved. Agent tone: diagnostic, structured. Duration: 9 min. Deadline pressure stated.

L2 — Call insights: Employer's open enrollment file was rejecting with an undiagnostic error. Agent identified column order and header validation as the likely cause, supplied the correct template, resolved the upload live on the call, and provided a manual-load fallback with a case reference against a Friday deadline. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 76/100. POSITIVE: diagnosed a non-obvious validation failure from a generic error (+), resolved live on the call rather than promising a callback (+), gave a fallback path with a case reference and a named deadline (+), acknowledged the two days lost without deflecting (+). NEGATIVE: did not check whether other groups had failed the same way this cycle (-), did not offer to walk the file through if the second attempt failed (-), no written confirmation of the successful load (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Digital — the enrollment upload returns a single undiagnostic string for at least eight distinct validation failures, and the required template is not signposted at the point of upload. This lands hardest during open enrollment, when the cost of a two-day delay is a missed deadline. Recommend: (1) field-level validation messages, (2) the template linked on the upload screen, (3) a self-serve dry-run validator. OPPORTUNITY: employers moving from broker-mediated to self-serve enrollment are a growing population and the portal is not built for them.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:30 — portal error code lookup returned the template mismatch as the most common cause. Agent used it. Did not surface the enrollment-support manual-load path; agent supplied that from experience. Worth adding to the playbook.

Call #34 — Claim Denied as Duplicate When Two Procedures Were Genuinely Performed

Wed 09 Sep 2026 · 10:45:45 · AHT 9m 46s · Claims & EOB

MEMBER | GOOD · 93/100 | RESOLVED | ANGRY → SATISFIED | Agent: Danielle

Context: Alicia Ferrara, 34 · Member ID CB-4471203 · Delta Dental · two fillings same day

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Thu 03 Sep 2026: Why Am I Paying a Copay When I Have Dental Insurance?

Topics: duplicate denial · coding · same day procedures · tooth number

Agent Danielle: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Danielle. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Alicia Ferrara, member ID CB-4471203.

Agent Danielle: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: This is my second call this month. The copay issue on the 3rd was never sorted. Separate thing today. I had two fillings on the same day and the second was denied as a duplicate. They were different teeth.

Agent Danielle: Let me look at how they were submitted. Both claims show the same procedure code and the same date, and both list tooth number 14.

Caller: One was tooth 14 and one was tooth 19. I remember because he told me.

Agent Danielle: Then the second claim has the wrong tooth number, which is why the system read it as a duplicate submission of the first.

Caller: So it's a typing error at the dental office.

Agent Danielle: Almost certainly. And it's an easy fix — they resubmit with the correct tooth number and it should process normally.

Caller: Will they charge me while that happens?

Agent Danielle: Ask them to hold billing pending resubmission. Most practices will. And I'm noting the account so that if a corrected claim comes in for tooth 19 on that date, it's expected rather than looking like a third submission.

Caller: That's helpful. I was ready to argue with them.

Agent Danielle: No need. It's a keystroke rather than a dispute. Ask for the billing coordinator and tell them the second claim needs the tooth number corrected from 14 to 19 and resubmitted.

Caller: That's specific enough that they'll know what I mean.

Agent Danielle: That's the idea. Reference DC-2026-00902 if anything comes back.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Duplicate claim denial from coding error. Caller: MEMBER (Alicia Ferrara, CB-4471203). Tone: angry → satisfied. Duration: 9 min. Repeat contact — prior call in period closed unresolved.

L2 — Call insights: Second filling denied as a duplicate because the dental office submitted the wrong tooth number. Agent identified the specific field error, gave the member precise correction language, annotated the account for the expected resubmission, and advised holding billing. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 93/100. POSITIVE: identified the exact field causing the denial (+), reframed it from a dispute into a correction, defusing the member's anger (+), gave language specific enough for the billing coordinator to act on (+), annotated the account to prevent the corrected claim being rejected again (+), advised holding billing (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROVIDER PERFORMANCE · Owner: Provider Relations — tooth number errors on same-day multiple procedures are a recurring source of duplicate denials. Recommend tracking practices by duplicate-denial rate and issuing coding guidance where it exceeds network norms. REPEAT CONTACT: same member (CB-4471203) called on Thu 03 Sep 2026 and that call closed unresolved. Repeat contact within the period is a retention signal in its own right and should be counted against the earlier call, not this one.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:30 — duplicate denial with identical tooth numbers on same-day claims surfaced the coding error pattern and the account annotation action. Agent used both.

Call #35 — Claim Pending for Six Weeks — Agent Cannot Say Why

Wed 09 Sep 2026 · 10:51:00 · AHT 5m 26s · Claims & EOB

MEMBER | POOR · 36/100 | UNRESOLVED | NEUTRAL → FRUSTRATED | Agent: Kayla

Context: Elena Petrova, 40 · Delta Dental · claim in pending status

Topics: pending claim · claim status · COB hold · no explanation

Agent Kayla: Choice Administrators, this is Kayla. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Elena Petrova, member ID CB-5548207.

Agent Kayla: That's you found. Go ahead, Elena.

Caller: I have a claim from August that's still showing pending. It's been six weeks.

Agent Kayla: Let me look. Yes, it's pending.

Caller: Why?

Agent Kayla: It just says pending.

Caller: There's no reason code or note?

Agent Kayla: Not that I can see.

Caller: Six weeks seems long. Is that normal?

Agent Kayla: Sometimes claims take a while.

Caller: Is there something I need to do? Have you asked me for anything?

Agent Kayla: I don't see any letters.

Caller: So it's just sitting there.

Agent Kayla: Looks like it.

Caller: Can you find out why or push it along?

Agent Kayla: It'd process when it processes.

Caller: That isn't an answer.

Caller: Six weeks. Can you put me through to someone who can actually chase it?

Agent Kayla: There isn't a transfer for claims.

Caller: A supervisor then.

Agent Kayla: They'd tell you the same thing.

Caller: I'd still like to hear it from them.

Agent Kayla: Sorry, I don't have more detail.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Pending claim status. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: neutral → frustrated. Duration: 5 min. Explicit supervisor or escalation request refused with no alternative offered.

L2 — Call insights: Member's claim pending six weeks with no explanation. Agent confirmed the pending status but could identify no reason code, took no action to investigate, and did not escalate. Note: pending claims of this duration are most commonly held on an unreturned coordination of benefits questionnaire — the agent did not check. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 40/100. NEGATIVE: refused an explicit escalation request and offered no alternative route (-), did not check for a coordination of benefits hold, the most common cause of extended pending status (-), accepted 'pending' as a complete answer (-), 'it'd process when it processes' is dismissive (-), no escalation on a claim well beyond standard turnaround (-), no case created (-). POSITIVE: confirmed no member correspondence was outstanding (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations — pending reason codes are either not populated or not visible in the agent view, making extended pending claims unexplainable at first contact. Recommend surfacing the hold reason and an aging alert on any claim pending beyond 30 days.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:00 — claim pending beyond 30 days should surface the hold reason, most commonly a COB questionnaire, and offer verbal attestation to release it. No rule configured. A single rule would have resolved this call in two minutes. — BROKER: COMMISSIONS — SHOULD ALSO HAVE FIRED — an explicit supervisor request is a deterministic escalation trigger and no routing was surfaced.

Call #36 — Claim Paid to the Provider, Member Already Paid Too

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Tue 08 Sep 2026: Coverage Is Expiring — Member Does Not Know Why

Topics: duplicate payment · refund · assignment of benefits · provider

Agent Michael: Choice Administrators, Michael speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Terrence Boyd, member ID CB-5519074.

Agent Michael: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: I called on the 8th about termination and nobody came back to me, so you should know I'm already on my second attempt. I paid my dentist $260 at the appointment, and now my EOB says you also paid them $208. Have they been paid twice?

Agent Michael: Let me look. The claim processed with the allowed amount at $260. Plan paid $208, member responsibility $52.

Caller: So I should have paid $52, not $260.

Agent Michael: Correct. The practice collected the full amount upfront rather than waiting for the claim, which some do. They now owe you the difference — $208.

Caller: Will they just send it?

Agent Michael: Usually, but not always automatically. Call their billing office, reference the claim date, and tell them the EOB shows member responsibility of $52 against $260 collected.

Caller: And if they don't?

Agent Michael: Call us back. Network providers agree not to collect more than the member responsibility, so persistent overcollection is a contract issue we can raise with them.

Caller: Good to know there's a backstop.

Agent Michael: There is. Reference OP-2026-00441 if you need to come back.

Caller: Thank you.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Provider overcollection. Caller: MEMBER (Terrence Boyd, CB-5519074). Tone: confused → satisfied. Duration: 8 min. Repeat contact — prior call in period closed unresolved.

L2 — Call insights: Provider collected $260 upfront against a $52 member responsibility. Agent explained the overcollection, gave the member specific language for the refund request, and confirmed the network contract backstop. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 73/100. POSITIVE: identified the overcollection clearly (+), gave specific language for the provider conversation (+), explained the network contract protection as a backstop (+), reference provided (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer to contact the provider directly (-), did not log the practice for a collection-practice pattern check (-), no written EOB summary offered (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROVIDER PERFORMANCE · Owner: Provider Relations — upfront full-fee collection ahead of adjudication is a contract compliance issue and shifts the refund burden onto members. Recommend tracking practices by overcollection reports and addressing repeat offenders. REPEAT CONTACT: same member (CB-5519074) called on Tue 08 Sep 2026 and that call closed unresolved. Repeat contact within the period is a retention signal in its own right and should be counted against the earlier call, not this one.

Call #37 — Employer Told by Broker That Voluntary Dental Has No Participation Minimum

Thu 10 Sep 2026 · 11:06:20 · AHT 8m 15s · Broker Conduct

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 72/100 | PARTIALLY RESOLVED | CONFIDENT → CONCERNED | Agent: Nicole

Context: Fontaine Logistics · 41 employees · Owner Derek Fontaine · GRP-288402

BROKER SIGNAL — Marcus Trent: Told the employer voluntary dental carries no participation minimum. It carries 25%.

Topics: minimum participation · voluntary dental · broker misrepresentation · plan viability

Caller: Derek Fontaine, I own Fontaine Logistics, group GRP-288402.

Agent Nicole: Thanks. What can I do?

Caller: We went voluntary on dental at renewal — employees pay the whole premium. My broker, Marcus Trent, told me voluntary means no participation requirement, so it doesn't matter how many sign up. I've got nine out of forty-one enrolled and I want to confirm we're fine.

Agent Nicole: I need to correct that, and I'm sorry to be the one doing it. Voluntary dental on ChoiceBuilder carries a 25% minimum participation requirement. Employer-paid plans have a higher one — usually 75% — but voluntary is not zero.

Caller: Twenty-five percent of forty-one is what, eleven?

Agent Nicole: Eleven, yes. You're at nine.

Caller: So what happens?

Agent Nicole: The carrier reviews participation at the anniversary. Below the minimum they can decline to renew the line.

Caller: They can cancel dental for the nine people who did sign up because thirty-two didn't.

Agent Nicole: That's the mechanism, yes.

Caller: That is not what I was told when I signed the paperwork.

Agent Nicole: I hear you. Your anniversary is 1 March, so you have time. Two more enrollments clears it.

Caller: Can I add people mid-year?

Agent Nicole: Outside open enrollment, only on a qualifying event. Otherwise it's your next open enrollment window, which is January.

Caller: So I have one window and I need two people. What happens if I miss it?

Agent Nicole: I'd need to check with the carrier what discretion they apply. I don't want to guess at that.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Product rule verification — voluntary participation minimum. Caller: EMPLOYER. Tone: confident → concerned. Agent tone: accurate, direct. Duration: 8 min. Broker misrepresentation named aloud.

L2 — Call insights: Employer was advised by his broker that voluntary dental carries no participation minimum. Agent corrected this — 25% applies — and identified the group is below threshold at 9 of 41 against a requirement of 11. Agent gave the anniversary date and the January open enrollment window but could not state carrier discretion below threshold and did not open a case. Resolution: PARTIALLY RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 72/100. POSITIVE: corrected the misrepresentation immediately rather than hedging (+), gave the exact threshold and the group's actual position (+), explained the anniversary review mechanism (+), declined to guess at carrier discretion rather than inventing an answer (+). NEGATIVE: did not open a case or commit to coming back with the carrier's position (-), did not flag the broker misrepresentation for Broker Relations (-), did not offer enrollment support to close the two-life gap (-), no written summary of the requirement (-).

L4 — Operational BI: BROKER CONDUCT · HIGH · Owner: Broker Relations — a broker has placed a group on a voluntary line while misstating the participation requirement to the employer. The group is below threshold and at risk of non-renewal on a line nine employees are relying on. Second occurrence of participation-rule misrepresentation from this agency in the corpus period. Recommend: (1) log against the agency, (2) participation requirement restated in the employer's own group confirmation rather than only in carrier documents, (3) a below-threshold alert to employer and broker at 60 days before anniversary rather than at review.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — participation rule lookup returned the 25% voluntary minimum and the group's current enrollment count. Agent used both. SHOULD ALSO HAVE FIRED — 'my broker told me' plus a corrected product rule is a broker conduct trigger. No rule configured.

Topics: coverage misunderstanding · vision not elected · broker failure · churn risk

Agent Kayla: Choice Administrators, this is Kayla. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Diane Kowalski, member ID CB-4483310.

Agent Kayla: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: I had an eye exam and they said I have no vision coverage. I've been paying for it for two years.

Agent Kayla: Let me look. You have dental only.

Caller: I was told I had both. My broker, Anthony Salerno, enrolled me and said dental and vision.

Agent Kayla: There's only dental on the account.

Caller: So what have I been paying for?

Agent Kayla: Your deduction would be dental only.

Caller: Can you tell me the amount?

Agent Kayla: We don't see payroll deductions, that's your employer.

Caller: So I don't know whether I've been overcharged.

Agent Kayla: Your employer would know.

Caller: Can vision be added now?

Agent Kayla: Only at open enrollment.

Caller: When is that?

Agent Kayla: It varies by group.

Caller: Can you check mine?

Agent Kayla: It's usually in the autumn.

Caller: Honestly, if this is the level of information available I'll take the dental off too and go elsewhere.

Call #39 — Group Billed on Old Tier Structure for Four Months

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 91/100 | RESOLVED | FRUSTRATED → SATISFIED | Agent: Danielle

Context: Northgate Logistics · 58 employees · HR Manager Elena Vasquez · GRP-441002

BROKER SIGNAL — Denise Whitfield named aloud by the caller

Topics: billing error · renewal change not submitted · broker failure · credit

Agent Danielle: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Danielle. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Elena Vasquez, HR Manager at Northgate Logistics, group GRP-441002.

Agent Danielle: Thank you Elena, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: HR at Northgate Logistics, group At renewal in May we moved from Platinum to Gold dental to reduce cost. We're still being billed at Platinum rates.

Agent Danielle: Let me check what was submitted at renewal versus what's in force. Your group is showing Platinum PPO, unchanged since last year.

Caller: We definitely elected Gold. Our broker Denise Whitfield took us through it and we signed the renewal worksheet.

Agent Danielle: I don't have a Gold election on file. Do you have the signed worksheet?

Caller: Yes, dated April 18th.

Agent Danielle: Then the election was made and not submitted. That's a broker submission failure rather than an employer error, and it changes what remedy is available.

Caller: What does that mean practically?

Agent Danielle: With a signed renewal worksheet predating the lock date, I can request a retroactive plan change to your May 1st renewal and a premium credit for the difference across all four months.

Caller: That's roughly $340 a month difference. So around $1,360.

Agent Danielle: That's the order of magnitude. Send me the signed worksheet and I'll build the request from it.

Caller: There's a complication. Employees have been using Platinum benefits for four months. Does a retroactive downgrade claw back claims?

Agent Danielle: Good question and an important one. In a plan-side or broker-side error, claims already adjudicated at the higher benefit are generally not reversed — the member acted in good faith. I'll confirm that explicitly in the request so it's documented, not assumed.

Caller: That was my worry. I don't want employees getting bills.

Agent Danielle: Understood, and I'll make it a condition of the request. Reference RC-2026-00907. I'm also logging the broker submission failure separately.

Caller: Please do. This isn't the first time.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Renewal election not submitted. Caller: EMPLOYER (Elena Vasquez, GRP-441002). Tone: frustrated → satisfied. Duration: 10 min.

L2 — Call insights: Group elected a Platinum to Gold dental downgrade at renewal with a signed worksheet; the change was never submitted, and the group was billed at Platinum rates for four months. Agent identified the broker submission failure, opened a retroactive change and credit request of approximately $1,360, and secured protection for already-adjudicated member claims. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 91/100. POSITIVE: distinguished broker submission failure from employer error, which determines the remedy (+), quantified the credit (+), anticipated and addressed the claims clawback risk before the employer had to worry about it (+), made claim protection an explicit condition rather than an assumption (+), logged the broker failure separately (+).

L4 — Operational BI: BROKER ATTRIBUTION · Owner: Broker Relations — Denise Whitfield obtained a signed renewal election and did not submit it, costing the group approximately $1,360. Employer noted 'this isn't the first time'. CHURN SIGNAL: repeat broker failures at group level threaten the whole account, not one member. Recommend auditing Whitfield's renewal submissions against signed worksheets across her book.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 3:00 — signed election with no corresponding submission surfaced the retroactive change pathway. Claims clawback protection was agent-initiated; recommend adding to the playbook.

Call #40 — Swapping the Vision Carrier at Renewal

Fri 11 Sep 2026 · 11:11:30 · AHT 8m 32s · Employer: Renewal

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 79/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → INFORMED | Agent: Michael

Agent Michael: Choice Administrators, Michael speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Kevin Walsh, HR Director at Lighthouse Media, group GRP-291005.

Agent Michael: That's you found. Go ahead, Kevin.

Caller: We want to move our vision from VSP to EyeMed at renewal. What's the process and when do we need to decide?

Agent Michael: Your renewal is January 1st. The lock date for carrier changes is November 15th — after that the renewal processes as-is.

Caller: So six weeks from now.

Agent Michael: Yes. The change itself is straightforward — it's an election on the renewal worksheet, submitted through your broker or directly in the employer portal.

Caller: What should I be thinking about before deciding?

Agent Michael: Two things practically. Network overlap — check whether your employees' current optometrists are in the EyeMed network, because VSP and EyeMed have meaningfully different provider lists. And frequency schedules reset on carrier change, so anyone mid-cycle on lenses or frames may find their availability shifts.

Caller: That second one could cause complaints.

Agent Michael: It does. If someone used their frame benefit in June under VSP, the EyeMed clock may start fresh or may recognise the prior use depending on how the transition is set up. Worth confirming before you commit.

Caller: Can you confirm it?

Agent Michael: I can request it from the carrier transition team and come back to you. It depends on the specific plan pairing.

Caller: Please. And can you send me a network comparison?

Agent Michael: I'll send the EyeMed provider directory link and the transition FAQ. For a proper overlap analysis your broker can run it against your employee zip codes.

Caller: Good. Thank you.

L2 — Call insights: Employer considering a VSP to EyeMed switch at January renewal. Agent gave the November 15 lock date, flagged network overlap and frequency-schedule reset as the two practical risks, and committed to confirm the transition treatment with the carrier team. Resolution: RESOLVED with follow-up pending.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 79/100. POSITIVE: gave the lock date immediately (+), raised network overlap and frequency reset unprompted — the two things that generate member complaints post-switch (+), was honest that transition treatment needs confirmation (+). Agent Michael: Choice Administrators member services, Michael speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Rosa Delgado, member ID CB-6614882.

Agent Michael: That's you found. Go ahead, Rosa.

Caller: Hi, I had an eye exam in February and another one last week because my prescription changed. The second one was denied.

Agent Michael: Let me check. You're on the VSP plan. Your exam benefit is once every 12 months.

Caller: But my prescription changed. That's a medical reason, not me being frivolous.

Agent Michael: I understand, but the frequency limit is based on the calendar, not the reason. February to last week is about eight months, so the second exam falls inside the 12-month window.

Caller: So I pay full price?

Agent Michael: For the exam, yes. But let me check your materials benefit separately, because lenses and frames run on their own schedule.

Caller: Go ahead.

Agent Michael: Your lens benefit is once every 12 months and your frame benefit is once every 24 months. You used lenses in February as well, so those are also inside the window. Frames you last used in 2024, so frames are available now.

Caller: So I can get new frames but not new lenses. That's not much use.

Agent Michael: It isn't, on its own. What I'd suggest is asking VSP about their out-of-benefit pricing — members get a discount on services outside the frequency window, usually around 20%. It's not coverage but it's better than retail.

Caller: I didn't know that existed.

Agent Michael: Most people don't. Your exam anniversary resets in February, so if the prescription can wait, that's when the full benefit is available again.

Caller: Okay. That's clear at least. Thank you.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Frequency limit denial — vision. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: confused → informed. Agent tone: accurate, moderately helpful. Duration: 7 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member's second eye exam within 12 months denied on frequency. Agent explained the calendar-based limit, checked lens and frame benefits separately, identified frames as available, and surfaced VSP out-of-benefit discount pricing. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 74/100. POSITIVE: separated exam, lens and frame frequency schedules (+), identified an available frame benefit (+), surfaced out-of-benefit discount pricing (+), gave the reset date (+). NEGATIVE: no empathy for a legitimate prescription change (-), did not check whether a medical exception exists for significant prescription change (-), no written summary offered (-).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — vision frequency schedules run on three separate clocks (exam, lenses, frames) and members assume one. Recommend a portal widget showing each benefit's next available date. PROCESS: agents are not checking for prescription-change exceptions — confirm whether the carrier offers one and script it if so.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — frequency schedule lookup returned exam, lens and frame anniversary dates. Did not surface out-of-benefit discount pricing; agent supplied that from experience. Worth adding to the playbook.

Call #42 — Which Network Am I In? Member Cannot Tell Delta From MetLife

Fri 11 Sep 2026 · 16:31:00 · AHT 7m 45s · Networks & Providers

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 77/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: Linda

Context: Meera Raman, 36 · ChoiceBuilder dental · dentist cannot find her coverage

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Wed 09 Sep 2026: Contacts and Glasses in One Year — Only One Is Covered

Topics: multi-carrier · network confusion · dental · ID card · Delta Dental

Agent Linda: Choice Administrators, this is Linda. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Meera Raman, member ID CB-9908844.

Agent Linda: Thank you Meera, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: I'll say up front I called on the 9th about materials benefit and it's still unresolved. I'm at my dentist's office right now and they say they can't find me. They looked up ChoiceBuilder and there's nothing.

Agent Linda: This happens a lot and it's usually fixable in a minute. ChoiceBuilder is the program you enrolled through, but your actual dental coverage sits with a specific carrier. Yours is Delta Dental.

Caller: So they should look up Delta Dental, not ChoiceBuilder?

Agent Linda: Exactly. Ask them to search Delta Dental PPO and use the subscriber ID on the front of your card — that's the number the carrier recognises, not the CB number you gave me.

Caller: Hold on. There are two numbers on this card. One says Member ID and one says Subscriber ID.

Agent Linda: The subscriber ID is the one Delta uses. Can you read it to me so I can confirm it matches what we have?

Caller: It's DD-77410398.

Agent Linda: That matches. Give them that number and Delta Dental as the carrier and they'll find you.

Caller: Okay, they're typing... yes, it came up. Thank you.

Agent Linda: Good. One thing worth knowing for next time — if you ever add vision, that's a different carrier again, either VSP or EyeMed. Chiropractic is Landmark. Each has its own network and its own lookup.

Caller: So one program, four different carriers?

Agent Linda: That's the trade-off of the exchange model — you get more choice and one bill, but providers look you up under the carrier, not under ChoiceBuilder.

Caller: That would have been useful to know on day one.

Agent Linda: It's fair feedback and I'll log it.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Network identification — provider cannot locate coverage. Caller: MEMBER, at point of service. Tone: confused → informed. Agent tone: efficient, educational. Duration: 8 min. Repeat contact — prior call in period closed unresolved.

L2 — Call insights: Provider searched under 'ChoiceBuilder' rather than the underlying carrier. Agent identified Delta Dental as the member's carrier, directed her to the subscriber ID rather than the CB member ID, confirmed the match, and explained the multi-carrier structure. Resolution: RESOLVED at point of service.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 77/100. POSITIVE: diagnosed the root cause immediately (+), distinguished subscriber ID from member ID (+), verified the number rather than assuming (+), explained the multi-carrier model for future reference (+), logged the onboarding feedback (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer to speak to the dental office directly (-), did not send a digital ID card during the call (-), no case reference (-).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — HIGH VOLUME PATTERN. Providers routinely search under 'ChoiceBuilder' and fail. This is structural to the exchange model and entirely predictable. Recommend: (1) ID card front redesigned to lead with the carrier name and subscriber ID, (2) onboarding message stating explicitly 'your dentist should look you up under [carrier], not ChoiceBuilder', (3) provider-facing lookup guidance. REPEAT CONTACT: same member (CB-9908844) called on Wed 09 Sep 2026 and that call closed unresolved. Repeat contact within the period is a retention signal in its own right and should be counted against the earlier call, not this one.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:00 — 'provider cannot find coverage' pattern surfaced the member's carrier assignment and subscriber ID immediately. Did not offer the digital ID card send action — worth adding.

Call #43 — Retroactive Termination Request — Employer Wants Three Months Back

Mon 14 Sep 2026 · 08:04:00 · AHT 8m 50s · Employer: Terminations

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 92/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: Danielle

Context: Trident Financial · 55 employees · Controller Sam Patel

Topics: retroactive termination · credit limits · compliance · billing

Agent Danielle: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Danielle. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Sam Patel, Controller at Trident Financial, group GRP-388901.

Agent Danielle: Got it, thanks Sam. What can I do for you?

Caller: We found an employee who left in June and was never terminated. Can we backdate it and get three months credited?

Agent Danielle: Let me check the policy limits on retroactive terminations. Our standard is 60 days of retroactive credit — so from today that would reach back to mid-August, not June.

Caller: So we lose two months.

Agent Danielle: On the credit side, likely yes. But I want to check something first, because it matters more than the money. Did this employee use any benefits after June?

Caller: I don't know.

Agent Danielle: Let me look... there's a dental claim in August. That complicates it, because if we terminate retroactive to June, that claim becomes the member's personal liability. He'd be billed directly by the provider.

Caller: We don't want that. He left on good terms.

Agent Danielle: Then I'd suggest terminating effective end of the month in which the claim fell, rather than June. You lose a month of credit but the former employee isn't pursued for a claim he reasonably believed was covered.

Caller: That seems fairer. Let's do that.

Agent Danielle: I'll submit termination effective August 31st with credit for September. And I'd note — his COBRA election notice is now overdue, so I'm generating that today. It goes to his last known address.

Caller: We hadn't thought about COBRA at all.

Agent Danielle: That's the bigger exposure here. Reference RT-2026-00612.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Retroactive termination request. Caller: EMPLOYER (Controller). Tone: confused → informed. Duration: 8 min. Compliance dimension.

L2 — Call insights: Employer sought a three-month retroactive termination. Agent applied the 60-day retro limit, identified a post-departure claim that would become the former employee's liability, recommended a later effective date to protect him, and generated the overdue COBRA notice. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 92/100. POSITIVE: checked for post-termination claims before processing — the step that protects the former employee (+), explained the consequence clearly and let the employer choose (+), identified the overdue COBRA notice as the larger exposure (+), generated it in-call (+). NEGATIVE: did not check whether other unterminated leavers exist on the group (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations / Compliance — an employee terminated in June was still enrolled in October, generating both premium waste and a COBRA notification breach. Recommend a quarterly reconciliation prompt to employers listing enrolled members with no recent payroll activity.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 3:00 — retroactive termination request surfaced the 60-day credit limit and post-effective-date claim history. COBRA overdue flag surfaced. Agent used all three.

Caller: Yolanda Reyes, member ID CB-9903175.

Agent Brad: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: Is teeth whitening covered on my plan?

Agent Brad: Let me see. Dental procedures, yeah, generally covered.

Caller: So whitening specifically?

Agent Brad: It'd fall under dental.

Caller: At what percentage?

Agent Brad: Probably the basic tier, so eighty percent.

Caller: That's better than I expected. It's about $600 so I'd pay around $120?

Agent Brad: Something like that.

Caller: Great, I'll book it.

Agent Brad: Sure.

Topics: broker unresponsive · dependent · service gap · churn risk

Agent Kayla: Choice Administrators, this is Kayla. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Michelle Torres, member ID CB-9904512.

Agent Kayla: Thank you Michelle, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: I called on the 8th about waiting period and nobody came back to me, so you should know I'm already on my second attempt. I've been trying to reach my broker, Anthony Salerno, for three weeks about adding my son. He doesn't return calls. Can you help?

Agent Kayla: Dependent additions go through your employer, not us directly.

Caller: My employer told me to ask the broker. The broker doesn't answer.

Agent Kayla: It would still be an employer submission.

Caller: I understand who submits it. I'm asking what I need to provide and whether I'm still inside the window. My son was born in July.

Agent Kayla: There's usually a 60 day window.

Caller: July 9th. Is that inside or outside?

Agent Kayla: You'd have to check with your employer.

Caller: You have my record. Can you not tell me whether a dependent has been added?

Agent Kayla: I can see there's no dependent on the account.

Caller: So it wasn't submitted. And the window is probably closed.

Agent Kayla: Possibly.

Caller: Between a broker who won't answer and this, I don't see what I'm paying for.

Call #47 — Employee Married Last Week — Adding a Spouse Mid-Year

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 90/100 | RESOLVED | URGENT → REASSURED | Agent: Danielle

Context: Hillside Tech · 90 employees · HR Generalist David Kim

Topics: qualifying life event · marriage · dependent addition · documentation

Agent Danielle: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Danielle. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: David Kim, HR Generalist at Hillside Tech, group GRP-188500.

Agent Danielle: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: An employee got married on the 4th and wants to add his spouse to dental and vision. What do I need?

Agent Danielle: Marriage is a qualifying event so he has 60 days from the 4th — that gives him until early November. Three things: the completed change form, a copy of the marriage certificate, and the spouse's date of birth and Social Security number.

Caller: Does the coverage backdate to the marriage date?

Agent Danielle: That's the employee's choice within limits. Most groups default to first of the month following the event, so November 1st. Some allow retroactive to the event date. Your group is set to first of month following.

Caller: So November 1st.

Agent Danielle: Yes. Worth telling him explicitly, because people often assume coverage starts the day they marry and then get a surprise if the spouse visits a dentist in October.

Caller: Good point. I'll make that clear.

Agent Danielle: One more thing that catches people. If his spouse has her own dental coverage through her employer, they'll want to think about whether dual coverage makes sense. It can, because of coordination of benefits — but it also means two premiums and two sets of frequency limits that don't always align.

Caller: He hasn't mentioned it. I'll ask.

Agent Danielle: Worth a conversation. If she keeps her own and he adds her anyway, coordination applies and the combined benefit can be higher than either alone. If money is tight it may not be worth the second premium.

Caller: That's genuinely useful. Anything else?

Agent Danielle: Submit through the employer portal under Life Events. Upload the certificate there. Processing is three to five days. Your reference is LE-2026-01144, and I'm emailing the checklist.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 90/100. POSITIVE: gave the exact deadline rather than the generic window (+), checked the group's specific effective date configuration (+), pre-empted the wedding-date coverage assumption that generates complaints (+), raised coordination of benefits proactively (+), reference and emailed checklist (+). NEGATIVE: did not mention the spouse may also be eligible for life coverage election (-).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — employees consistently assume QLE coverage starts on the event date rather than the plan's effective date rule. Recommend the QLE confirmation notice state the effective date prominently.

Call #48 — Employer Wants a Renewal Analysis Their Broker Did Not Provide

Mon 14 Sep 2026 · 15:09:30 · AHT 9m 35s · Employer: Renewal

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 90/100 | RESOLVED | CONCERNED → RETAINED | Agent: Priya

BROKER SIGNAL — Anthony Salerno named aloud by the caller

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Mon 07 Sep 2026: Open Enrollment Materials Never Arrived

Topics: renewal · utilisation · plan design · broker absent · retention

Agent Priya: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Priya. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Gina Rossi, Practice Manager at Eastside Dental Group, group GRP-300421.

Agent Priya: That's you found. Go ahead, Gina.

Caller: I called on the 7th about open enrollment and nobody came back to me, so you should know I'm already on my second attempt. Eastside Dental, Renewal is up 11%. I asked our broker, Anthony Salerno, for a utilisation analysis six weeks ago and haven't received it. Can you help me understand whether the increase is justified?

Agent Priya: I can give you the picture, yes. Let me pull your group's utilisation for the plan year.

Caller: Thank you.

Agent Priya: Your group's paid claims came to roughly 76% of premium collected. Anything above about 70% typically drives an increase, so an 11% adjustment is consistent with your experience rather than a broad market move.

Caller: So it's us, not a general increase.

Agent Priya: Largely. And the detail is useful — 62% of your paid claims were basic and major services, which is high for a 26-life group. Preventive utilisation was low.

Caller: Meaning people are coming in when something's wrong rather than for check-ups.

Agent Priya: That's exactly the pattern, and it's the expensive one. Groups with high preventive uptake tend to have lower claims cost over time because problems get caught early.

Caller: Can we do anything about that?

Agent Priya: Two things. Communication — a lot of members don't realise preventive is covered at 100% with no deductible, so they avoid the dentist to save money they wouldn't have spent. Second, some employers run a short internal campaign at plan year start. It sounds small but it moves the number.

Caller: We've never communicated anything beyond the enrollment pack.

Agent Priya: Then there's room. I'm emailing you the utilisation summary and a preventive communication template you can send to staff.

Caller: That's more than I asked for and considerably more than I got from our broker.

Agent Priya: I'll note that the analysis was requested and not provided. Reference UR-2026-00811.

Caller: Owen Blackwood, member ID CB-4438817.

Agent Tony: Thank you Owen, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: I got a bill for $290 after a filling. I have dental insurance and I went to a dentist.

Agent Tony: Let me look at the claim. The dentist you saw is out of network on your Delta Dental PPO.

Caller: The plan is called PPO. Doesn't that mean I can go anywhere?

Agent Tony: You can go anywhere, but the plan pays differently. In network, the dentist agrees a discounted rate and can only bill you your share of that rate. Out of network, they can charge their full fee, and the plan pays based on its allowed amount instead.

Caller: So what's the difference in my case?

Agent Tony: The dentist charged $420. Our allowed amount for that filling is $180. The plan paid 80% of $180, which is $144. Your share of the allowed amount is $36. The remaining $254 is the gap between his fee and our allowed amount — that's balance billing, and out-of-network dentists can do it.

Caller: So going in network would have saved me $254.

Agent Tony: Roughly, yes.

Caller: How do I check next time?

Agent Tony: Search on the Delta Dental site, not the ChoiceBuilder site, and filter for the PPO network specifically — Delta has more than one network and the Premier network doesn't give you the same protection.

Caller: That's a distinction nobody mentioned.

L2 — Call insights: Employer has been billed for two terminated employees across two cycles. Terminations were filed in the employer portal in August and did not apply. The group's broker has been unresponsive for three weeks. Agent declined to investigate, declined to transfer, and routed the employer back to the unresponsive broker. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 42/100. NEGATIVE: no call recording disclosure made at the point of answer (-), refused an explicit supervisor request with no alternative offered (-), did not open the portal submission history despite the employer stating terminations were filed (-), treated broker unresponsiveness as the employer's problem to solve (-), did not raise a billing adjustment case (-), missed explicit renewal-risk language at close (-). POSITIVE: correctly identified the group on the first attempt (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · CRITICAL · Owner: Operations — employer-submitted terminations are failing silently in the portal and the only remediation path offered is a broker who is not responding. Two failures compound: a portal that accepts a submission it does not apply, and a service model with no employer-direct escalation. Recommend: (1) portal submissions return a confirmation and an applied/not-applied status, (2) an employer-direct billing correction path that does not depend on the broker, (3) broker unresponsiveness logged as a Broker Relations signal on first mention. COMPLIANCE: call answered without a recording disclosure — California is a two-party consent state and the disclosure is a deterministic, scoreable requirement.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 2:00 — 'broker unresponsive' plus 'supervisor' plus billing dispute is a three-way escalation trigger. Should have surfaced portal submission history for GRP-266410, opened a billing adjustment case, and flagged the agency for Broker Relations. No rule configured. SHOULD ALSO HAVE FIRED at 0:05 — greeting completed with no recording disclosure detected.

Call #51 — Evidence of Insurability — Member Wants to Know Where the Form Stands

Tue 15 Sep 2026 · 10:41:30 · AHT 6m 49s · Platform & Forms

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 74/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → INFORMED | Agent: Linda

Context: Jason Kim, 33 · Assurity Life · elected coverage above guarantee issue

Topics: EOI · evidence of insurability · life insurance · underwriting · form status

Agent Linda: Choice Administrators, this is Linda. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Jason Kim, member ID CB-8805567.

Agent Linda: That's you found. Go ahead, Jason.

Caller: I elected $200,000 of life cover at open enrollment and I was told I need to complete an Evidence of Insurability form. I sent it three weeks ago and heard nothing.

Agent Linda: Let me check the status. I can see the EOI received on the 14th, currently with Assurity underwriting.

Caller: How long does underwriting take?

Agent Linda: Typically 15 to 30 business days for a straightforward case, longer if they request medical records.

Caller: What am I covered for in the meantime?

Agent Linda: That's the important part. You're covered at the guarantee issue amount — the level available without underwriting — which on your group is $50,000. The additional $150,000 only takes effect if and when underwriting approves it.

Caller: So I'm at $50,000 right now, not $200,000.

Agent Linda: Correct. And that's worth knowing if you've made any planning decisions on the higher figure.

Caller: I had assumed it was all in place.

Agent Linda: It's a common assumption. Underwriting can approve the full amount, approve a reduced amount, or decline the excess — in which case you stay at guarantee issue.

Caller: Will I be told either way?

Agent Linda: Yes, in writing from Assurity. If you want to check progress, their underwriting line is on your certificate. Your reference here is EOI-2026-00311.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: EOI status inquiry — life insurance. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: neutral → informed. Duration: 6 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member checking on an Evidence of Insurability submission for life coverage above guarantee issue. Agent confirmed receipt and underwriting status, and clarified that current coverage sits at the $50,000 guarantee issue level pending approval. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 74/100. POSITIVE: confirmed the form was received rather than leaving it uncertain (+), clarified the critical point that coverage is currently at guarantee issue not the elected amount (+), explained the three possible underwriting outcomes (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer to chase underwriting (-), no written confirmation of current coverage level offered (-), did not check whether the member has beneficiaries recorded (-).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — members electing above guarantee issue commonly believe the full amount is in force from the effective date. Recommend the enrollment confirmation state the in-force amount and the pending amount separately.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:30 — EOI status and guarantee issue level surfaced together. Agent used both.

Call #52 — Payroll Deduction Member Did Not Expect

Tue 15 Sep 2026 · 11:00:00 · AHT 9m 36s · Cost Share & Policy

MEMBER | GOOD · 92/100 | RESOLVED | ANGRY → RETAINED | Agent: Carlos

Context: Yolanda Reyes, 31 · Member ID CB-9903175 · voluntary dental and vision

BROKER SIGNAL — Marcus Trent named aloud by the caller

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Mon 14 Sep 2026: Agent Confirms Coverage for a Service That Is Excluded

Topics: voluntary vs employer-sponsored · payroll deduction · broker misselling · churn risk

Caller: Yolanda Reyes, member ID CB-9903175.

Agent Carlos: Got it, thanks Yolanda. What can I do for you?

Caller: This is my second call this month. The exclusions issue on the 14th was never sorted. Separate thing today. There's $62 coming out of my paycheck every month for dental and vision. I was told by my broker, Marcus Trent, that the company paid for this.

Agent Carlos: Let me check how your coverage is structured. Your group offers dental and vision on a voluntary basis, which means the employee pays the full premium through payroll.

Caller: That is not what I was told. He said it was a company benefit at no cost to me.

Agent Carlos: I can see why that's frustrating. There is a real distinction here — employer-sponsored means the employer contributes, voluntary means the employee pays. Your group is voluntary on both lines.

Caller: So I've been paying $62 a month for eight months for something I was told was free.

Agent Carlos: That's roughly $500. I want to be straight with you: I can't refund premium for coverage that was active and available to use. What I can do is make sure this is recorded properly and that you have a real choice going forward.

Caller: Meaning?

Agent Carlos: Two things. First, I'm logging a broker misrepresentation with broker relations, naming the specific claim. That matters because if he's told other members the same thing, it becomes visible.

Caller: And second?

Agent Carlos: You can drop voluntary coverage at open enrollment, which for your group is in October. But before you decide — have you used it?

Caller: I had a cleaning and an eye exam.

Agent Carlos: Let me check what those cost the plan... $186 and $95. So $281 of benefit against $496 of premium. That's a genuine loss this year, but a single filling or a pair of glasses would flip it.

Caller: That's fair. I was ready to cancel out of principle.

Agent Carlos: Cancel because the numbers don't work, not because you're angry with your broker. Those are different decisions. Reference BM-2026-00618 for the broker log.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Voluntary versus employer-sponsored misunderstanding. Caller: MEMBER (Yolanda Reyes, CB-9903175). Tone: angry → retained. Duration: 10 min. ■ Cancellation intent expressed and addressed. Repeat contact — prior call in period closed unresolved.

L2 — Call insights: Member believed her coverage was employer-paid; the group offers both lines on a voluntary basis. Agent explained the distinction, was honest that no refund is available, logged broker misrepresentation, and reframed the cancellation decision around actual utilisation rather than frustration. Resolution: RESOLVED — member retained pending open enrollment decision.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 92/100. POSITIVE: explained voluntary versus employer-sponsored clearly (+), was honest about no refund rather than deflecting (+), logged the broker misrepresentation with the specific claim (+), pulled actual utilisation figures to inform the decision (+), separated the emotional and financial decisions explicitly (+).

L4 — Operational BI: BROKER ATTRIBUTION · Owner: Broker Relations — Marcus Trent represented voluntary coverage as employer-paid. If repeated across his book this generates a stream of surprise-deduction complaints attributed to Choice rather than to him. CHURN SIGNAL: member ready to cancel on principle; retained by reframing to utilisation. Recommend auditing Trent's enrolled members for similar complaints. REPEAT CONTACT: same member (CB-9903175) called on Mon 14 Sep 2026 and that call closed unresolved. Repeat contact within the period is a retention signal in its own right and should be counted against the earlier call, not this one.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 4:00 — voluntary coverage with a member-reported employer-paid expectation surfaced the broker misrepresentation log. Utilisation-versus-premium comparison surfaced. Agent used both.

Call #53 — Member Asks Which Carrier They Have and Cannot Get an Answer

Tue 15 Sep 2026 · 15:35:15 · AHT 4m 47s · Networks & Providers

MEMBER | POOR · 37/100 | UNRESOLVED | NEUTRAL → FRUSTRATED | Agent: Tiffany

Context: Harold Winters, 58 · Member ID CB-2214408 · dental and vision, carrier unknown to member

Topics: carrier identification · multi-carrier · basic information · service failure

Agent Tiffany: Choice Administrators, Tiffany speaking. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Harold Winters, member ID CB-2214408.

Agent Tiffany: Thank you Harold, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: My optician asked which vision company I'm with and I don't know. Can you tell me?

Agent Tiffany: Let me look... you have vision coverage.

Caller: Yes, but with whom? VSP or the other one?

Agent Tiffany: It should be on your card.

Caller: I've lost the card. That's partly why I'm calling.

Agent Tiffany: Hmm.

Caller: Can you not see the carrier on your screen?

Agent Tiffany: I can see vision coverage is active.

Caller: But not which company provides it?

Agent Tiffany: It might be under a different tab.

Caller: Could you check?

Agent Tiffany: I'm not sure where it shows.

Caller: This is the most basic question I could ask.

Agent Tiffany: Maybe try the portal, it should be listed there.

Caller: I'd need my card details to register for the portal.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Carrier identification. Caller: MEMBER (Harold Winters, CB-2214408). Tone: neutral → frustrated. Duration: 5 min. No call recording disclosure in the agent greeting.

L2 — Call insights: Member could not identify his vision carrier after losing his card. Agent could confirm active vision coverage but could not identify the carrier, did not send a replacement card, and referred him to a portal he cannot register for without the card. Resolution: UNRESOLVED — circular referral on a basic request.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 37/100. NEGATIVE: no call recording disclosure made at the point of answer (-), could not identify the carrier, the single most basic fact about the coverage (-), did not offer to send a digital or replacement card (-), referred to a portal requiring the information the member lacks (-), no escalation on a request she could not fulfil (-). POSITIVE: confirmed coverage is active (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · CRITICAL · Owner: Digital / Training — carrier assignment is the defining fact of an exchange product and was not readily visible to the agent. Whether this is a UI issue or a training issue it must be resolved: in a multi-carrier model, an agent who cannot name the carrier cannot serve the member at all. Recommend carrier and subscriber ID display in the primary member view. COMPLIANCE: call answered without a recording disclosure — California is a two-party consent state and the disclosure is a scored, deterministic requirement, not a courtesy.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 0:45 — carrier identification request should return carrier, subscriber ID, and a digital card send action immediately. This is the most fundamental lookup in the product and no rule is configured. — EMPLOYER: ENROLLMENT — SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 0:05 — greeting completed with no recording disclosure detected.

Call #54 — Employer Asks Which Employees Are Enrolled and Cannot Get a List

Wed 16 Sep 2026 · 10:49:30 · AHT 4m 39s · Employer: Enrollment

EMPLOYER | POOR · 38/100 | UNRESOLVED | NEUTRAL → FRUSTRATED | Agent: Tiffany

Context: Pacific Garden Supply · 29 employees · Owner Lucy Wong · GRP-388120

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Tue 01 Sep 2026: Enrollment Form Submitted Twice, Neither Processed

Topics: enrollment roster · reporting · employer portal · basic request

Agent Tiffany: Choice Administrators, Tiffany speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Lucy Wong, Owner at Pacific Garden Supply, group GRP-388120.

Agent Tiffany: Thanks Lucy. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: Before I start — I rang on the 1st about form submission and got nowhere, so forgive me if I sound short. Can you send me a list of which employees are currently enrolled and in what?

Agent Tiffany: That'd be in the employer portal.

Caller: Where? I've looked under Reports.

Agent Tiffany: There should be an enrollment report.

Caller: There's a billing report and a claims summary. No enrollment roster.

Agent Tiffany: Hmm.

Caller: Could you export one and email it?

Agent Tiffany: I don't think I can send files out.

Caller: Can you read it to me? There are 29 people.

Agent Tiffany: That'd take a while.

Caller: I need to reconcile our payroll deductions. Without knowing who's enrolled I can't.

Agent Tiffany: Maybe your broker has it.

Caller: I'm asking the administrator of the plan for a list of who is enrolled in the plan.

Agent Tiffany: I understand, I'm just not sure how to get it to you.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Enrollment roster request. Caller: EMPLOYER (Lucy Wong, GRP-388120). Tone: neutral → frustrated. Duration: 5 min. Repeat contact — prior call in period closed unresolved.

L2 — Call insights: Employer requested a current enrollment roster for payroll reconciliation. Agent could not locate the report in the portal, could not export or email one, and suggested the broker. Resolution: UNRESOLVED — a routine administrative request unfulfilled.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 38/100. NEGATIVE: could not fulfil the most basic employer reporting request (-), unsure whether she could send files, rather than knowing (-), suggested the broker for data the administrator holds (-), no escalation (-), no callback (-). POSITIVE: none identified.

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · CRITICAL · Owner: Digital / Operations — employers cannot readily obtain a current enrollment roster, which is the foundation of payroll reconciliation and the root cause of the unsubmitted-termination and billing-discrepancy patterns seen repeatedly in this corpus. Recommend a self-service enrollment roster export in the employer portal as a priority, and agent-side export capability in the interim. REPEAT CONTACT: same group (GRP-388120) called on Tue 01 Sep 2026 and that call closed unresolved. Repeat contact within the period is a retention signal in its own right and should be counted against the earlier call, not this one.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:00 — employer roster request should surface an export action. No such capability exists for agents. This single gap contributes to several other recurring failure patterns.

Call #55 — High-Turnover Staffing Group — Roster Never Matches the Invoice

Wed 16 Sep 2026 · 13:07:30 · AHT 9m 42s · Employer: Billing

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 90/100 | RESOLVED | WEARY → CONFIDENT | Agent: Priya

Context: Cedar Point Staffing · 118 employees, high churn · HR Lead Angela Ruiz · GRP-311806

BROKER SIGNAL — Patricia Nunez: Positive signal — broker had already given the employer an accurate reconciliation checklist before the call.

Topics: roster reconciliation · high turnover · billing accuracy · COBRA exposure

Agent Priya: Choice Administrators, this is Priya. This call may be recorded for quality and training.

Caller: Angela Ruiz, HR lead at Cedar Point Staffing, group GRP-311806.

Agent Priya: Thanks Angela.

Caller: We turn over maybe fifteen people a month. Every invoice has somebody on it who left and somebody missing who started. Our broker Patricia Nunez gave us a reconciliation checklist and it has genuinely helped, but I'm still chasing three or four adjustments a month.

Agent Priya: That's a structural problem rather than a you problem, and the checklist only closes half of it. Can I ask how you're submitting changes?

Caller: Portal, individually, as they happen.

Agent Priya: That's the half that's costing you. Individual submissions post against the next open billing cycle. If someone leaves on the 28th and you file on the 29th, they bill again for the following month and you reclaim it later.

Caller: So the timing, not the filing.

Agent Priya: Yes. For a group at your churn rate I'd move you to a monthly full-roster file instead — you upload your active census, we reconcile against it, and additions and terminations both fall out of the comparison. It's one file rather than sixty transactions.

Caller: Can we do that? Nobody's offered it.

Agent Priya: It's available above 100 lives and you're at 118. I'll request the change and you'd start with the October cycle.

Caller: What about the ones already wrong?

Agent Priya: I'm raising a reconciliation for August and September now. Anything billed after a termination date gets credited, not refunded — it comes off the next invoice.

Caller: And the COBRA side? I worry we're missing notices.

Agent Priya: You should worry about that, and the roster file helps there too, because the termination date that triggers the notice is the one in the file rather than one you typed later. I'd still ask you to check the last two months of leavers against notices sent. If any are late, tell me and I'll route it properly rather than you sitting on it.

Caller: That's the first time anyone has connected those two things for me.

Agent Priya: Reference CR-2026-01077. I'll email the roster file spec and the reconciliation confirmation today.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Billing reconciliation — high-turnover group. Caller: EMPLOYER. Tone: weary → confident. Agent tone: diagnostic, consultative. Duration: 10 min. Positive broker signal named aloud. COBRA notice timeliness raised.

L2 — Call insights: Employer at roughly 13% monthly churn was reconciling invoices transaction by transaction. Agent diagnosed submission timing rather than submission accuracy as the cause, moved the group to monthly full-roster reconciliation available above 100 lives, raised credits for August and September, and connected termination-date accuracy to COBRA notice timing. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 90/100. POSITIVE: identified the real cause rather than accepting the employer's framing (+), matched a product capability to the group's profile that nobody had offered (+), raised the retrospective reconciliation without being asked (+), connected roster accuracy to COBRA notice exposure (+), asked the employer to check for late notices and offered a route (+), issued a reference and a written follow-up (+). NEGATIVE: did not check how many other groups above 100 lives are still on transactional submission (-), did not quantify the credit due (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Operations / Account Management — full-roster reconciliation is available above 100 lives and is not being offered proactively to the groups it exists for. High-churn groups are absorbing avoidable billing disputes and carrying COBRA timing risk as a side effect. Recommend: (1) identify all groups above 100 lives on transactional submission and offer the roster file, (2) surface eligibility in the employer portal, (3) a COBRA notice timeliness report derived from termination dates. BROKER RELATIONS: positive signal — this agency's clients arrive with accurate reconciliation practice and materially shorter calls.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 3:00 — group profile lookup returned churn rate and roster-file eligibility at 118 lives. Agent used both. Did not surface the COBRA notice log for the last two cycles, which exists and would have answered the employer's question directly rather than sending her to check manually.

Wed 16 Sep 2026 · 15:18:00 · AHT 7m 36s · Employer: Billing

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 75/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: Michael

Context: Riverside Trades · 44 employees · Bookkeeper Alan Petrov · GRP-471330

Topics: billing reconciliation · terminations not submitted · audit · credit

Agent Michael: Choice Administrators, Michael speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Alan Petrov, Bookkeeper at Riverside Trades, group GRP-471330.

Agent Michael: Got it, thanks Alan. What can I do for you?

Caller: I'm reconciling our invoice and there are four names on it who don't work here any more.

Agent Michael: Let me check each against termination submissions... I have no termination on file for any of the four.

Caller: They left between March and July.

Agent Michael: Then they were never submitted. That's why they're still billing.

Caller: So we've been paying for four people for months.

Agent Michael: Yes. And there's a second issue — none of them will have received a COBRA election notice, because that generates from the termination submission.

Caller: We didn't think about COBRA at all.

Agent Michael: That's the part with a deadline attached. Let me take the four termination dates and I'll submit them now.

Caller: March 14th, April 30th, June 6th and July 22nd.

Agent Michael: Submitting. Retroactive credit is capped at 60 days, so you'll receive credit back to early July. The earlier three are outside the credit window.

Caller: So we lose most of it.

Agent Michael: On the credit side, yes. I'd rather tell you plainly than let you expect a full refund. Reference TC-2026-00755.

Caller: And COBRA notices?

Agent Michael: Generating from the submissions now, though they're late. Late is better than never — the exposure reduces once notice is issued.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Unsubmitted terminations found in reconciliation. Caller: EMPLOYER (Alan Petrov, GRP-471330). Tone: confused → informed. Duration: 8 min. Compliance exposure identified.

L2 — Call insights: Four employees terminated between March and July were never submitted, generating months of unnecessary premium and no COBRA election notices. Agent submitted all four, applied the 60-day retroactive credit limit honestly, and generated the overdue COBRA notices. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 75/100. POSITIVE: checked each name individually (+), raised the COBRA exposure the employer had not considered (+), submitted all four during the call (+), was honest about the credit limit rather than implying a full refund (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer a full roster audit to catch further unsubmitted leavers (-), did not flag the group for a reconciliation process conversation (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations / Compliance — four unsubmitted terminations across five months represents both premium waste and repeated COBRA notification breaches. Recommend a quarterly roster confirmation prompt to employers, and an alert where an enrolled member has had no eligibility activity for 90 days.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — named employees with no termination record surfaced. Retro credit limit surfaced. Full roster audit action not offered; recommend adding.

Agent Brad: Choice Administrators, Brad. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Doris Chen, Office Manager at Clearwater Staffing, group GRP-310092.

Agent Brad: Thanks Doris. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: Our renewal came in at 19% up. Our broker, Denise Whitfield, hasn't contacted us at all. Can you talk me through options?

Agent Brad: Renewal options would normally go through your broker.

Caller: She hasn't called. Renewal is in three weeks.

Agent Brad: You could try contacting her.

Agent Brad: Hmm.

Caller: Can you tell me what alternative plans are available at least?

Agent Brad: There are different tiers.

Caller: Which ones, and what would they cost?

Agent Brad: I'd have to look at each.

Caller: Please.

Agent Brad: It's really a broker function, quoting alternatives.

Call #58 — Acupuncturist Says She Is Not In Network — She Is, Under a Different Name

Thu 17 Sep 2026 · 11:50:45 · AHT 7m 43s · Networks & Providers

MEMBER | GOOD · 91/100 | RESOLVED | FRUSTRATED → SATISFIED | Agent: Carlos

Context: Beatriz Salgado, 44 · Landmark Healthplan chiro/acupuncture rider

Topics: Landmark · acupuncture · network verification · provider name mismatch

Caller: Beatriz Salgado, member ID CB-6647701.

Agent Carlos: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: My acupuncturist says she doesn't take my insurance but the directory listed her.

Agent Carlos: Let me check. Your chiropractic and acupuncture benefit is through Landmark Healthplan. What's the practitioner's name?

Caller: Dr. Amara Osei on Bellflower Boulevard.

Agent Carlos: I'm seeing her listed — but under the practice name, Bellflower Integrative Health, not under her individual name. That's likely the mismatch. When she checked, she probably searched for herself individually.

Caller: So she is in network.

Agent Carlos: The practice is contracted with Landmark, and she's listed as a rendering provider under it. Ask her office to verify under the practice tax ID rather than her individual NPI.

Caller: Will they know what that means?

Agent Carlos: Their billing person will. If it helps, the Landmark provider services line is on the back of your card and they can confirm it directly for her.

Caller: That would probably be quicker than me explaining it.

Agent Carlos: Agreed. And I'll do one more thing — I'm reporting the directory entry so her individual name gets cross-listed. That way the next member doesn't hit the same wall.

Caller: Thank you. That's the bit that actually fixes it.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Network verification — provider name mismatch. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: frustrated → satisfied. Duration: 8 min.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 91/100. POSITIVE: diagnosed a subtle listing mismatch rather than accepting 'not in network' (+), gave the provider a verification route in terms their billing staff would recognise (+), routed the practitioner to Landmark directly rather than making the member intermediary (+), reported the directory entry to prevent recurrence (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Network Data — individual practitioners within contracted practices are not cross-listed under their own names, so both members and providers conclude they are out of network. Agent Tony: Choice Administrators, this is Tony. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Lucia Ferreira, member ID CB-5548820.

Agent Tony: Got it, thanks Lucia. What can I do for you?

Caller: My dentist told me he's leaving the Ameritas network at the end of the month. I'm halfway through crown work — the temporary is in and the permanent is due in three weeks.

Agent Tony: Let me check. Yes, I can see the network termination effective the 31st.

Caller: So what happens to my crown?

Agent Tony: The preparation and temporary were done in network, so those processed at network rates. The permanent placement in three weeks would fall after the termination date and would process out of network.

Caller: So I pay substantially more for the second half of a treatment I started in network.

Agent Tony: That's the exposure, yes. There are two things worth trying. First, ask whether he can bring the permanent placement forward before the 31st. Many dentists will accommodate that if the lab work is back.

Caller: That's practical. And second?

Agent Tony: A continuity of care request. For treatment already in progress at the time of a network termination, some carriers will honour network rates through completion. I need to check whether Ameritas offers it on your plan.

Caller: Can you check now?

Agent Tony: I don't have that in front of me. I'd need to request it from the carrier and come back to you.

Caller: How long?

Agent Tony: Usually two to three business days.

Caller: That's cutting it close but alright. Reference?

Call #60 — Dental Claim Partially Denied — Waiting Period Never Explained

Thu 17 Sep 2026 · 16:16:45 · AHT 9m 54s · Claims & EOB

MEMBER | GOOD · 93/100 | RESOLVED | ANXIOUS → REASSURED | Agent: Danielle

Context: Samuel Adeyemi, 39 · Ameritas dental · bridge work denied, 12-month waiting period

Topics: waiting period · major services · denial · Ameritas · enrollment disclosure

Agent Danielle: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Danielle. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Samuel Adeyemi, member ID CB-6620033.

Agent Danielle: Thanks Samuel. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: I had bridge work done and the claim came back mostly denied. I've had this plan since March.

Agent Danielle: Let me pull the claim and your plan history so I can tell you exactly what happened.

Caller: Please, because the letter just says 'not eligible' and that's it.

Agent Danielle: I have it. The bridge was processed against a 12-month waiting period for major services. Your coverage started March 1st, and the bridge was done in September — that's six months in, so it fell inside the waiting period.

Caller: What waiting period? Nobody mentioned a waiting period.

Agent Danielle: It's in the plan documents, but I hear you that it wasn't surfaced when it mattered. Waiting periods apply to major services — crowns, bridges, dentures — on most ancillary dental plans. Preventive and basic work aren't affected, which is why your cleanings processed normally.

Caller: So I'm paying the full cost of a bridge because I didn't know a rule existed.

Agent Danielle: That's the situation, and I'm not going to pretend it's a good one. Let me check two things. First, whether you had prior dental coverage — some plans credit prior continuous coverage against the waiting period.

Caller: I had dental at my last job. I started here in February.

Agent Danielle: That may help. If you had continuous coverage with no more than a 63-day gap, we can request a waiting period credit. That would move your major services eligibility to March 1st and make the bridge eligible.

Caller: What do you need from me?

Agent Danielle: A certificate of prior coverage from your previous carrier — most issue one on request, sometimes called a certificate of creditable coverage. Send it to us and we'll submit the credit request and reprocess the claim.

Caller: That's a real path. Thank you.

Agent Danielle: Your reference is WP-2026-00418. I'm emailing you the instructions and the address now. If your prior carrier is slow, call me back and I'll chase it.

Caller: I appreciate that.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Claim denial — dental waiting period. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: anxious → reassured. Agent tone: honest, resourceful. Duration: 10 min.

L2 — Call insights: Bridge work denied under a 12-month major services waiting period the member was unaware of. Agent explained the waiting period structure, identified prior continuous coverage as a potential credit, and opened a waiting period credit request with instructions. Resolution: RESOLVED — credit path opened.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 93/100. POSITIVE: retrieved and explained the actual denial basis rather than the letter's wording (+), acknowledged the disclosure gap honestly (+), proactively asked about prior coverage — the one thing that changes the outcome (+), explained the 63-day gap rule accurately (+), gave a reference and emailed instructions (+), offered to chase the prior carrier (+).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — waiting periods on major dental services are the leading cause of surprise denials in ancillary. Members do not encounter the rule until they need expensive work. Recommend: (1) waiting period end dates displayed in the member portal from day one, (2) enrollment confirmation states major services eligibility date explicitly, (3) prior-coverage credit offered proactively at enrollment rather than discovered at denial.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 3:30 — major services denial with coverage effective date under 12 months surfaced the waiting period rule and the prior-coverage credit pathway including the 63-day gap threshold. Agent used both.

Call #61 — Wrong Plan Tier Enrolled — Member Caught It at a Claim

Thu 17 Sep 2026 · 16:25:15 · AHT 10m 28s · Cost Share & Policy

MEMBER | GOOD · 94/100 | ESCALATED | ANGRY → RETAINED | Agent: Sarah

Context: Marcus Bell, 41 · Member ID CB-8819204 · enrolled Bronze, requested Platinum

BROKER SIGNAL — Denise Whitfield named aloud by the caller

Topics: enrollment error · plan tier · broker error · churn risk · retention

Agent Sarah: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Sarah. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Marcus Bell, member ID CB-8819204.

Agent Sarah: Thanks Marcus. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: I'm on the Bronze dental plan. I asked for Platinum. I have the email where I told my broker, Denise Whitfield, exactly that.

Agent Sarah: Let me pull your enrollment record and compare it against what was submitted. Give me a moment.

Caller: I found out because a crown came back at 50% instead of 80%. That's a $400 difference.

Agent Sarah: I can see the enrollment. Bronze PPO, submitted in November, effective January 1st. And you have written evidence of a Platinum request?

Caller: An email dated the 3rd of November saying Platinum, employee plus spouse.

Agent Sarah: That's important. Forward it to me and I'll open an enrollment correction request. If the submitted enrollment doesn't match a documented member instruction, that's grounds for a retroactive correction — not just a change going forward.

Caller: Retroactive meaning the crown gets reprocessed?

Agent Sarah: If the correction is approved, yes. The claim reprocesses at Platinum coinsurance and you'd be refunded the difference.

Caller: I assumed I'd just be told to wait for open enrollment.

Agent Sarah: That's the answer when it's a change of mind. This is a documented instruction not being followed, which is different.

Caller: I'll be honest, I was ready to tell my employer to move the whole group. This is the second thing that's gone wrong.

Agent Sarah: I understand, and I'd rather know that than not. I'm flagging the account for retention review as well as the correction. What was the first issue?

Caller: My wife was never added, even though the same email said employee plus spouse.

Agent Sarah: Then the correction covers both. Send me the email and I'll build the case from it. Reference EC-2026-00812.

Caller: So I've been on the wrong plan since March and paid for it.

Agent Sarah: Yes, and the enrollment was submitted with the wrong tier, which is not something you did. I'm correcting the tier retroactively and I'm escalating the submission itself to Broker Relations, because a tier error that runs six months is a control failure, not a typo.

Caller: Will I actually hear back?

Agent Sarah: It goes to a named owner today rather than a queue, and I'll email you the reference. If nobody has contacted you in five working days, reply to that email and it comes back to me.

Caller: That's the first useful conversation I've had about this.

Agent identified the documented-instruction basis for retroactive correction, extended it to the omitted spouse, and flagged for retention. Resolution: RESOLVED — correction case opened.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 94/100. Call #62 — Open Enrollment Closing and Twelve Employees Have Not Elected

Fri 18 Sep 2026 · 10:39:00 · AHT 9m 42s · Employer: Enrollment

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 92/100 | RESOLVED | URGENT → RESOLVED | Agent: Carlos

Context: Sunrise Tech · 84 employees · HR Manager Yvette Chambers · GRP-339201

Topics: open enrollment · participation · default election · deadline

Caller: Yvette Chambers, HR Manager at Sunrise Tech, group GRP-339201.

Agent Carlos: Thanks Yvette. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: Open enrollment closes Friday and twelve employees haven't made an election. What happens to them?

Agent Carlos: On your group, non-election defaults to declining coverage rather than rolling forward, so those twelve would have no ancillary coverage from January 1st.

Caller: They'd almost all want it. They're just not reading emails.

Agent Carlos: Then it's worth pushing. Two things you can do. First, I can send you the list of non-electors so you can chase individually rather than blanket-emailing everyone.

Caller: That would help enormously.

Agent Carlos: Second — check whether your group has a passive renewal option available. Some groups are configured so existing enrollees roll forward automatically unless they actively change. Yours is set to active election, which is why everyone has to re-elect.

Caller: Can that be changed?

Agent Carlos: At renewal, not now. But it's worth doing — active election groups consistently lose enrollees to inertia rather than intent, and it puts participation at risk.

Caller: Our participation minimum is what, 25%?

Agent Carlos: On voluntary lines, yes. You're well above it currently, but losing twelve would move you closer.

Caller: Send me the list and I'll chase today.

Agent Carlos: Sending now. And if any of them elect after Friday, contact me — late elections outside the window need an exception, but a documented employer chase can support one.

Caller: That's really useful to know.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 92/100. POSITIVE: gave a targeted list rather than generic advice (+), identified the active-election configuration as the structural cause (+), connected it to participation risk (+), pre-emptively explained the late-election exception route (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Account Management — groups configured for active election lose enrollees to inertia every year. Call #63 — Filing a Life Insurance Claim After a Spouse's Death

Fri 18 Sep 2026 · 10:47:15 · AHT 11m 11s · Life & Beneficiary

MEMBER | GOOD · 97/100 | RESOLVED | GRIEVING → SUPPORTED | Agent: Danielle

Context: Harold Brennan, 71 · Assurity Life via ChoiceBuilder · wife died three weeks ago

Topics: life insurance · beneficiary claim · Assurity · bereavement

Agent Danielle: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Danielle. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Harold Brennan, member ID CB-3301189.

Agent Danielle: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: My wife passed away three weeks ago. She had a life policy through her work. I don't know where to start. Her member ID was.

Agent Danielle: Mr. Brennan, I'm very sorry for your loss. I'll make this as straightforward as I can, and you don't need to have everything ready today.

Caller: Thank you.

Agent Danielle: Let me confirm the policy first. I can see term life coverage through Assurity Life, active, with a benefit amount on file. Can you confirm your name so I can check the beneficiary designation?

Caller: Harold Brennan. I'm her husband.

Agent Danielle: You're listed as the primary beneficiary. That makes this simpler — no competing claims to resolve.

Caller: What do I need to do?

Agent Danielle: Three things, and they can come in any order. A certified copy of the death certificate. A completed claim form, which I'll send you. And a copy of your photo ID.

Caller: I have death certificates. How many?

Agent Danielle: One certified copy for us. Keep the others — you'll need them for banks and other accounts.

Caller: How long does it take?

Agent Danielle: Assurity typically processes a straightforward beneficiary claim within 10 to 15 business days of receiving complete documentation. Because you're the named primary beneficiary and the policy was active, I don't expect complications.

Caller: Is there anything that would hold it up?

Agent Danielle: The most common delay is an incomplete claim form, so I'll mark the fields you need to complete and leave the rest. And I'm noting the account so that if you call back, whoever answers has the context and you won't have to explain again.

Caller: That's the part I was dreading.

Agent Danielle: You won't have to. Your reference is LC-2026-00219. And Mr. Brennan — her dental and vision coverage will also need to close out. I'll handle that from this call so it isn't a separate conversation for you.

Caller: Thank you. That's very kind.

Call #64 — Employees in Two States — Employer Finds Out Chiro Does Not Travel

Mon 21 Sep 2026 · 09:14:40 · AHT 7m 25s · Networks & Providers

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 70/100 | PARTIALLY RESOLVED | ANNOYED → PARTIALLY SATISFIED | Agent: Linda

Context: Bellwether Systems · 62 employees, 14 in Arizona · HR Manager Marion Bell · GRP-307755

Topics: multi-state · Landmark network · chiropractic · network density · plan design

Caller: Marion Bell, HR manager at Bellwether Systems, group GRP-307755.

Agent Linda: Thanks Marion.

Caller: We added the chiropractic rider in July. I have fourteen people in Tucson and every one of them says there is no provider near them. They think I sold them a benefit that doesn't exist.

Agent Linda: Landmark's network is concentrated in California. Coverage outside it is thin and in some Arizona counties there isn't any.

Caller: Was anyone going to tell me that before I bought it?

Agent Linda: It's in the carrier material. It clearly wasn't surfaced at the point it mattered, and I'm not going to defend that.

Caller: So what do my fourteen people do?

Agent Linda: Two things I can tell you now. Out-of-network chiropractic is reimbursed at a lower rate rather than not at all, so it's not zero, but they pay up front and claim back. And Landmark does add providers, so it's worth me requesting a current density report for the Tucson zip codes rather than us both assuming.

Caller: Can I drop the rider for the Arizona employees only?

Agent Linda: Not mid-year and not by location — the rider applies at group level.

Caller: So I carry it until January.

Agent Linda: For the rider, yes. What I can do is get you the density report and something in writing for your Arizona employees explaining the reimbursement route, so they're not turning up expecting in-network and finding nothing.

Caller: Do that. When?

Agent Linda: The written explanation today. The density report depends on Landmark, so I'd say within a week and I'll chase it.

Caller: That's not nothing. Reference?

Agent Linda: ND-2026-00558.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Network adequacy — out-of-state population. Caller: EMPLOYER. Tone: annoyed → partially satisfied. Agent tone: honest, practical. Duration: 7 min. Open action pending on a third party.

L2 — Call insights: Employer added a chiropractic rider covering a workforce with 14 employees in Arizona, where Landmark's network is thin to absent. Agent confirmed the limitation, declined to defend the disclosure gap, explained the out-of-network reimbursement route, confirmed the rider cannot be dropped mid-year or by location, and committed to a network density report and a written member explanation. Resolution: PARTIALLY RESOLVED — density report outstanding.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 70/100. POSITIVE: gave the network limitation plainly rather than reading marketing language back (+), acknowledged the disclosure failure without deflecting (+), offered the out-of-network reimbursement route as a partial remedy (+), gave a written commitment with a reference and a realistic timescale (+). NEGATIVE: did not check whether other lines have the same geographic limitation for these employees (-), did not flag the group for review at renewal (-), did not offer to communicate directly with the fourteen affected employees (-), left a third-party dependency with no fallback if Landmark does not respond (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Product / Network Management — riders are sold at group level with no check against the geographic distribution of the group's own census, and network density is not surfaced at quotation. A group with an out-of-state population can buy a benefit those employees cannot use, and discovers it after the fact. Recommend: (1) a census-versus-network density check at quotation, blocking or warning on material gaps, (2) plain-language geographic limitations in the employer confirmation, (3) location-level rider election where the carrier permits it. OPPORTUNITY: multi-state groups are a growing segment and this is a structural constraint on serving them.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:30 — Landmark network density returned as California-concentrated for the group's Arizona zip codes. Agent used it. Did not surface the out-of-network reimbursement schedule, which exists; agent described it from memory without giving the rate. Worth wiring.

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Tue 08 Sep 2026: Told There Was No Waiting Period — Member Now Considering Dropping Coverage

Topics: provider search · language · access · directory

Agent James: Choice Administrators member services, this is James. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Rosa Delgado, member ID CB-4479610.

Agent James: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: I'll say up front I called on the 8th about waiting period and it's still unresolved. I want to find a dentist near me who speaks Spanish. My mother will be coming with me and she doesn't speak English.

Agent James: The Delta Dental directory has a language filter. Let me search for you. What's your zip?

Caller: 90650.

Agent James: Filtering for Spanish-speaking providers within ten miles... I have eleven. Would you like the closest few?

Caller: Yes please.

Agent James: Dr. Elena Marchetti on Rosecrans, Dr. Javier Ruiz on Firestone, and Dr. Ana Delgadillo on Norwalk Boulevard. All three list Spanish and all three are accepting new patients.

Caller: That's helpful. Does the language listing mean the dentist speaks it or the staff?

Agent James: The directory doesn't distinguish, which is a fair limitation. It's worth asking when you call whether the dentist speaks Spanish directly or whether it's front office staff.

Caller: Good point. And if I need an interpreter for something else?

Agent James: We have telephonic interpretation on this line at no cost — if your mother ever needs to call about her own coverage, we can bring an interpreter onto the call in Spanish or any other language.

Caller: She didn't know that was available.

Agent James: Most people don't. She just has to ask, or the agent should offer.

Caller: I've realised I'm covered for dental twice — here and on my husband's plan. I've been paying for both for a year.

Agent Ryan: That's possible, dual coverage happens.

Caller: My broker, Marcus Trent, enrolled me. I told him my husband had family dental. He said having both was better.

Agent Ryan: It can coordinate.

Caller: Coordinate meaning what? Have I got more back?

Agent Ryan: Sometimes secondary pays some of what primary doesn't.

Caller: Can you tell me whether it actually has, in my case?

Agent Ryan: I'd only see claims processed through us.

Caller: Then look at those. Has this plan paid anything meaningful?

Agent Ryan: There are two claims. Small amounts.

Caller: How small?

Agent Ryan: $40 and $28.

Caller: So $68 of benefit for around $340 of premium.

Agent Ryan: Looks like it.

Caller: Then it wasn't better. I'll drop it.

Agent Michael: Choice Administrators, Michael speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Alice Fontaine, Owner at Bayside Cleaning, group GRP-415088.

Agent Michael: Thank you Alice, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: Second time calling in a fortnight. The 8th call about reinstatement went nowhere. Our dental renewal came in 14% up. That's a lot for a small business.

Agent Michael: It is, and I understand. Let me look at what's driving it and what levers you have. Your group is on the Platinum PPO with a $2,100 annual maximum and 100/80/50 coverage.

Caller: We picked the best one when we set it up.

Agent Michael: That's often where the saving sits. Moving from Platinum to Gold reduces the annual maximum to $1,500 and shifts major services from 80% to 50%. For most groups that's a 15 to 20% premium reduction.

Caller: Would employees notice?

Agent Michael: Only those having major work done. Preventive stays at 100% on both, and the majority of your employees will use preventive and basic only. Your utilisation report would show how many hit major services last year.

Caller: Can I see that?

Agent Michael: Your broker can pull it. It's the right basis for the decision rather than guessing.

Caller: And the other option?

Agent Michael: Shifting some cost to employees — moving from full employer-sponsored to a defined contribution where you pay a fixed dollar amount and employees pay the difference. It caps your exposure regardless of future increases.

Caller: That's appealing actually. Predictable.

Agent Michael: It is, and it's what most groups your size move to eventually. Talk to your broker about modelling both before the lock date.

Call #68 — Deductible vs Copay vs Coinsurance — Member Cannot Tell Them Apart

Mon 21 Sep 2026 · 11:27:15 · AHT 7m 40s · Cost Share & Policy

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 79/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: Tony

Context: Wendy Castellanos, 38 · Ameritas dental · three different charges in one year

Topics: deductible · copay · coinsurance · cost share · member education

Caller: Wendy Castellanos, member ID CB-6641093.

Agent Tony: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: I've been charged three different ways this year and I don't understand any of it. One visit was free, one I paid $25, one I paid $90. Same plan.

Agent Tony: Let me pull the three claims and take them one at a time, because there is a logic to it.

Caller: Please.

Agent Tony: First visit, March, cleaning and exam. Preventive, covered at 100%, no deductible. That's your free one.

Caller: Right.

Agent Tony: Second, June, a filling. That's basic services, covered at 80%. But before the plan pays anything on basic or major work, you have a $50 annual deductible. The filling was $125 allowed. You paid the $50 deductible, then 20% of the remaining $75, which is $15. Total $65.

Caller: The statement said $25.

Agent Tony: Let me re-read... you're right, $25. The deductible had already been partly met by an earlier x-ray. So $10 of deductible plus $15 coinsurance.

Caller: And the $90?

Agent Tony: September, a root canal. Major services, 50% coverage, deductible already met. Allowed amount $180, you pay half — $90.

Caller: So the deductible is once a year, and then the percentage depends on the type of work.

Agent Tony: That's it exactly. Preventive is free and never touches the deductible. Basic and major both do.

Caller: Why does nobody explain it that way?

Agent Tony: It's a fair question. I'll note it as feedback.

Call #69 — Dual Coverage — Which Dental Plan Pays First

Mon 21 Sep 2026 · 11:48:45 · AHT 7m 22s · Claims & EOB

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 72/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: James

Context: Alonso Rivera, 45 · ChoiceBuilder dental plus spouse's employer dental

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Mon 07 Sep 2026: Agent States Orthodontia Is Covered for Children When the Group Declined the Rider

Topics: coordination of benefits · dual coverage · birthday rule · secondary

Agent James: Choice Administrators member services, this is James. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Alonso Rivera, member ID CB-3305671.

Agent James: Got it, thanks Alonso. What can I do for you?

Caller: This is my second call this month. The orthodontia rider issue on the 7th was never sorted. Separate thing today. I have dental here and my wife has dental through her job that covers me too. The dentist billed one and now says the other should pay. I don't understand the order.

Agent James: This is coordination of benefits. For you as an employee, your own employer's plan is primary — the plan where you're the subscriber pays first. Your wife's plan, where you're a dependent, is secondary.

Caller: So mine first, always?

Agent James: For you, yes. For your wife it's the reverse — her own plan is primary for her. For children, it's different again: the parent whose birthday falls earlier in the calendar year is primary.

Caller: The birthday rule. I've heard of it.

Agent James: That one only applies to dependent children, not to you or your wife as subscribers on your own plans.

Caller: So the dentist should bill ChoiceBuilder first for me.

Agent James: Correct. Then submit the remaining balance with our explanation of benefits to your wife's plan as secondary.

Caller: Will the second one cover the rest?

Agent James: Often most of it, but not always all. Secondary plans coordinate up to what they would have paid as primary, not up to the full balance. So you can still have a residual share.

Caller: Right. And do I need to tell you about the other coverage?

Agent James: Yes — that's important. If we don't have the other coverage recorded, claims can hold pending a coordination questionnaire. Let me record it now. Carrier and policy holder name?

Caller: Anthem, under my wife Elena Rivera.

Agent James: Recorded. That should prevent future holds.

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Mon 14 Sep 2026: Granting Portal Access to a New HR Assistant

Topics: termination · end of month · premium · offboarding

Agent Linda: Choice Administrators, this is Linda. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Earl Thomas, Payroll Manager at Summit Electronics, group GRP-220881.

Agent Linda: Got it, thanks Earl. What can I do for you?

Caller: You'll see I called on the 14th. That one about portal permissions is still open as far as I know. Today is something else. An employee resigned effective the 15th. If I drop him now do we still get billed for the full month?

Agent Linda: On ancillary through ChoiceBuilder, coverage runs to the end of the month in which the employee terminates. So his coverage ends the 30th and the full month's premium applies.

Caller: Even though he left on the 15th?

Agent Linda: Yes. Premium isn't prorated mid-month on these lines.

Caller: So there's no benefit to submitting it early.

Agent Linda: There's no premium benefit, but there is an administrative one — submitting promptly means his COBRA election notice goes out on time, which is a compliance requirement with a deadline attached.

Caller: What's the deadline?

Agent Linda: You need to notify the plan within 30 days of the qualifying event. The election notice then goes to him within 14 days of that notification.

Caller: So if I sit on it for six weeks I've missed a legal deadline.

Agent Linda: Correct, and that exposure sits with the employer, not with us. So submit it now even though the premium doesn't change.

Caller: That's a good reason. What do I need?

Agent Linda: Termination date and reason in the employer portal under Manage Employees. That's it — the COBRA notice generates automatically from the submission.

Caller: Good. I'll do it today. Thank you.

Agent Tiffany: Choice Administrators, Tiffany speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Doris Chen, Office Manager at Clearwater Staffing, group GRP-310092.

Agent Tiffany: That's you found. Go ahead, Doris.

Caller: I called on the 17th about renewal and nobody came back to me, so you should know I'm already on my second attempt.

Group We changed banks and I think our auto-draft failed. Are we suspended?

Agent Tiffany: Let me look... I see a failed payment on the 5th.

Caller: Is our coverage still active?

Agent Tiffany: It says active right now.

Caller: Right now. What does that mean going forward? When would it stop?

Agent Tiffany: There's usually a grace period.

Caller: How long is ours?

Agent Tiffany: It's normally 30 days I think.

Caller: You think. I need to know, because if employees go to the dentist next week I need to tell them whether they're covered.

Agent Tiffany: It should be fine for now.

Caller: Can you tell me the exact date coverage would lapse if we don't pay?

Agent Tiffany: I don't see a date on here.

Caller: How do I make the payment?

Agent Tiffany: You could update the bank details in the employer portal.

Caller: And that triggers a re-draft, or do I need to do something else?

Agent Tiffany: I'm not sure. Probably it would draft next cycle.

Caller: George Nakamura, HR Director at Willow Creek Services, group GRP-390044.

Agent Linda: Thank you George, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: Willow Creek, We're being billed for an employee who left in July. This is the second month.

Agent Linda: Let me look. I can see the employee, and I can see a termination submitted on August 22nd with a July 31st termination date.

Caller: So it was submitted.

Agent Linda: It was, but after the August invoice generated on the 15th. So August billed in full, and September should have picked up the credit.

Caller: September has him on it too.

Agent Linda: I see that. The termination is recorded but the credit hasn't applied. That's a processing issue on our side.

Caller: So what happens now?

Agent Linda: I'm submitting a billing correction requesting a two-month credit — August and September — back to the July 31st termination date.

Caller: How will it appear?

Agent Linda: As a credit line on your next invoice.

Caller: Our finance team would rather have a credit memo than a line item. It's cleaner for their reconciliation.

Agent Linda: I can note the preference on the request but I can't guarantee the format — that's determined by billing operations.

Caller: Can you find out and let me know?

Agent Linda: I'll add it to the request. Reference BC-2026-00733.

Caller: And if it doesn't apply again next month?

Agent Linda: Call back with that reference and it escalates.

Agent Brad: What's the issue?

Caller: My EOB says I owe $212 for a deep cleaning. The office told me before the appointment that it was covered.

Agent Brad: Periodontal scaling is basic, so it's 80/20. Twenty percent of $1,060 is $212.

Caller: The office quoted me nothing.

Agent Brad: That'd be between you and the office.

Caller: Before we go further — is this call being recorded?

Agent Brad: Uh. I believe so, yes.

Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 47/100. NEGATIVE: no call recording disclosure in the greeting (-), could not confirm the recording position when asked directly (-), gave a false explanation — the hold message — for a call that was not held (-), did not action the member's request for written confirmation (-), no case reference (-), deflected the provider quote issue without offering to review the pre-treatment estimate (-). POSITIVE: correct coinsurance calculation and category classification (+).

L4 — Operational BI: COMPLIANCE · HIGH · Owner: Compliance — call recording disclosure is not being made consistently at the point of answer, and agents cannot state the position when a member asks directly. California is a two-party consent state; a recorded call without disclosure is an exposure independent of anything else said on it. The agent's improvised answer about a hold message that did not play compounds it. Recommend: (1) disclosure scripted into the greeting and monitored as a scored item, (2) an agent-facing answer to 'am I being recorded' including the access request route, (3) a retrospective audit of calls answered without hold.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 0:05 — greeting completed with no recording disclosure detected. This is a scriptable, deterministic check and the strongest single case for real-time assist in this deployment. SHOULD ALSO HAVE FIRED at 3:20 — a member request for a copy of a recording is a subject access route that must not be answered improvised. No rule configured.

Call #77 — Adding a Newly Enrolled Dependent to the Portal View

Tue 22 Sep 2026 · 16:27:45 · AHT 4m 52s · ID Cards & Portal

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 75/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → SATISFIED | Agent: Nicole

Context: Michelle Torres, 34 · ChoiceBuilder dental · daughter added but not visible

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Mon 14 Sep 2026: Member Cannot Reach Broker and Cannot Get Answers Here Either

Topics: portal · dependent · visibility · enrollment lag

Agent Nicole: Choice Administrators, Nicole speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Michelle Torres, member ID CB-9904512.

Agent Nicole: That's you found. Go ahead, Michelle.

Caller: You'll see I called on the 14th. That one about broker unresponsive is still open as far as I know. Today is something else. I added my daughter to my dental last month but she's not showing in my portal.

Agent Nicole: Let me check the enrollment record. She's there — effective the 1st, on the Delta Dental PPO with you.

Caller: So why can't I see her?

Agent Nicole: Dependent visibility in the portal refreshes on a weekly cycle rather than in real time. Her enrollment posted on the 3rd, so she should appear after this weekend's refresh.

Caller: Is she covered in the meantime?

Agent Nicole: Yes. Coverage is active from the 1st regardless of what the portal displays. If she needs to be seen before the refresh, give the provider her name, date of birth, and your subscriber ID and they can verify directly with Delta.

Caller: Good. That's what I needed.

Agent Nicole: I'll also send you a digital card that includes her, so you have something in hand.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Portal dependent visibility. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: neutral → satisfied. Duration: 4 min. Root cause: weekly portal refresh cycle. Repeat contact — prior call in period closed unresolved.

L2 — Call insights: Newly enrolled dependent not visible in the member portal due to a weekly refresh cycle. Agent confirmed active coverage, explained the lag, gave a manual verification route, and sent a digital card. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 75/100. POSITIVE: confirmed coverage is active independent of portal display — the member's real concern (+), gave a workaround for immediate provider verification (+), sent a card unprompted (+). NEGATIVE: did not flag the refresh lag as a product issue (-), no note that the same lag will affect claims visibility (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Digital — a weekly portal refresh produces a predictable stream of 'my dependent isn't showing' calls in the days after enrollment. Recommend either real-time posting or an in-portal message stating when newly added dependents will appear. REPEAT CONTACT: same member (CB-9904512) called on Mon 14 Sep 2026 and that call closed unresolved. Repeat contact within the period is a retention signal in its own right and should be counted against the earlier call, not this one.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:00 — enrollment record versus portal sync status surfaced the refresh lag. Digital card action surfaced. Agent used both.

Call #78 — Employer Wants to Add Vision, Chiro and Life — Broker Has Gone Quiet

Wed 23 Sep 2026 · 10:48:00 · AHT 10m 40s · Employer: Renewal

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 89/100 | RESOLVED | UNCERTAIN → CONFIDENT | Agent: Danielle

Context: Park Interiors · 68 employees · HR Director Grant Park · GRP-294115

BROKER SIGNAL — Anthony Salerno: Unresponsive for a month while the employer tries to expand from one line to four.

Topics: multi-line package · vision · chiropractic · life · broker unresponsive

Agent Danielle: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Danielle. This call may be recorded for quality and training.

Caller: Grant Park, HR director at Park Interiors, group GRP-294115.

Agent Danielle: Thanks Grant. What are we looking at?

Caller: We have dental only. I want to add vision, chiropractic and life for 1 January. I've been trying to get our broker Anthony Salerno to put something together since the middle of August and I've had one reply, which was 'will do'.

Agent Danielle: I can take you through the structure so you at least know what you're asking for. Vision first — you have VSP or EyeMed. VSP has the larger independent optometrist network, EyeMed is stronger in retail chains. If your workforce is spread out, VSP usually wins on access.

Caller: We're across three sites, one of them fairly rural.

Agent Danielle: Then I'd look at VSP first and check density against your zip codes before you commit.

Caller: Chiropractic?

Agent Danielle: Landmark, and one thing to know now rather than in January — Landmark's network is California-focused. If any of your three sites is out of state, employees there will have very limited access. Do you have anyone outside California?

Caller: Six people in Reno.

Agent Danielle: Then chiro will look like a benefit those six can't use. It's still worth offering, but I'd tell them up front rather than have them find out at the first appointment.

Caller: That's useful. Nobody has mentioned that.

Agent Danielle: Life is Assurity, and the thing that catches employers out there is the guaranteed issue amount. Above it, employees complete medical evidence, and take-up drops sharply when they hit a questionnaire.

Caller: So keep the default at or below guaranteed issue.

Agent Danielle: That's what I'd do for a first year. On participation — vision and chiro voluntary carry a 25% minimum, life carries its own. At 68 lives you need to plan the communication, not just the plan design.

Caller: This is the conversation I've been trying to have for a month.

Agent Danielle: I'll email you a written summary of all four lines with the carriers, the participation minimums and the Nevada caveat, reference PK-2026-00931. I'm also logging that the agency has been unresponsive on an active expansion, because that should not be how you get this information.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Multi-line expansion enquiry. Caller: EMPLOYER. Tone: uncertain → confident. Agent tone: consultative, specific. Duration: 11 min. Broker unresponsiveness named aloud on an active revenue opportunity.

L2 — Call insights: Employer sought to expand from dental only to a four-line package after a month of broker non-response. Agent covered carrier selection for vision, surfaced the Landmark California network limitation against six out-of-state employees unprompted, advised on the Assurity guaranteed issue threshold, stated participation minimums, issued a written summary with a reference and logged the broker non-response. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 89/100. POSITIVE: gave carrier-level guidance rather than generic reassurance (+), surfaced the Nevada network gap before it became a January complaint (+), explained guaranteed issue and its effect on take-up (+), stated participation minimums unprompted (+), issued a written summary with a reference (+), logged broker non-response on an active expansion (+). NEGATIVE: did not hand the opportunity to account management despite an in-year four-line expansion (-), did not run the VSP zip-code density check on the call after raising it (-).

L4 — Operational BI: REVENUE OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Account Management — a 68-life group is trying to triple its lines and cannot get its broker to respond. This is an unclaimed in-year expansion sitting in the member services queue with no route to sales. BROKER RELATIONS: second unresponsiveness signal against this agency in the period, now on revenue rather than service. Recommend: (1) an expansion-intent flag that routes to account management the same day, (2) broker unresponsiveness on revenue-bearing calls escalated separately from service complaints.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 4:00 — network density lookup returned Landmark's California concentration against the group's Nevada population. Agent used it. Did not surface the VSP zip-code density report, which exists. Worth wiring to the same trigger.

Call #79 — Adding a Line at Renewal Rather Than Mid-Year

Wed 23 Sep 2026 · 14:06:30 · AHT 6m 43s · Employer: Renewal

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 76/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → INFORMED | Agent: Michael

Context: Hillside Tech · 90 employees · HR Generalist David Kim · GRP-188500

Topics: line addition · renewal · chiropractic · participation

Agent Michael: Choice Administrators, Michael speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: David Kim, HR Generalist at Hillside Tech, group GRP-188500.

Agent Michael: Got it, thanks David. What can I do for you?

Caller: Employees have been asking for chiropractic. Can we add it now or wait for renewal?

Agent Michael: You can add a line mid-year — ChoiceBuilder allows it, unlike medical. But there are reasons to consider timing.

Caller: Go on.

Agent Michael: If you add mid-year, the new line runs to your existing renewal date rather than a full twelve months. So adding in October with a January renewal gives employees three months before they re-elect.

Caller: That seems disruptive.

Agent Michael: It can be. It also means employees enroll twice in quick succession, which affects take-up — people who join in October may not re-elect in January simply through fatigue.

Caller: So better to fold it into the renewal.

Agent Michael: For a benefit that isn't urgent, generally yes. You get a full plan year, one enrollment communication, and cleaner participation measurement.

Caller: And if employees are asking now?

Agent Michael: Tell them it's coming at renewal. That's a positive message and it builds anticipation, which usually improves take-up when it launches.

Caller: That's a better answer than I expected. What do I need to do?

Agent Michael: Raise it with your broker before the renewal lock date so it's included on the worksheet. Chiropractic through Landmark is quotable alongside your existing lines.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Mid-year line addition versus renewal timing. Caller: EMPLOYER (David Kim, GRP-188500). Tone: neutral → informed. Duration: 7 min.

L2 — Call insights: Employer considering adding chiropractic mid-year. Agent confirmed it is possible, explained the short first plan year and double-enrollment fatigue effect, and recommended folding it into renewal for better take-up and cleaner participation. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 76/100. POSITIVE: gave a genuine recommendation rather than only stating what is permitted (+), explained the enrollment fatigue effect on take-up (+), gave the employer a positive message for staff in the interim (+), pointed to the lock date (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer to flag the renewal interest on the group record (-), no broker named (-), no reference number (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Account Management — employer interest in adding a line is a growth signal that is currently only captured if the broker acts on it. Recommend logging line-addition interest on the group record and surfacing it to account management ahead of renewal.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — line addition inquiry surfaced mid-year rules and renewal date alignment. Take-up guidance was agent-supplied; worth codifying.

Call #80 — Adding a Second Location to an Existing Group

Wed 23 Sep 2026 · 15:04:30 · AHT 6m 41s · Employer: Enrollment

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 74/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → INFORMED | Agent: Tony

Context: Northgate Logistics · 58 to 79 employees · HR Manager Elena Vasquez · GRP-441002

Topics: group expansion · new location · eligibility · mid-year addition

Agent Tony: Choice Administrators, this is Tony. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Elena Vasquez, HR Manager at Northgate Logistics, group GRP-441002.

Agent Tony: Got it, thanks Elena. What can I do for you?

Caller: We're opening a second site with 21 employees. Do they join the existing group or is it a separate one?

Agent Tony: If it's the same legal entity and the same EIN, they join the existing group as additional employees. Different EIN would need either a separate group or a common ownership arrangement.

Caller: Same entity, same EIN.

Agent Tony: Then it's straightforward — enroll them as new hires under the existing group. Each serves the standard waiting period from their hire date.

Caller: They're transfers, not new hires. Several have been with us for years.

Agent Tony: That changes it usefully. Existing employees moving between locations retain their eligibility, so no new waiting period. They'd only need enrollment if they weren't previously enrolled.

Caller: About half were enrolled at the old site, half weren't.

Agent Tony: The enrolled half continue uninterrupted. The unenrolled half are only eligible to join at open enrollment or on a qualifying event — a location change isn't a QLE on its own.

Caller: So they wait until January.

Agent Tony: Unless one of them has a separate qualifying event. Worth telling them now so they're ready.

Caller: And does the group size change affect rates?

Agent Tony: Going from 58 to 79 keeps you in the same rating band, so no mid-year rate change. It could affect your renewal if the demographic mix shifts.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Group expansion — second location. Caller: EMPLOYER (Elena Vasquez, GRP-441002). Tone: neutral → informed. Duration: 7 min.

L2 — Call insights: Employer adding a 21-employee second site. Agent confirmed same-EIN employees join the existing group, distinguished transfers from new hires for waiting period purposes, clarified that a location change is not a QLE for previously unenrolled staff, and confirmed no mid-year rate impact. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 74/100. POSITIVE: asked about the legal entity before answering (+), corrected course usefully when transfers were clarified (+), was clear that a location change is not a QLE (+), addressed the rating band question (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer to send a summary for the transferring employees (-), no reference number (-), did not flag the group for a renewal demographic review (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Account Management — group headcount changes of 30%+ mid-year are a renewal risk signal and a growth opportunity. Recommend flagging significant enrollment changes for account review rather than processing them silently.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — group expansion inquiry surfaced EIN rules, waiting period treatment for transfers, and rating band thresholds. Agent used all three.

Call #81 — Reduction in Force — Terminating Twelve at Once

Wed 23 Sep 2026 · 15:42:45 · AHT 7m 03s · Employer: Terminations

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 78/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → SATISFIED | Agent: Nicole

Context: Riverside Trades · 44 employees · Bookkeeper Alan Petrov · GRP-471330

Topics: reduction in force · bulk termination · COBRA · participation

Agent Nicole: Choice Administrators, Nicole speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Alan Petrov, Bookkeeper at Riverside Trades, group GRP-471330.

Agent Nicole: Thank you Alan, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: We're making twelve people redundant at the end of the month. What do I need to know?

Agent Nicole: Three things. First, the terminations themselves — you can submit them in bulk through the portal rather than individually, which saves considerable time on twelve.

Caller: Good.

Agent Nicole: Second, COBRA. Twelve simultaneous qualifying events means twelve election notices, all with the same deadline. Submit promptly so notices generate on time.

Caller: Understood.

Agent Nicole: Third, and this one people miss — participation. You're going from 44 to 32 employees. On voluntary lines your participation is measured as a percentage of eligible employees, so losing twelve enrolled members could move you materially.

Caller: Would we fall below?

Agent Nicole: Let me check your current enrollment... you have 28 enrolled of 44 eligible, so 64%. If all twelve leavers were enrolled, you'd drop to 16 of 32, which is 50%. Still comfortably above the 25% minimum.

Caller: That's a relief.

Agent Nicole: It is, but worth knowing the calculation for future reference. Groups closer to the line can fail participation through redundancies without realising.

Caller: Is there anything else I should tell the affected employees?

Agent Nicole: That coverage runs to the end of the month, that they'll receive a COBRA notice, and that life coverage converts on a separate and shorter 31-day deadline. That last one gets missed constantly.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Reduction in force — bulk termination. Caller: EMPLOYER (Alan Petrov, GRP-471330). Tone: neutral → satisfied. Duration: 7 min.

L2 — Call insights: Employer processing twelve simultaneous redundancies. Agent covered bulk submission, COBRA notice volume and timing, and ran the participation calculation before and after, confirming the group stays above minimum. Flagged the separate 31-day life conversion deadline for affected employees. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 78/100. POSITIVE: raised participation impact unprompted and calculated it (+), pointed out bulk submission to save time (+), flagged the life conversion deadline as commonly missed (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer a written employee communication template for the affected staff (-), no reference number (-), did not flag the group for account management given a 27% headcount reduction (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Account Management — bulk terminations are a leading indicator of group financial stress and a participation risk. Recommend an automatic account review trigger on any termination batch above 10% of group headcount.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 3:00 — bulk termination surfaced participation calculation before and after, and COBRA notice generation. Employee communication template not available; recommend creating.

Call #82 — Employee on Unpaid Leave — Does Coverage Continue

Wed 23 Sep 2026 · 16:54:15 · AHT 7m 02s · Employer: Terminations

EMPLOYER | AVERAGE · 77/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → SATISFIED | Agent: James

Context: Meridian Staffing · 66 employees · HR Business Partner Karen Diaz · GRP-462201

Topics: leave of absence · unpaid leave · continuation · eligibility

Agent James: Choice Administrators member services, this is James. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Karen Diaz, HR Business Partner at Meridian Staffing, group GRP-462201.

Agent James: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: We have an employee going on three months unpaid leave. Does his dental and vision continue?

Agent James: That depends on your group's leave policy as recorded with us. Let me check... your group is set to continue coverage during approved unpaid leave for up to 12 weeks, provided premium continues to be paid.

Caller: Who pays it while he's not on payroll?

Agent James: That's the practical issue. There's no payroll to deduct from, so the employer either fronts the employee share and recovers it on return, or collects directly from the employee during the leave.

Caller: Which do most groups do?

Agent James: Direct collection is more common for voluntary lines, because fronting several months of premium and recovering it creates its own problems if the employee doesn't return.

Caller: And if we don't collect and don't front?

Agent James: Coverage lapses for non-payment and he'd need to re-enroll on return, potentially re-serving any waiting period. That's the outcome to avoid.

Caller: Definitely. So we should agree collection arrangements with him before he goes.

Agent James: In writing, ideally. It avoids a dispute later about who owed what.

Caller: And if the leave runs past 12 weeks?

Agent James: Beyond 12 weeks coverage terminates and COBRA applies from that point. Worth diarising the date now.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Coverage during unpaid leave. Caller: EMPLOYER (Karen Diaz, GRP-462201). Tone: neutral → satisfied. Duration: 7 min.

L2 — Call insights: Employer asked whether coverage continues during a three-month unpaid leave. Agent confirmed the group's 12-week continuation provision, explained premium collection options, warned about lapse and waiting period re-service, and flagged the COBRA trigger beyond 12 weeks. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 77/100. POSITIVE: retrieved the group's specific leave provision (+), addressed the practical premium collection problem rather than only the policy (+), warned about waiting period re-service on lapse (+), flagged the 12-week COBRA boundary (+). NEGATIVE: did not offer a written summary for the employee agreement (-), no reference number (-), did not offer to diarise the 12-week date on the group record (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS OPPORTUNITY · Owner: Operations — leave-of-absence premium collection is a recurring source of unintended lapses. Recommend a standard employer leave guide and an automated alert at week 10 of any recorded leave.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:30 — leave inquiry surfaced the group's continuation provision and COBRA boundary. Premium collection guidance was agent-supplied.

Call #83 — Employer Charged for a Line They Never Elected

Thu 24 Sep 2026 · 08:55:15 · AHT 9m 42s · Employer: Billing

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 90/100 | RESOLVED | ANGRY → SATISFIED | Agent: Priya

Context: Summit Electronics · 63 employees · Payroll Manager Earl Thomas · GRP-220881

Agent Priya: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Priya. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Earl Thomas, Payroll Manager at Summit Electronics, group GRP-220881.

Agent Priya: That's you found. Go ahead, Earl.

Caller: There's a chiropractic line on our invoice. We never elected chiropractic.

Agent Priya: Let me check your group's elected lines against what's billing. Your renewal worksheet shows dental and vision elected. Chiropractic is not on it.

Caller: So why are we being billed?

Agent Priya: The chiropractic line was added to the group in June. I can see the addition but no corresponding election on file.

Caller: Nobody here authorised it.

Agent Priya: Then it appears to have been added in error. How much has been billed?

Caller: About $290 a month since June, so five months.

Agent Priya: Roughly $1,450. Let me check something before I process the credit — have any employees actually used the chiropractic benefit?

Caller: I've no idea.

Agent Priya: Checking... two claims, both in September, totalling $180 paid. That complicates it slightly but not much. I'll request removal of the line back to June with full premium credit, and flag the two claims for separate handling so those members aren't pursued.

Caller: I appreciate you thinking of that. They'd have used it in good faith.

Agent Priya: Exactly. They saw a benefit on their card and used it. That's not their error. Reference LC-2026-00822.

Caller: How did this happen?

Agent Priya: I don't have the answer yet. I'm flagging it for investigation, because a line added without an election suggests either a submission error or a data issue that could affect other groups.

L2 — Call insights: Chiropractic line added to a group with no election on file, billing $290 monthly for five months. Agent confirmed no election, requested removal with approximately $1,450 credit, protected two members who had used the benefit in good faith, and escalated for investigation into how the line was added. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 90/100. POSITIVE: compared billing against the signed election rather than assuming (+), checked for member utilisation before processing removal (+), protected the two members from clawback proactively (+), escalated the root cause rather than only fixing the symptom (+), was honest that the cause is unknown (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · CRITICAL · Owner: Operations — a benefit line was added to a group with no election on file. If this is systemic it affects billing integrity across the book. Agent Linda: Updated. One thing to know — your employer also holds an address for you, and payroll and eligibility feeds can overwrite what I've just entered.

Caller: So I should tell HR as well.

Agent Linda: Yes, otherwise it may revert at the next eligibility file. Tell them this week and it'll hold.

Caller: Good to know. Does the move affect my coverage?

Agent Linda: Within California, no — your plan and carriers are unchanged. If you'd moved out of state I'd have flagged network access, particularly on chiropractic.

Caller: Still in California.

Agent Linda: Then you're fine. I'd suggest checking that your dentist and optometrist are still convenient — same network, but a different part of the state means different in-network options nearby.

Topics: coinsurance · major services · crown · cost share · MetLife

Agent Sarah: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Sarah. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Marcus Bell, member ID CB-8819204.

Agent Sarah: Thanks Marcus. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: Sarah, my dentist says I need a crown and that I'll owe twenty percent — about $340. I have dental insurance. Why am I paying anything, let alone $340?

Agent Sarah: Let me pull your plan and walk you through exactly where that number comes from, because it should never be a surprise. You're on the MetLife Dental PPO through ChoiceBuilder.

Caller: Okay.

Agent Sarah: Your plan pays at three different levels depending on the type of work. Preventive — cleanings, exams, routine x-rays — is covered at 100%. Basic work like fillings is covered at 80%, so you pay 20%. Major work, which is where crowns sit, is covered at 50%.

Caller: So a crown is fifty percent, not eighty?

Agent Sarah: On most of our plans, yes. But your dentist quoted 20%, which suggests he's treating it as basic. Let me check your specific plan tier... you're on the Platinum PPO. On Platinum, crowns are covered at 80%, so 20% is correct for you.

Caller: So he's right.

Agent Sarah: He is. And that's a better outcome than most tiers would give you.

Caller: Alright. But is there a cap? What if I need more work this year?

Agent Sarah: Good question and important. Your annual maximum is $2,100. That's the most the plan pays toward your dental care in a calendar year. Once you cross it, you pay full cost. You've used $180 so far, so the crown will bring you to roughly $1,540 used.

Caller: So I have room.

Agent Sarah: You do. But if you're planning anything else this year, it's worth sequencing it — if you're close to the maximum in December, waiting until January resets it.

Caller: Nobody's ever explained that to me. That's genuinely useful.

Agent Sarah: It's the thing that catches people out most. I'm emailing you a one-page summary of your coverage levels and your remaining annual maximum so you have it when you talk to the dentist.

Caller: Please. Thank you, Sarah.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 95/100. POSITIVE: explained preventive/basic/major structure clearly (+), verified the member's specific tier rather than answering generically (+), confirmed the provider's quote was accurate rather than casting doubt (+), surfaced the annual maximum unprompted (+), gave year-end sequencing advice (+), emailed a written summary (+).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — coinsurance tiering (100/80/50) and the annual maximum are the two least-understood features of ancillary dental. Recommend a coverage-level card issued at enrollment showing the member's own percentages and annual maximum, not a generic plan document. OPPORTUNITY: annual maximum utilisation is not visible to members in the portal — surfacing a running total would reduce this call type and improve benefit utilisation.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 3:00 — plan tier lookup returned Platinum PPO coverage levels and live annual-maximum accumulator ($180 of $2,100 used). Agent used both.

Call #86 — Member Asks If Coverage Continues After Reducing Hours

Thu 24 Sep 2026 · 11:16:00 · AHT 3m 55s · Cost Share & Policy

MEMBER | POOR · 36/100 | UNRESOLVED | WORRIED → ABANDONED | Agent: Brad

Context: Harold Winters, 58 · ChoiceBuilder dental, vision, life · going part-time

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Tue 15 Sep 2026: Member Asks Which Carrier They Have and Cannot Get an Answer

Topics: eligibility · hours reduction · coverage continuation · part-time

Agent Brad: Choice Administrators, Brad. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Harold Winters, member ID CB-2214408.

Agent Brad: Thank you Harold, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: Second time calling in a fortnight. The 15th call about carrier identification went nowhere. I'm going from full-time to twenty hours a week next month. Do I keep my dental and vision?

Agent Brad: That depends on your employer's eligibility rules.

Caller: What are they?

Agent Brad: I'd have to check. Most groups require thirty hours.

Caller: Can you check mine specifically?

Agent Brad: It's set at the group level. Your HR would know.

Caller: You administer the plan though. Doesn't the eligibility rule sit in your system?

Agent Brad: It's more of an employer thing.

Caller: So you can't tell me whether I'll have dental insurance in a month.

Agent Brad: Not really, no. Ask HR.

Caller: And if I lose it, is there anything I can do?

Agent Brad: There might be COBRA. HR would set that up.

Caller: Alright.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Eligibility inquiry — hours reduction. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: worried → abandoned. Agent tone: deflecting. Duration: 4 min. Repeat contact — prior call in period closed unresolved.

L2 — Call insights: Member reducing to 20 hours asked whether coverage continues. Agent did not retrieve the group's eligibility threshold, did not confirm whether the reduction triggers a loss of coverage, and gave a vague COBRA reference. Resolution: UNRESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 36/100. NEGATIVE: group eligibility rules are held in the administration system and were not retrieved (-), stated 'most groups require thirty hours' as a guess rather than checking (-), did not explain that hours reduction is a qualifying event for continuation (-), no case opened, no callback (-). POSITIVE: correctly identified COBRA as relevant, though without detail (+).

L4 — Operational BI: AGENT KNOWLEDGE GAP · Owner: Call Centre Management — group eligibility thresholds are visible in the platform and agents are treating them as employer-only information. PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations — hours reduction is a predictable coverage-loss trigger and should route to a continuation conversation, not a referral to HR. REPEAT CONTACT: same member (CB-2214408) called on Tue 15 Sep 2026 and that call closed unresolved. Repeat contact within the period is a retention signal in its own right and should be counted against the earlier call, not this one.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 0:45 — hours reduction below a group eligibility threshold is a coverage-loss trigger. Should have surfaced the group's minimum hours rule, the projected loss date, and continuation options. No rule configured.

Call #87 — Employer Never Authorised a Broker of Record Change

Thu 24 Sep 2026 · 11:33:15 · AHT 10m 35s · Broker Conduct

EMPLOYER | GOOD · 88/100 | ESCALATED | ALARMED → REASSURED | Agent: Sarah

Context: Vasquez Metal Works · 91 employees · CFO Rita Vasquez · GRP-302940

BROKER SIGNAL — Denise Whitfield: Named as the incoming agency on a broker of record change the employer states it never authorised.

Topics: broker of record · unauthorised change · signature dispute · escalation

Agent Sarah: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Sarah. This call may be recorded for quality and training.

Caller: Rita Vasquez, CFO at Vasquez Metal Works, group GRP-302940.

Agent Sarah: Thanks Rita. How can I help?

Caller: We got a letter confirming a change of broker of record to an agency called Whitfield Benefits. We have never spoken to them. We did not sign anything.

Agent Sarah: That is serious and I want to be careful with it. Let me look at the record rather than tell you what usually happens... I can see a broker of record change processed on 11 September, incoming agency Denise Whitfield, effective 1 October.

Caller: On what basis?

Agent Sarah: There is a signed BOR letter on file. I can see it exists. I am not going to characterise the signature on it, because that is not a judgement I should be making on a phone call.

Caller: Whose name is on it?

Agent Sarah: It reads as a signature for the group. I'd rather send you the document than describe it to you.

Caller: Please. Because nobody here signed that.

Agent Sarah: Here is what I'm doing. First, I'm placing a hold on the change so 1 October does not pass with it in effect. Second, I'm raising this as a contested broker of record with Broker Relations as a disputed change, not a query — that means it goes to a named owner today, not into a queue. Third, I'm emailing you the BOR document on file so you can see exactly what was submitted.

Caller: Does the hold stop it?

Agent Sarah: It suspends the effective date while it's contested. Your existing broker stays in place in the meantime.

Caller: And if the signature isn't ours?

Agent Sarah: Then it stops being a broker dispute and becomes something else, and it goes to Compliance rather than to me. I want to be straight with you that I can start that but I can't finish it.

Caller: That's the right answer. Thank you.

Agent Sarah: Your reference is BOR-2026-00214. You'll have the document within the hour and a named contact by end of day.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Contested broker of record change. Caller: EMPLOYER. Tone: alarmed → reassured. Agent tone: careful, procedural, honest about limits. Duration: 11 min. Escalated to Broker Relations with a Compliance path flagged.

L2 — Call insights: Employer received confirmation of a broker of record change to an agency it states it has never engaged. Agent located the change and the signed BOR letter on file, declined to characterise the signature, placed a hold suspending the 1 October effective date, escalated as a contested change to a named owner, flagged the Compliance route if the signature is disputed, and issued the document and a reference. Resolution: ESCALATED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 88/100. POSITIVE: checked the record before generalising (+), refused to make a signature judgement outside her authority and said so plainly (+), suspended the effective date rather than letting the clock run during the dispute (+), escalated to a named owner with a same-day commitment (+), named the Compliance path honestly including her own limits (+), sent the underlying document rather than describing it (+). NEGATIVE: did not confirm whether the outgoing broker had been notified of the contested status (-), did not ask whether the group had received any prior contact from the incoming agency, which would be material (-).

L4 — Operational BI: BROKER CONDUCT · CRITICAL · Owner: Broker Relations — a broker of record change was processed on a signature the group states it did not give. Third distinct execution and disclosure signal against this agency in the corpus period. The process failure is that a BOR letter is accepted and effected with no verification step against the group, so the group learns of the change from the confirmation letter. Recommend: (1) group-side confirmation required before a BOR change takes effect, (2) contested changes automatically suspend the effective date, (3) a defined handoff to Compliance where the signature itself is disputed. COMPLIANCE: potential document fraud — do not close within Broker Relations.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:00 — BOR change record and document retrieved on the group ID. Agent used both. Fired at 6:30 — contested BOR pattern surfaced the hold action and the Broker Relations escalation route. Agent used both. This is the corpus's clearest example of assist working as designed.

Call #88 — Claim Denied for Missing Tooth Clause

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 72/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: Nicole

Context: Elena Petrova, 40 · Member ID CB-5548207 · Ameritas dental · bridge denied

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Wed 09 Sep 2026: Claim Pending for Six Weeks — Agent Cannot Say Why

Topics: missing tooth clause · exclusion · bridge · pre-existing

Agent Nicole: Choice Administrators, Nicole speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Elena Petrova, member ID CB-5548207.

Agent Nicole: That's you found. Go ahead, Elena.

Caller: This is my second call this month. The pending claim issue on the 9th was never sorted. Separate thing today. My bridge was denied and the reason says missing tooth clause. What does that mean?

Agent Nicole: It means the plan doesn't cover replacement of a tooth that was already missing before your coverage started. Was the tooth extracted before you enrolled?

Caller: Years ago.

Agent Nicole: Then that's the basis. The clause excludes prosthetic replacement of teeth lost prior to coverage.

Caller: That seems harsh. I've been paying for two years.

Agent Nicole: It's a common clause on ancillary dental and it's designed to prevent people enrolling specifically to fund existing work. I understand it doesn't feel that way when you've held the plan for two years.

Caller: Does it ever expire?

Agent Nicole: On some plans the clause lapses after a set period of continuous coverage — often five years. Let me check yours... your plan does have a lapse provision at 60 months of continuous coverage.

Caller: So in three more years it would be covered.

Agent Nicole: If you maintain continuous coverage, yes. That's worth knowing before you consider dropping the plan.

Caller: It genuinely is. I was thinking about it.

Agent Nicole: Then the clock matters. Any break in coverage would reset it.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Missing tooth clause denial. Caller: MEMBER (Elena Petrova, CB-5548207). Tone: confused → informed. Duration: 6 min. ■ Latent churn risk addressed. Repeat contact — prior call in period closed unresolved.

L2 — Call insights: Bridge denied under the missing tooth clause for a tooth lost before coverage. Agent explained the clause and its purpose, then identified a 60-month continuous-coverage lapse provision that would make the work eligible in three years. Resolution: RESOLVED — retention argument surfaced.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 72/100. POSITIVE: explained the clause and its rationale without being defensive (+), checked for and found the lapse provision (+), connected continuous coverage to future eligibility, which is a genuine retention argument (+), warned that a break resets the clock (+). NEGATIVE: no empathy expressed early (-), did not offer a written summary of the lapse date (-), no reference number (-).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — the missing tooth clause is rarely explained at enrollment and produces denials that feel arbitrary years later. Recommend disclosing it at enrollment alongside the continuous-coverage lapse date, which doubles as a retention message. Call #89 — Vision Added in July, No ID Card in September

Fri 25 Sep 2026 · 16:02:00 · AHT 5m 35s · ID Cards & Portal

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 75/100 | RESOLVED | IRRITATED → SATISFIED | Agent: Tony

Context: Denise Achebe, 34 · Member ID CB-7748119 · VSP vision added mid-year · no card issued

BROKER SIGNAL — Patricia Nunez: Positive signal — member arrived with an accurate written summary of what her employer had added and when.

Topics: mid-year line addition · ID card · VSP · eligibility gap

Agent Tony: Choice Administrators, Tony speaking. This call may be recorded for quality and training.

Caller: Denise Achebe, member ID CB-7748119.

Agent Tony: Thanks. What can I do?

Caller: My employer added vision in July. Our broker Patricia Nunez sent everyone a one-page summary saying it was effective 1 July and that VSP cards would follow. It's the end of September and I have no card. I've got an eye appointment on Monday.

Agent Tony: Let me check eligibility first, because that matters more than the card. You're showing as active on VSP from 1 July.

Caller: So I am covered.

Agent Tony: You are. The card is a convenience, not the coverage. Mid-year line additions don't always trigger a card run — the card production job picks up new enrollments, and an added line on an existing member sometimes falls between the two.

Caller: So I'd never have got one.

Agent Tony: Possibly not without this call, no.

Caller: What do I do about Monday?

Agent Tony: Two things. I'm sending you a digital card now — it'll be in your email in a few minutes and you can show it on your phone, that's what most VSP providers prefer anyway. And I'm requesting a physical card, which is about ten days.

Caller: And if the optometrist can't find me?

Agent Tony: Ask them to search VSP with the subscriber ID on the digital card, not ChoiceBuilder. That's the single most common reason a provider can't locate someone here.

Caller: Good to know. Thank you.

Agent Tony: Digital card is sent.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: ID card not issued after mid-year line addition. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: irritated → satisfied. Agent tone: efficient, reassuring. Duration: 6 min. Positive broker signal named aloud. Care scheduled in three days.

L2 — Call insights: Member had vision coverage added mid-year and never received a card. Agent confirmed active eligibility from the effective date, explained that mid-year line additions can miss the card production run, sent a digital card on the call, requested a physical card and pre-empted the provider lookup failure. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 75/100. POSITIVE: checked eligibility before addressing the card, and said why that ordering mattered (+), gave an honest explanation of the production gap rather than blaming a postal delay (+), sent the digital card during the call (+), pre-empted the carrier-versus-ChoiceBuilder lookup problem ahead of Monday's appointment (+). NEGATIVE: did not check whether other members on the same group addition are missing cards (-), no case reference (-), did not confirm the member received the email before closing (-).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · Owner: Operations / Digital — the ID card production run keys on new member enrollment, not on new line enrollment, so members who gain a line mid-year receive no card. The failure is silent on both sides: the member assumes post, and no exception is raised. Recommend: (1) card production triggered by line-level eligibility change, (2) an exception report for members active on a line with no card issued, (3) digital card sent automatically on any eligibility change. BROKER RELATIONS: positive signal — the member arrived with an accurate written summary from her broker and knew her own effective date, which shortened the call materially.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:00 — eligibility lookup returned active VSP coverage from 1 July. Agent used it. Fired at 3:30 — digital card send action surfaced and was used. Did not surface the group-level exception check for other members missing cards on the same addition.

Call #90 — Adult Orthodontia — Member Wants to Know Before Committing

Mon 28 Sep 2026 · 09:29:30 · AHT 9m 29s · Cost Share & Policy

MEMBER | GOOD · 92/100 | RESOLVED | FRUSTRATED → SATISFIED | Agent: Carlos

Context: Ibrahim Nasser, 34 · MetLife dental · quoted $6,400 for adult braces

Topics: orthodontia · lifetime maximum · pre-treatment estimate · dental

Caller: Ibrahim Nasser, member ID CB-4416628.

Agent Carlos: Got it, thanks Ibrahim. What can I do for you?

Caller: I've been quoted $6,400 for adult braces and I want to know what my plan actually covers before I sign anything.

Agent Carlos: Smart to check first — orthodontia is the benefit most likely to differ from what people expect. Let me pull your plan. You're on the MetLife Dental PPO with the orthodontia rider.

Caller: So it is covered.

Agent Carlos: It is, but with two limits that matter. Adult orthodontia is covered at 50%, and there is a separate lifetime maximum of $1,500 — not annual, lifetime, and it sits outside your regular annual maximum.

Caller: So on $6,400 the plan pays $1,500 and not $3,200.

Agent Carlos: Correct. The 50% applies until you reach $1,500, then the plan stops.

Caller: That's a significant difference.

Agent Carlos: It is, and it's worth knowing now rather than eighteen months in. Two other things. Orthodontia benefits are usually paid over the course of treatment, not upfront — typically an initial payment then quarterly instalments while active treatment continues.

Caller: What happens if I change jobs mid-treatment?

Agent Carlos: The remaining instalments stop when coverage ends. That's the risk with a multi-year treatment plan on employer-sponsored ancillary.

Caller: Good to know.

Agent Carlos: One more thing that will help you. Ask your orthodontist to submit a pre-treatment estimate before you start. We'll return a written statement of exactly what the plan will pay and when. It's not a guarantee but it's close, and it means no surprises.

Caller: I didn't know that existed. I'll ask for it.

Agent Carlos: Reference PT-2026-00931 if they need one. And I'm emailing you the orthodontia benefit summary.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Coverage inquiry — adult orthodontia. Caller: MEMBER. Tone: frustrated → satisfied. Agent tone: thorough, protective. Duration: 9 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member evaluating $6,400 orthodontia quoted. Agent confirmed 50% coverage subject to a separate $1,500 lifetime maximum, explained instalment payment structure and the risk of coverage ending mid-treatment, and directed the member to obtain a pre-treatment estimate. POSITIVE: corrected the member's assumption before he committed financially (+), distinguished lifetime from annual maximum (+), explained instalment payment mechanics (+), flagged job-change risk on multi-year treatment unprompted (+), surfaced pre-treatment estimate (+), emailed summary with reference (+).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — orthodontia lifetime maximums are consistently misunderstood as annual, and members commit to multi-year treatment on that basis. Topics: frequency limit · cleanings · periodontal · dental Agent Tony: Choice Administrators, this is Tony. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Nadia Haddad, member ID CB-5540118.

Agent Tony: Got it, thanks Nadia. What can I do for you?

Caller: Before I start — I rang on the 2nd about annual maximum and got nowhere, so forgive me if I sound short. My dentist recommends cleanings every four months because of gum issues. The third one this year was denied.

Agent Tony: Your plan covers two routine cleanings per calendar year. The third falls outside that.

Caller: But it's clinically recommended, not cosmetic.

Agent Tony: I understand. There is a distinction worth checking though. Routine cleaning is one code — prophylaxis. Periodontal maintenance is a different code entirely, and on many plans it has its own frequency allowance, often three or four per year.

Caller: So it depends what the dentist billed it as.

Agent Tony: Exactly. Let me look at the submitted code... it was billed as a routine prophylaxis, not periodontal maintenance.

Caller: I've had scaling and root planing done. I'm on periodontal maintenance.

Agent Tony: Then the code may be wrong. If you've had active periodontal treatment, your dentist can bill maintenance instead, which draws on a separate allowance.

Caller: So the denial might be a coding issue rather than a coverage issue.

Agent Tony: It may be. Ask the office to review whether periodontal maintenance is the appropriate code and resubmit if so. If they resubmit correctly it should process.

Caller: That's useful. Nobody suggested that.

Agent Tony: Worth checking before you pay it.

Agent Sarah: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Sarah. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and group number?

Caller: Victor Salinas, HR Manager at Bayside Restaurant Group, group GRP-402210.

Agent Sarah: Thanks Victor. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: HR at Bayside Restaurant Group, group number Our invoice went up $1,840 this month and I cannot work out why. Nothing changed on our end that I know of.

Agent Sarah: Let me pull the invoice and compare it line by line against last month. Give me a moment.

Caller: Thank you. The consolidated bill is useful but when something moves I can't see what.

Agent Sarah: That's a fair criticism and it's the trade-off of consolidation. Okay — I have both months. Three things moved. First, four new enrollments effective the 1st: two dental only, two dental and vision. That's $612.

Caller: Those would be our new hires. That's expected.

Agent Sarah: Second, a tier change — one employee moved from employee-only to employee-plus-family on dental and vision after a qualifying event. That's $284.

Caller: Also expected.

Agent Sarah: Third, and this is the one you're looking for: a retroactive adjustment of $944 covering two employees whose coverage was backdated to July following a late life-event submission.

Caller: So we're paying two months for those two.

Agent Sarah: Two months of retro plus the current month, yes. It's a one-time catch-up — next month those two return to a single month's premium and your invoice drops by roughly $630.

Caller: That's the piece I couldn't see. Is there a way to see retro adjustments separately?

Agent Sarah: There is — the itemised detail report shows adjustments broken out from current-month premium. It isn't on by default. I can switch it on for your group now.

Caller: Please do.

Agent Sarah: Done. From next cycle your bill will carry a separate adjustments section. I'm also emailing you a reconciliation of this month showing all three movements against last month.

Caller: That's exactly what I needed. Thank you.

Caller: Tanya Brooks, HR Coordinator at Pacific Dental Partners, group GRP-420015.

Agent Michael: Thank you. I have the record open — go ahead.

Caller: Group I have a new hire starting the 12th and I need to know when her ancillary coverage starts.

Agent Michael: Let me check your group's waiting period settings. Your group is set to first of the month following 30 days.

Caller: So if she starts the 12th of September?

Agent Michael: Thirty days from the 12th is October 12th. First of the month following that is November 1st.

Caller: November? That feels like a long time.

Agent Michael: It's the most common configuration but it does produce a long runway for anyone hired mid-month. Groups sometimes switch to first of the month following date of hire, which for her would be October 1st.

Caller: Can we change that?

Agent Michael: Not mid-year — waiting period configuration is set at renewal. But it's worth raising with your broker before your next renewal if the delay is causing issues with recruitment.

Caller: It is, actually. Candidates ask about benefits start dates.

Agent Michael: Then note it for renewal. For now, when do you want to submit her enrollment?

Caller: Can I submit it now even though coverage starts in November?

Agent Michael: Yes, and I'd recommend it. Submit at hire with the correct hire date and the system calculates the effective date automatically. It avoids the risk of it being forgotten.

Caller: Good. I'll do it today.

Agent Michael: One more thing — she'll have 30 days from her eligibility date to elect, so November 1st through the end of November. If she misses it she waits for open enrollment.

Caller: Understood. Thanks.

Agent Sarah: Thank you Doris, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: I want to cancel everything. Dental, vision, life. All of it.

Agent Sarah: I can help with that, but before I do — would you tell me what's brought you here? If something's gone wrong I'd rather understand it.

Caller: Where do I start. My broker, Denise Whitfield, put me on the wrong plan tier. My vision was never added despite me asking twice. And I was told there was no waiting period when there was.

Agent Sarah: That's three separate failures. Let me look at each rather than take that at face value — not because I doubt you, but because some of it may be fixable.

Caller: Nobody has offered to fix anything yet.

Agent Sarah: Let me start. Plan tier — you're on Bronze, and I can see a note from your enrollment call requesting Gold. That's a documented instruction not followed, which supports a retroactive correction rather than waiting for renewal.

Caller: Retroactive?

Agent Sarah: If approved, back to your effective date, with any claims reprocessed at Gold coinsurance. Second, vision — there's no vision election on file at all. Do you have anything showing you requested it?

Caller: An email from March.

Agent Sarah: Then that's the same category. Documented request, not submitted. Third, the waiting period — that one I can't undo, the wait is real. But I can check whether you had prior dental coverage, which would credit against it.

Caller: I did, at my last job until January.

Agent Sarah: Then that's likely creditable, and it may mean your waiting period should already have been satisfied. That would make any denial during the wait reviewable.

Caller: So all three might actually be fixable.

Agent Sarah: Two clearly, and the third probably. I'd rather you cancel after I've tried than before. Send me the March email and I'll build all three into one case. Reference MC-2026-01001.

Caller: I came in ready to walk away.

Agent Sarah: I know. And if it doesn't get resolved you still can. But let me try first.

Caller: I've had a year of this. I want to cancel everything.

Agent Sarah: I understand, and before you decide anything I want to be clear that I'm escalating this rather than talking you out of it. A member telling us they want to leave after repeated broker failures is a retention escalation and it goes to Account Management today with the history attached.

Caller: And in the meantime?

Agent Sarah: In the meantime nothing lapses. I'm putting a note on the account so no action is taken on cancellation until somebody senior has spoken to you.

Caller: Alright. Send me what you need.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Cancellation request driven by cumulative broker failures. Caller: MEMBER (Doris Chen, CB-310092). Tone: angry → retained. Duration: 11 min. ■ Full cancellation intent reversed.

L2 — Call insights: Member called to cancel all three coverage lines citing three broker failures: wrong plan tier, vision never added despite requests, and an undisclosed waiting period. Agent asked why before processing, found documented evidence supporting retroactive correction on two, identified a likely prior-coverage credit on the third, and consolidated all three into a single case. Resolution: RESOLVED — member retained pending case outcome.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 96/100. POSITIVE: escalated to the correct owner rather than absorbing a decision outside her authority (+), asked why before processing the cancellation — the single most important retention behaviour (+), examined each complaint rather than accepting or dismissing (+), distinguished documented instructions from changes of mind, unlocking retroactive remedies (+), was honest that the waiting period itself could not be undone while finding the credit route (+), consolidated three issues into one case (+), explicitly preserved the member's right to cancel (+).

L4 — Operational BI: BROKER ATTRIBUTION · CRITICAL · Owner: Broker Relations — Denise Whitfield accumulated three documented failures for a single member: wrong tier submitted against a recorded instruction, vision election never submitted despite written request, and waiting period misrepresented. Sixth flagged issue for this broker across the corpus. CHURN: this member reached full cancellation intent on all lines. Recommend a full audit of Whitfield's book against member instruction records, and a retention flag on every member she has enrolled.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:00 — cancellation request with multiple complaints surfaced the retention protocol and pulled enrollment instruction history. Documented-instruction mismatch surfaced on two lines. Prior coverage credit pathway surfaced. Agent used all four. Fired on escalation trigger — routing surfaced and used.

Call #95 — Increasing Life Coverage After a Second Child

Tue 29 Sep 2026 · 09:16:00 · AHT 7m 49s · Life & Beneficiary

MEMBER | GOOD · 94/100 | RESOLVED | NEUTRAL → SATISFIED | Agent: Sarah

Context: Kevin Walsh, 35 · Member ID CB-6607441 · Assurity Life · life event increase

Topics: life insurance · coverage increase · QLE · guarantee issue · EOI

Agent Sarah: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Sarah. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Kevin Walsh, member ID CB-6607441.

Agent Sarah: That's you found. Go ahead, Kevin.

Caller: We just had our second child and I want to increase my life cover. Currently at $50,000.

Agent Sarah: Congratulations. Birth of a child is a qualifying event, so you can increase outside open enrollment. You have 60 days from the birth date.

Caller: She was born on the 2nd, so I have time.

Agent Sarah: You do. The important thing to understand is guarantee issue. On a qualifying event you can typically increase by one or two increments without medical underwriting. Beyond that requires Evidence of Insurability.

Caller: How much can I take without underwriting?

Agent Sarah: Let me check your group's provisions... your guarantee issue limit is $150,000, and you're at $50,000. So you can go to $150,000 with no medical questions, on a qualifying event.

Caller: And beyond that?

Agent Sarah: Above $150,000 requires an EOI form and Assurity underwriting, which takes several weeks and can be declined or rated.

Caller: $150,000 is probably right for now.

Agent Sarah: Then take it without underwriting while the qualifying event window is open. That's the clean route.

Caller: What about coverage for my wife and children?

Agent Sarah: Dependent life is a separate election if your group offers it. Yours does — spouse coverage up to $25,000 and child coverage at $10,000 each. Both are also available on this qualifying event.

Caller: I didn't know that existed.

Agent Sarah: Most people don't ask. I'm emailing you the election form covering all three.

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Life coverage increase on qualifying event. Caller: MEMBER (Kevin Walsh, CB-6607441). Tone: neutral → satisfied. Duration: 7 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member increasing life coverage after the birth of a second child. Agent confirmed the 60-day QLE window, explained guarantee issue versus EOI, identified $150,000 available without underwriting, and surfaced spouse and child life coverage the member did not know existed. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 94/100. POSITIVE: explained guarantee issue clearly, which determines whether underwriting is needed (+), checked the group's specific limit rather than a generic figure (+), advised taking the guarantee issue amount while the window is open (+), surfaced dependent life coverage unprompted (+), emailed a single form covering all elections (+).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — dependent life coverage is consistently unknown to members and is only elected when an agent raises it. Recommend including it explicitly in life-event communications rather than only in the enrollment pack.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 2:30 — QLE life increase surfaced guarantee issue limit, current coverage, and available dependent life options. Agent used all three.

Call #96 — Chiropractic Visit Limit — Member Mid-Course of Care

Tue 29 Sep 2026 · 10:46:30 · AHT 9m 48s · Cost Share & Policy

MEMBER | GOOD · 93/100 | RESOLVED | ANXIOUS → REASSURED | Agent: Priya

Context: Thomas Andrews, 48 · Landmark Healthplan · 18 of 20 visits used

Topics: visit limit · chiropractic · Landmark · annual maximum · planning

Agent Priya: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Priya. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Thomas Andrews, member ID CB-5512890.

Agent Priya: Thank you Thomas, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: I've been having chiropractic treatment and my provider says I'm close to my visit limit. I want to understand where I stand.

Agent Priya: Let me check your Landmark benefit. You have 20 visits per calendar year and you've used 18.

Caller: So two left, and it's October.

Agent Priya: Two remaining, and they reset January 1st.

Caller: My provider recommended eight more sessions. What are my options?

Agent Priya: Three, realistically. First, use your remaining two and pause until January when the benefit resets — that's the no-cost route if your provider is comfortable with the gap.

Caller: And if not?

Agent Priya: Second, continue on a self-pay basis. Landmark network providers offer a discounted rate to members beyond the visit limit — usually meaningfully below their standard fee. Ask your provider for the Landmark member rate, not the cash rate.

Caller: I didn't know that was different.

Agent Priya: Most members don't ask, so most don't get it. Third, and worth checking — if the treatment relates to an injury with a medical necessity basis, some plans allow an extension request. Yours does not, so that route isn't available here.

Caller: At least you checked.

Agent Priya: Better to rule it out than leave you wondering. My suggestion, practically: use your two remaining visits in December rather than now, so you carry momentum into January when twenty more become available.

Caller: That's a genuinely good idea.

Agent Priya: I'm emailing you your visit count, the reset date, and the discounted rate guidance to share with your provider.

Call #97 — Vision Materials Bought Out of Network

Tue 29 Sep 2026 · 14:00:15 · AHT 7m 01s · Networks & Providers

MEMBER | AVERAGE · 74/100 | RESOLVED | CONFUSED → INFORMED | Agent: Linda

Context: Jerome Thompson, 51 · Member ID CB-6641087 · EyeMed · glasses from an online retailer

Topics: vision materials · out of network · allowance · reimbursement · EyeMed

Agent Linda: Choice Administrators, this is Linda. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Jerome Thompson, member ID CB-6641087.

Agent Linda: That's you found. Go ahead, Jerome.

Caller: I bought glasses online because they were cheaper. Can I claim anything back?

Agent Linda: You can. EyeMed reimburses out-of-network materials at a set allowance rather than a percentage. For frames the out-of-network allowance is typically well below the in-network benefit.

Caller: How much?

Agent Linda: Let me check your plan... $45 toward frames and $40 toward single vision lenses out of network. In network you'd have had a $150 frame allowance.

Caller: So I lost about $100 of benefit by going online.

Agent Linda: Depending on what you paid, possibly. Online retailers are often cheaper than the retail price but the in-network allowance usually beats the saving.

Caller: Useful to know for next time. How do I claim the $85?

Agent Linda: Out-of-network claims are submitted by you directly to EyeMed, not through us. You'll need the itemised receipt showing frames and lenses separately, and a copy of your prescription.

Caller: Separately? The receipt shows one total.

Agent Linda: Then ask the retailer for an itemised version. EyeMed will reject a combined total because the allowances are separate.

Caller: Good to know before I submit and get rejected.

Agent Linda: Exactly. The claim form is on the EyeMed member site. Deadline is usually 12 months from purchase.

Call #98 — Member Needs Proof of Coverage for a New Employer

Context: Rachel Turner, 32 · Member ID CB-8817745 · certificate of coverage request

Topics: certificate of coverage · proof · waiting period credit · documentation

Agent James: Choice Administrators member services, this is James. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Rachel Turner, member ID CB-8817745.

Agent James: Got it, thanks Rachel. What can I do for you?

Caller: I'm starting a new job and they've asked for proof of my current dental coverage.

Agent James: You'll want a certificate of coverage. It confirms your coverage dates and lines, and new employers often use it to credit waiting periods.

Caller: That's exactly why they asked.

Agent James: Then it's worth getting it right. The certificate shows your continuous coverage period, which can waive or shorten a waiting period on the new plan — particularly for major dental services.

Caller: How do I get one?

Agent James: I can generate and email it now. It'll show your dental and vision coverage with start dates and the current date as the through date.

Caller: My coverage ends the 31st. Should I wait so it shows the actual end date?

Agent James: Good thinking. A certificate showing the true end date is stronger. Request it after the 31st and it'll show the full period. But take a copy now as well, in case the new employer needs something before then.

Caller: I'll do both.

Agent James: Sending the interim one now. Call back after the 31st for the final version.

AI INSIGHTS PANEL

L1 — Transcription & understanding: Call type: Certificate of coverage request. Caller: MEMBER (Rachel Turner, CB-8817745). Tone: neutral → satisfied. Duration: 5 min.

L2 — Call insights: Member requested proof of coverage for a new employer. Agent explained the certificate's role in waiting period credit, advised requesting a final version after coverage ends while supplying an interim copy immediately. Resolution: RESOLVED.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 76/100. POSITIVE: explained why the new employer wants it, which is more useful than just supplying it (+), advised on timing to maximise its value (+), supplied an interim copy as a hedge (+). NEGATIVE: no reference number (-), did not mention the 63-day gap rule that affects credit eligibility (-), did not offer to send it directly to the new employer (-).

L4 — Operational BI: MEMBER COMMUNICATION GAP · Owner: Member Communications — certificates of coverage are only issued on request, so members leaving without asking lose waiting period credit at their next employer. Recommend automatic issuance in the termination packet.

L5 — Real-time assist: Fired at 1:30 — certificate request surfaced generation action and coverage dates. Waiting period credit context was agent-supplied; recommend adding.

Call #99 — QLE Window Closing Today — Agent Does Not Recognise the Urgency

EMPLOYER | POOR · 33/100 | UNRESOLVED | URGENT → ABANDONED | Agent: Ryan

Context: Willow Creek Services · 48 employees · HR Director George Nakamura · day 59 of 60

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Tue 22 Sep 2026: Billed for a Terminated Employee Two Months Running

Topics: qualifying life event · QLE window · dependent addition · deadline

Caller: George Nakamura, HR Director at Willow Creek Services, group GRP-390044.

Agent Ryan: Thank you George, I have you. Go ahead.

Caller: Before I start — I rang on the 22nd about billing error and got nowhere, so forgive me if I sound short. I have an employee whose baby was born on the 15th of last month and I've just realised I never submitted the dependent addition. What's the window?

Agent Ryan: Sixty days for a birth.

Caller: The birth was the 15th. Today is the 13th. So I have two days?

Agent Ryan: Sounds about right.

Caller: Can I submit it right now over the phone?

Agent Ryan: It goes through the employer portal.

Caller: I'm having trouble with the portal — it's rejecting the dependent because the effective date is in the past.

Agent Ryan: It should accept a retroactive date for a birth.

Caller: It isn't. That's why I called.

Agent Ryan: Have you tried clearing your browser cache?

Caller: This is a data validation error, not a browser issue. Can you submit it on my end, or escalate it?

Agent Ryan: We don't usually submit enrollments for employers.

Caller: The window closes in two days and the portal won't accept it. What would you like me to do?

Agent Ryan: Maybe try again later, sometimes it clears.

Caller: Then let me speak to a supervisor, because my window closes at five today.

Agent Ryan: There's nobody available.

Caller: Nobody at all?

Agent Ryan: Not for this.

Caller: So the window closes and that's it.

Caller: Right.

Agent tone: passive, dismissive of a technical failure. Duration: 5 min. ■ Newborn coverage at risk. Explicit supervisor or escalation request refused with no alternative offered. Repeat contact — prior call in period closed unresolved.

L2 — Call insights: Employer attempting a newborn dependent addition on day 58 of a 60-day QLE window, blocked by a portal validation error rejecting the retroactive effective date. Agent suggested clearing browser cache, declined to submit on the employer's behalf, and did not escalate. Resolution: UNRESOLVED — newborn coverage at risk from a system defect.

L3 — Agent quality: Agent Score: 37/100. NEGATIVE: refused an explicit escalation request and offered no alternative route (-), did not register that a 2-day deadline plus a blocking system error is an escalation (-), misdiagnosed a validation error as a browser issue (-), declined manual submission without checking whether an exception path exists (-), no technical escalation raised (-), no case opened, no callback (-), left a newborn without coverage over a defect in our own platform (-). POSITIVE: quoted the 60-day window correctly (+).

L4 — Operational BI: PROCESS BREAKDOWN · CRITICAL · Owner: Digital / Operations — the employer portal is rejecting valid retroactive effective dates for birth events, which is a defect blocking a statutory enrollment right. IMMEDIATE: (1) reproduce and fix the validation rule, (2) audit for other groups blocked by the same error, (3) manual submission path for agents when a portal defect blocks a deadline, (4) contact this employer today. AGENT COACHING: deadline plus system failure must always escalate. REPEAT CONTACT: same group (GRP-390044) called on Tue 22 Sep 2026 and that call closed unresolved. Repeat contact within the period is a retention signal in its own right and should be counted against the earlier call, not this one.

L5 — Real-time assist: SHOULD HAVE FIRED at 1:30 — QLE window under 5 days remaining combined with a reported portal error is a maximum-priority trigger requiring supervisor escalation and manual submission authority. No rule configured. — EMPLOYER: TERMINATIONS — SHOULD ALSO HAVE FIRED — an explicit supervisor request is a deterministic escalation trigger and no routing was surfaced.

Call #100 — Charged for a Service the Member Never Received

Wed 30 Sep 2026 · 13:45:45 · AHT 9m 38s · Claims & EOB

MEMBER | GOOD · 94/100 | ESCALATED | ANGRY → SATISFIED | Agent: Sarah

REPEAT CONTACT — follows an unresolved call on Tue 22 Sep 2026: Annual Maximum Exhausted With No Warning

Topics: claim dispute · service not rendered · provider billing · fraud check

Agent Sarah: Thank you for calling Choice Administrators, this is Sarah. This call may be recorded for quality and training. Can I take your name and member ID?

Caller: Marcus Johnson, member ID CB-4401298.

Agent Sarah: Thanks Marcus. Tell me what's happening.

Caller: This is my second call this month. The annual maximum issue on the 22nd was never sorted. Separate thing today. There's a claim on my account for a deep cleaning I never had. I had a regular cleaning.

Agent Sarah: That's worth looking at carefully. Let me pull the claim. I have it — scaling and root planing, four quadrants, billed on the 12th.

Caller: I had a standard cleaning. Twenty minutes. Nothing like that.

Agent Sarah: Scaling and root planing is a periodontal procedure — typically multiple appointments, usually with anaesthetic. It's materially different from a prophylaxis, which is the routine cleaning code.

Caller: Then it's wrong.

Agent Sarah: It may be a coding error rather than anything deliberate, but either way it needs correcting — and it matters beyond the money, because periodontal treatment carries its own frequency limits. If this stands, it could restrict what you're eligible for later.

Caller: I hadn't thought of that.

Agent Sarah: Here's what I'm doing. I'm opening a claim dispute for services not rendered, which routes to our claims integrity team. They contact the practice directly and request the chart notes.

Caller: Do I need to do anything?

Agent Sarah: Don't pay any balance on that claim while it's disputed. And if you have anything showing the appointment length or what was done, keep it. Your reference is CD-2026-00518.

Caller: What if the dentist insists?

Agent Sarah: Then the chart notes settle it. A periodontal procedure requires documentation. If it isn't there, the claim gets reversed and your benefit is restored.

Caller: So the practice billed for something that never happened.

Agent Sarah: That's what the record shows, and it isn't something I close on a phone call. A billed service the member says was not delivered goes to Provider Relations as a review, not to me as an adjustment.

Caller: What does that mean in practice?

Agent Sarah: I'm reversing the member liability now so you are not carrying it while it's looked at, and I'm escalating the claim line to Provider Relations with a named reviewer today. If a pattern shows up across that practice, it goes further than your claim.

Caller: Thank you for taking it seriously.

Caller: Good. Thank you for taking it seriously.
